European Tour Offered

An opportunity for summer school study and travel in Europe is being offered for the first time by Bryan this year through the experienced tour director and lecturer, Dr. John Bartlett, dean of the college.

Bartlett

The 31-day tour leaving New York on July 12 will include visits to Scotland, England, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, and France, and offer six hours of college credit in the areas of world literature and fine arts.

Dr. Bartlett has guided similar tours for the past five summers and reports that nearly a third of the maximum enrollment of students for this summer have already registered for the study-travel program. Highlights of the summer's literary tour will include visits to Shakespeare's home in Stratford-upon-Avon, the Poets' Corner in Westminster Abbey, the Dickens' and Keats' homes in London, the Browning home and Dante home in Florence, the Moliere theater at the Louvre in Paris, and the Caracala ruins in Rome for the performance of an opera.

This tour is open to college students, or teachers, and alumni who would like to share the fellowship of a Christian group in European cultural and educational experiences. Complete information is available by writing to Dr. John B. Bartlett, Bryan College, Dayton, Tenn. 37321.

Col. Goatley Succumbs To Coronary Attack

Col. F. J. Goatley, assistant to the president of the college for the past nine years, died suddenly on Jan. 3, of an apparent massive coronary attack. He was widely known to the Bryan constituency because of his work in public relations and development, including travel for several years with Bryan musical teams. He and his wife, Ethel, and daughter Jeanine had just returned the evening before his death from New Orleans, where they had attended the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day, renewed contacts with friends of the years they had lived in New Orleans, and attended two watchnight services. His funeral was held on Jan. 5 in the Bryan chapel with Rev. M. O. Pettus, pastor of First United Methodist Church; Dr. Irving Jensen, head of Bryan's Bible department; and Dr. Theodore C. Mercer, president of the college, officiating. Burial with full military honors was held on Jan. 7 in Milton, Ind., where his married daughter, Mrs. Merrill Ferris, and the two grandsons live.

Col. Goatley was born in Guilford, Surrey, England, immigrating as a child with his family to Canada. Later he will be the commencement speaker on Monday. A graduate of Bryan, Dr. Perdue completed seminary training at Dallas Theological Seminary and is a graduate also of Appalachian Bible Institute, where he taught several years just prior to attending U.T.

Dr. George W. Long, pastor of the Lookout Mountain Presbyterian Church near Chattanooga, Tenn., will preach the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday afternoon. A fighter pilot who served in the European theatre in World War II, Dr. Long received his theological training in Columbia Seminary, Decatur, Ga., and New College, University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

The two graduation ceremonies are scheduled on Sunday afternoon and Monday morning this year to accommodate visiting parents and friends. The usual Monday activities including the board of trustees' meeting and the president's reception for seniors and their guests are being rescheduled.

moved to New York state, where he grew up at Port Chester. He was graduated from Syracuse University in 1934 with a degree in landscape architecture.

With the coming of World War II, he entered the military service, graduating from the Command and General Staff College in 1943. His military rank covered all grades from lieutenant to colonel, with approximately half of his career as a commander and the remainder as a staff officer. His commands included infantry units, transportation battalions, special units and port facilities. He was commander of Leadership School and for four years professor of military science at

Staley Lectures Initiated with Tenney

Through the generosity of the Thomas F. Staley Foundation of New York, Bryan is sponsoring its first Staley Distinguished Christian Scholar Lecture program on April 12-14 with Dr. Merrill C. Tenney, professor of Bible and theology and dean of the Graduate school at Wheaton College as lecturer.

Dr. Tenney

The first three paragraphs of the statement of purpose of the Thomas F. Staley Foundation are as follows:

"The Thomas F. Staley Foundation is a private, non-profit organization, established to administer funds to further the evangelical witness of the Christian Church, and with a particular concern for College students. Deeming the cause worthy and the need great, the trustees of this Foundation will support men and women who truly believe, cordially love, and effectively propagate the Gospel of Jesus Christ in its historical and scriptural fullness.

"The Foundation is independent of any other institution, but will co-operate with other enterprises which, out of a frankly evangelical concern, enrich the quality of Christian service and sharpen the effectiveness of Christian witness, especially at the college level.

"While the means of achieving these objectives will necessarily be varied, the central concern of the Foundation will be deliberately unvarying. In the world of private philanthropy it will offer its resources to support and encourage devout Christian workers who are unashamed in their testimony, who rightly divide the word of truth, and who, taking the Scriptures as their rule of faith and life, give themselves, as did the apostolic propagators of the Gospel, to the promotion of Christian evangelism."

The statement adds that the chief concern of the Foundation is the student world and that by Christian evangelism is meant "the presentation of Jesus Christ in the power of the Holy Spirit, that men shall come to put their trust in God through Him, accept Him as their Saviour and serve Him as their Lord in the fellowship of His Church."

It is further stated that the Staley Foundation "is firmly persuaded that the greatest need in America today is for millions of men and women to enter into that transaction with Almighty God through Christ that results in a new and transformed life. This experience is what the New Testament calls the New Birth."

Aware of the personal salvation-social action controversy in evangelical circles today, the Foundation adds that it "is not unaware of the great social needs of our day, but in allocation of priorities, the Settlor believes that personal

Preparations for Self-Study

Significant history in the development of Bryan College may well be written during the next two years from September of 1971 to May of 1973 when the college will be engaged in the "self-study" program of the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. Bryan was accredited by this regional accrediting association in December of 1969 and must complete self-study within four years of that date. Reaffirmation of accreditation for a ten-year period depends in part upon the successful execution of this intensive program of self-evaluation. The purpose of self-study as defined by the accrediting association is, "to help institutions reassess their objectives, measure success in attaining objectives, explore ways and means by which educational efficiency may be improved, and prepare for the ever-increasing demands by society."

While self-study begins formally at

Bryan in the fall of 1971, preparations for this activity are being made throughout the current academic year. The president of the College, the academic dean, and a representative of the faculty attended the Conference on Institutional Self-Studies conducted by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in Atlanta last September.

Everyone associated with Bryan College will hear more of self-study in the coming months and many will be directly involved. Alumni will have a very important part. They will be asked to fill out and return a questionnaire which will provide the study committees with essential data. The findings and recommendations of self-study will affect the College—the Board of Trustees, the faculty and staff, the students, and the alumni and friends of the College—for several years.

Evening School Supports Growth in Enrollment

Emphasizing the opportunity to reach modern man through a Christian perspective of philosophy as taught by Dr. R. Allan Killen has proved to be an attraction to fifty students enrolled in an evening class in addition to twenty-seven regular students in a similar day time course.

Another popular course with an evening enrollment of twenty-five is a non-credit reading and study skills salvation must always receive the first consideration, for Jesus Christ said, "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul, or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?"

The statement also deals with the often-heard charge of anti-intellectualism leveled at evangelicals by saying, "While The Thomas F. Staley Foundation believes in an appeal to the hearts of men, its founder is not unmindful of the fact that our Lord declared we must love God with all our minds as well as with our hearts and souls. Consequently there is nothing anti-intellectual in what the Foundation seeks to promote. While there were many unschooled Christians in the early Church, there were also such intellectually gifted men as Paul, Luke, Stephen and others who could challenge the best minds of their day and win them to faith in Christ. Accordingly the Foundation will promote programs which will seek to win for Christ not merely the average student but also the brightest and most promising among the youth of our American universities."

development class which has approximately half its membership from local high school students who are also seeking to improve ability in reading and study habits, under the instruction of Glen Liebig.

This expanded community service, including several other evening courses at Bryan this year, has been a strong factor in drawing an increased number of special students to maintain a second semester enrollment of 405, of whom 347 are fulltime students. This is just eight short of the first semester enrollment of 413.

The new registration list for the second semester shows 58 names, of whom 22 are fulltime and 36 are parttime. They are replacing 66 withdrawals during or at the end of the first semester, of whom seven completed their degree requirements and will return for commencement activities in May.

Applications for fulltime students for next fall are keeping pace with last year's peak. Approximately one hundred new names are already in process for the fall recruits out of an expected two hundred new freshmen and transfers. Student visitors and their parents or counselors continue to stop for campus tours and are anticipated in increasing numbers during the spring months.

High school seniors or college transfers who desire to share in the fully accredited program of a Christ-centered education in the arts and sciences in the peaceful, scenic setting of the Tennessee hills should write for an application to Miss Zelpha Russell, director of admissions, Bryan College, Dayton, Tenn. 37321.

GOATLEY SUCCUMBS

the University of Miami. His final assignment was director of administration for the Transportation Terminal Command in New Orleans.

Col. Goatley came to his post at Bryan in November 1961. He had been unusually effective in the closing months in his work of securing financial support for the college. On the day of his funeral, a gift of $13,000, in which he had had a major part, was received. He was also active in helping students with a variety of problems. His handling of hospitality for visitors to the campus and the hospitality of the Goatley home are proverbial. In addition to the numerous floral arrangements received at the time of his death, many friends responded to the family request that in lieu of flowers memorial contributions be sent to Bryan

Beach Evangelism Planned

Plans to repeat the beach evangelism program of last year's spring vacation in cooperation with Campus Crusade for Christ are being made by the student leaders of the Christian Service Association for Bryan's spring vacation period late in March.

Last year 36 Bryan students spent a week at Daytona Beach, Florida, to work with 1,500 other Christian students among the 50,000 college students on the beaches.

James L. Lindh, president of CSA, invites the prayer and financial support of friends who would like to help with transportation, lodging, and food costs of approximately $40 for each student going to Florida for this thrust in college student evangelism.

This constructive ministry by Christian youth to fellow-collegians who are seeking soul satisfaction has provided an excellent stimulus for spiritual growth among the participating Bryan students and in its coordinated effort on the beaches has been declared a deterrent to the evil forces that earlier prevailed at the vacation resorts. Thousands of searching youth have been introduced to Jesus Christ and told of His saving power. Would you like to help send the witness back to the beaches this year?

College. These gifts now totaling more than a thousand dollars have been added to the student emergency loan fund, which is being named in honor of Col. Goatley. This fund is for short term loans to students who find themselves unexpectedly unable to meet their financial requirements. It was established three years ago and with these memorial contributions now amounts to approximately $3500. It is fitting tribute to a man whose friendly interest and engaging spirit were always in the direction of helping others.

At the time of his death, Col. Goatley was the teacher of the adult men's Bible class at Dayton First Methodist Church. Over the years he had been active in a variety of organizations, including Officers Christian Union, Christian Business Men's Committee International, and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He and Mrs. Goatley served as teachers, officers, and youth sponsors in many of the churches in which they were members during his military career. He was the most faithful attender of the weekly men's prayer breakfast at Bryan. His spirit of persistence and generosity joined with an amiable and conciliatory disposition endeared him to a wide circle of friends. He was a true Christian soldier and a gentleman.

Basketball Summary

The 1970-71 basketball squad faces the SCAC tournament once again as its only hope for glory. Everyone starts over in the tournament and the winner gains a berth in the National Christian College tournament along with the conference regular-season champion.

The Lions have a 9-3 conference mark which offers no better prospects than a tie for second place with Temple, while Lee College holds out for the lead position.

The Lions opened the season convincingly with victories over Atlanta Christian and tough Lincoln Memorial. Then they lost a twenty-point lead in a Trevecca game for a one-point decision, and Lee claimed a ten-point victory two days later.

After a fair showing in the Temple Invitational Tournament with a second place trophy, the Lions dropped three straight decisions, including a return match with LMU. After Christmas the team took its first victory ever over Sewanee and gained a narrow margin over Trevecca. Temple and Lee closed in for two important conference victories in hard-fought battles with the Lions.

It was a decisive victory over Covenant College who had recently outmatched the Temple Crusaders that built Lions' hopes for the most recent Bryan-Temple scrap. The 82-79 Lion victory at Temple before a Feb. 14 homecoming audience was a triumph that Bryan fans and players have long desired and that boosts spirits for the SCAC tournament.

Bryan has proven that it has potential to outplay any team in the league, and the eager Lions are anticipating that one last tournament chance on March 4-6.

1970 INCOME AND EXPENSE BY PERCENTAGES

Report For 1970

The year of 1970 was Annus Mirabilis for Bryan College.

This year of wonders, the first full year after Bryan's accreditation, was characterized by the following:

- a genuine spiritual revival on campus beginning Feb. 17
- largest graduating class to date
- 38% increase in new student applications
- 25% increase overall in fall registration (413 against 328 the year before)
- 18.5% fulltime equivalent increase for first semester (based on actual experience first semester)
- largest gift income for any calendar year ($687,000 as against $354,000 previous year)

BASIC CONTINUING CONCERNS

Change: What are the ways in which Bryan can and should change without compromise or modification of its basic Christian commitment and what are the ways in which Bryan should not change in view of this commitment?

Resources: How can the base of financial support for Bryan be enlarged, a development essential to the growth and improvement of the college?

Enrollment: How can the growth in student population be accelerated to bring the college as soon as possible to a viable economic size?

Faculty: How can the college more effectively recruit, maintain, and retain a faculty which is both academically capable and strong in Christian commitment?

Results: How can all these factors be translated into that educational and spiritual experience in the life of the total college community which meets the individual's need and is the effective answer to the rising secularism of the day?

Goals For 1971

Continuing on-campus development in the refinement of specific goals leading to more effective management, better teaching and learning, and more fully committed Christian living.

Efforts at greater involvement in the life of the institution in appropriate ways of trustee alumni, and friends.

Completion of the new dormitory now under construction and its occupancy in September. Minimum enrollment increase of 10% to bring fulltime equivalent enrollment to 400 or above next fall.

More intensive promotions of a program in deferred giving through a development office working specifically toward this objective.

Specific financial goals of:*

|--|----------|
| $70,000 to cover college participation in new dormitory | |
| Construction | $60,000 |
| Furnishings | 10,000 |
| | $70,000 |

Note: $1200 from 3 donors has been received to date toward construction costs.

● $150,000 in other plant gifts for a miscellany of necessary projects including campus roads and parking areas, renovation of ground floor in main building for student union, faculty offices, permanent area for Henning Biology Museum, relocation of tennis court, support for student project "Save the Octagon," and other plant needs of lesser financial scope but equally important for the activity served.

● $200,000 in operating gift income, one-half by June 30 to insure a balanced budget for Fiscal '71.

● Inclusion of endowment fund in overall fund raising efforts (Southern Association recommends $5,000,000 in 3-5 years; $550,000 at present)

*No figure is included here for the Rudolph Memorial Chapel project as a specific goal awaits trustee action.

Eugene '44 and Ernestine (Healan) '44 Rosenau are participating in the Life in Christ Campaign for their country of Central African Republic. In their print shop in Sibut they have printed thousands of tracts and booklets and 28,000 hymn books were completed this fall. Their family report includes, Anna Kay who is studying the Dutch language along with her husband, John, in Holland; Douglas is at Dallas Seminary for the second year; and Vernon was inducted into the Army last fall.

George '49 and Ruth Ann (Adams) x'51 Cone of Central African Republic are on furlough with Kipling, Calla, and Karris in the St. Petersburg, Florida area. Kim and Camille will complete their school year in Africa and join the family in June. Kim, who will graduate from high school this year, is considering Bryan next fall.

Nell Pearson '49 returned in December from Austria for furlough, coming a few months early because her father was injured and her stepmother was killed in an auto accident in Sept. She will be available for deputation in the spring from her home address in Reagan, Texas, 76680.

Jean Pulkin '49 has resigned from the Central American Mission as of Nov. 1, 1970, not being physically able to work in the isolated places of Central America. She is serving as a community health nurse and has many opportunities to witness for Christ in Wichita, Kansas, where she is making her home.

Gordon and Thelma (Andrews) '52 Svelmoe have just completed the translation of the Gospel of Matthew in Mansaka, a tribe in the Philippines. Mark, Acts, and John have already been printed and are being distributed. Mansaka believers are helping them with the translation work and the teaching in the church.

Jack Lacey '52 has returned from Africa with his family to the States and is making his home in Waterloo, Iowa. His schedule calls for a visit to Florida in February, Emmaus Bible School in March, and, as the Lord enables, a six-week visit to Kigali in April.

Edward '46 and Eileen (Goodman) '46 Miller are surrounded by their children, Carol (right) and her husband, Larry Howard, Jeannette at Grace College, Eddie Jr., (center) senior in high school, and Stanley, a high school sophomore. The family is residing in Winona Lake, Ind., during their furlough from Brazil where they serve under the Foreign Missionary Society of the Grace Brethren Church. Ed visited the campus in January on a trip to Florida for ministry.

Three days after returning they set out for Manaus, Brazil, nearly 1,000 miles from their station, to file a new identification card with the Brazilian government. In September another trip was necessary to attend the field council meeting to make plans for camp in January. In October a harvest of 15 professions of faith were made in Santo Antonio.

Charles '56 Willoughby reports 14 girls and 32 fellows in their Bible Institute in Oceana, Colombia. Charlotte (sp. '56) is housemother and counsellor for the girls and also a teacher. The first annual TEAM missionary conference for Colombia as a separate field was scheduled for Dec. 1-3 and a spiritual retreat for pastors and missionaries on Jan. 4-7, 1971. They have four children in school in Rubio and just Steve at home.

Rachael O'Mera '58 in Alaska is helping to use hammer and saw to build a two-story house for an elderly Christian couple who live five miles from her. Her ministry includes a tape library and Bible study classes including Sunday school.

Sandy Cue '55 has completed the basic translation of the book of Mark into the dialect of Waica for this Indian tribe in Brazil. Her translation will be corrected by informants and missionaries and improved where possible. She plans next to work on an abridgement of Genesis to provide background for future translations.

Bill and Verona (Bender) '55 Hekman are now stationed in Indonesia to strengthen the evangelization program. They work with an active youth group in Djakarta which meets one week for fellowship and inspiration and the following week to distribute Gospels and tracts on the crowded streets of the city. In December they held meetings in Surabaya, the second largest city of Indonesia. Their ministry includes showing Moody Films in prisons, schools, and to armed forces, also newspaper and magazine evangelism throughout Indonesia and follow up on correspondence courses.

Jim x'56 and Barbara Pitts are grateful for the miracle of their continuing in Azrou, Morocco, with their 30 children at Children's Haven. Another miracle is the provision of a qualified Arabic teacher who is a Christian to restore their school program this year. Their own four children are doing well at school and in music, including Melodee who has rejoined them after being separated for 9 months in a special school in the States.

David '57 and Kay (Temple) '55 Henry returned to Fairbanks, Alaska, with their four children, by way of the Alcan Highway, arriving on Sept. 13, two weeks late for school. David '63 and Phyllis (sp. '64) Whitney are in the second year of their second term at Trans World Radio ministry in Bonaire. They sing together in Portuguese as well as English. Phyllis also uses her flute as instrumental background. Dave spends most of his time writing, besides directing certain English programs and some announcing. Trans World Radio is now promoting a Seminary Extension program to train Bible school students in their home areas as a follow up of correspondence courses.

Bud '68 and Helen Cathey are located in Jimma, Kaffa, Ethiopia, after finishing language school in Addis. They are teaching at Grace Bible Institute under SIM. Bud teaches homiletics, hermeneutics, Old Testament, music and gym, and Helen teaches English and piano. They also have charge of the Sunday school and a part in the Youth Center downtown. They live several miles from Jimma on top of a green hill with mountains in view, a river full of hippopotamuses ten minutes away, monkeys and hyenas nearby, and a yard which includes a strawberry patch, besides lemon, lime, orange, and banana trees.

Faith Isbell '69, serving at Hoa Khanh Children's Hospital of the World Relief Commission in Vietnam, recently came safely through a typhoon evacuation. She describes Christian service in a war-torn land: "I have seen . . . people actually buying garbage (from a Vietnamese-operated agency which contracts to haul garbage from U.S. bases), a hospital so crowded they had two patients in the same cast (honest!); Marines coming out of anesthesia, realizing they have lost legs or arms, crying silent tears and not expecting an answer to their 'why?'; a four-pound, three-month-old baby; a VC attack on a village which completely demolished the homes and the lives of all but 50 villagers. . ." A companion nurse had the privilege of leading a fellow nurse to the Lord and now they study the Bible together and attend church as regularly as their demanding hospital schedule permits.

GRADUATE ADVANCES

Cary Perdue '58 was awarded the Doctorate in Education by the University of Tennessee in December. He and his wife continue to plan for foreign missionary service, having in mind the Philippines. They are currently living in Oak Ridge, Tenn., where Dr. Perdue is pastor of the Oak Ridge Bible Church.

STEWARDSHIP PLANNER

VOL. 4 NO. 1

FEBRUARY, 1971

Creating and Conserving the Moderate Estate

Most estate planning counsel seems to be directed toward those who have large estates; whereas, by far the greater number of estates are moderate or small. Most large estates are the fruit of estate planning in previous generations, because few large estates are amassed in a single generation.

The accumulation of a small to moderate estate, however, is often the result of frugal living and careful planning within a single generation. Large estates unless dissipated through carelessness or recklessness tend to grow somewhat by natural momentum. Estates beginning from "scratch," without the benefit of inheritance from previous generations will more likely be the result of hard work, frugality, and careful planning. The planning process, therefore, for a small to moderate estate begins with techniques of creating the estate rather than with the problems of distribution.

CONTINUE CHARITABLE INTERESTS

As a Christian institution, Bryan College has always been supported largely by those who have been generally more concerned with laying up treasures above rather than on earth. Choosing to give in life rather than in death, the Bryan constituency has seemingly never had a strong will or estate consciousness.

The growing complexity of the society in which we live, however, requires more and more sophisticated planning. Things just don't happen. They must be planned.

Those who feel that Bryan College is worthy of their life-time support should also consider what will happen after their death to the college and its program of providing quality Christian education within the reach of every Christian young person who desires a Christian education. Very few people among a constituency such as Bryan's will not have at least a small estate to distribute. However, man will be involved first in creating that estate. Most estate planning counsel deals primarily with the distribution of the estate, which may be proper in the case of large estates. But those who are in the small to moderate estate category often need more help in creating and conserving the estate. This counsel may be even more needful for those who choose to maintain a generous plan of giving during their lifetime. Therefore, we are devoting the rest of this issue of the "Stewardship Planner" and perhaps some succeeding issues to the techniques which may be employed to help create and conserve an estate.

PLAN ESTATE DISTRIBUTION

In view of the uncertainty of life, however, the wise planner will give some thought to his distribution plans even before he may have much of an estate to distribute. Time has a way of slipping up on us. Many are taken unawares with their plans yet unformulated, always thinking that the estate is not large enough to be concerned yet with its distribution. Every estate plan should be reviewed periodically and updated in accordance with changing conditions. The problem is generally complacency concerning the small or moderate estate during the time it is building.

Management of the estate during lifetime means insulating the estate from untoward invasion, as well as establishing management and property ownership plans that are designed to prevent dilution of the estate and to assure the prudent build-up of wealth. It must be kept in mind that the principal purpose in creating an estate is to provide adequately for unforeseen eventualities in later years, not primarily to pass something on to the next generation. Protecting the estate from early invasion and shrinkage is simply protecting the provision for unconcerned later years. The problem of distribution only comes into focus when the decision has to be made as to what to do with the remaining estate should it not be necessary to use it all for emergencies or ordinary maintenance during the declining years.

GUARD AGAINST ESTATE DISSIPATION

Insulating the estate against potential loss or liability is quite important. Casualty or carelessness can wipe out a small or moderate estate and the early dissipation of an estate may cause considerable concern and anxiety in the latter years. Consideration should be given to transfers of property, incorporation of a business, and, of course, casualty and liability insurance. The level of insurance coverage needed should be carefully calculated. This will vary under different conditions and circumstances at different times and usually requires greater coverage at the beginning of the estate building process than at the end, so that generally insurance coverage may be planned to taper off as the estate grows.

Sickness and disability can create extraordinary financial demands. As a matter of fact, the likelihood of permanent or long-term loss of income is not substantial, but you should keep the possibility in mind. Health and accident insurance, major medical coverage, and disability insurance serve to insulate the estate. In determining what is needed, you should consider employment benefits and wage continuation plans, unemployment and workmen's compensation, and the income potential of the non-disabled spouse.

During the years while building the estate, one of the chief concerns, of course, is provision for the wife and children should the breadwinner be taken. The simplest and perhaps best way to provide an immediate potential estate is through life insurance. However, the insurance plan should be tailored to the individual needs. Though these needs undergo constant change, there are flexible plans that will provide considerable relief from anxiety during those years while the estate is building. KEENER SELECTED TO BE DIRECTOR OF DEVELOPMENT

Marvin L. Keener of West Chicago, Ill., has been appointed director of development. Mr. Keener was formerly president of Keener Marketing and Public Relations, which served several companies in advertising and public relations. Prior to that he was regional manager for Christian Life Publications, Wheaton, Ill. He has worked also at the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry and has been a life insurance agent. Mrs. Keener and their five children will move to Dayton shortly to join Mr. Keener.

In his new position, Mr. Keener is filling vacancies in the development office created by the withdrawal from the staff of Edward Steele who now operates Word Systems, Inc., and serves the College in the area of its printing needs, and by the death of Col. Francis J. Goatley in January this year.

NEW FACULTY APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED FOR 1971-72

Heading the list of achievements among continuing faculty is that of Richard M. Cornelius, chairman of the division of literature and modern language, who received the Ph.D. in English from the University of Tennessee at Knoxville, March 17. The title of his dissertation was Christopher Marlowe's Use of the Bible.

New faculty appointments completed to date include the following:

Richard D. Barnhart, Everett, Wash., associate professor of mathematics; B. S. degree, Whitworth College; and M. S., University of Idaho, where he is a candidate for the doctor's degree.

Dale A. Carter, Chattanooga, Tenn., associate professor and chairman of the division of education and psychology; B.A. degree Tennessee Temple College; M.A., Middle Tennessee State University; and Ed.D., University of Tennessee. Dr. Carter replaces Dr. Daniel Rosenberger, who has been at Bryan for the past two years after having retired from New York schools in 1969. Dr. Rosenberger is moving to Florida where he will be associated with Clearwater Christian College.

L. Donald Hill, Dayton, who returns to the Bryan faculty after an absence of five years, as registrar and assistant professor of education; B.A., Trevecca College; M.A., Peabody College; and graduate work at the University of Tennessee in higher education. After having taught at Bryan 1959-66, Mr. Hill left his teaching position to run for the office of Rhea County superintendent of education, to which he was elected in 1966; in 1969, he resigned that post to accept the position of dean of continuing education at Cleveland State Community College.

As registrar, Mr. Hill will replace Miss Louise Lason, who has been associated with the registrar's office for the past eleven years, the last five years as full registrar; Miss Lason's plans are incomplete but include possible graduate work in English.

Robert L. Mounts, Seminary, Miss., associate professor of philosophy and psychology; B.A. degree, Tennessee Temple College; M.A., Bob Jones University; and Ed.S. and Ed.D., New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary. He is presently serving on the faculty of Reformed Theological Seminary, Jackson, Miss.; at Bryan he will replace Dr. R. Allan Killen, professor of philosophy at Bryan, who has accepted a post at Reformed Seminary.

Pre-registration tallies recently completed for 1971 fall enrollment indicate that at least 250 students plan to continue as full-time students, and new applications combine for a total prospect at this date of 415 as compared to last fall's final enrollment of 413. Additional new applicants and part-time students from the community offer the likelihood for a substantial increase for the fall, supporting Bryan's growth trend since its accreditation nearly two years ago.

During March and April over 260 visitors came to the campus. These included representatives from seven churches in Michigan, one in Charlestown, W. Va., and one in Arena, Wis. Two choral groups, the Appalachian Bible Institute ensemble of Bradley, W. Va., and the Young Foundation Singers, of Highland, Ind., also included a number of student prospects for Bryan.

Summer Outreach Is Object of Five Programs

Five summer programs sponsored by the College provide opportunity for study and service by members of the college community. Two of these programs are on campus and three are off campus; one in each category is a study program.

The two study programs are the ten-week summer school on campus and a European study tour coincident with the second term of summer school.

The summer school of two five-week terms scheduled June 7 through August 13 offers courses in psychology, teacher education, Bible, science, business, and freshman English. In addition, a non-credit course in reading and study skills, which has attracted considerable interest during the academic year, will be repeated this summer with Glenn Liebig, assistant professor of modern languages, as director.

European Study Tour

The European Study Tour, which begins July 12, will be lead by Dr. John B. Bartlett, academic dean. A student may earn six semester hours of credit in world literature and fine arts during this 31-day tour of seven European countries. Thirty-three participants have registered to date. Only a few reservations remain; anyone who is interested should contact Dr. Bartlett immediately.

Musical Messengers

A male quartet and a soprano soloist along with their accompanist will tour fourteen states this summer in the interest of student recruitment and to give a Christian witness in music. The itinerary of this group appears elsewhere. Interested friends are invited to write Miss Rebecca Peck, Alumni Executive Secretary, about any of the open dates.

Summer Bible Conference

A pleasant experience which has become a part of the on-campus activity is the annual summer Bible conference sponsored by the alumni association. Last year's conference attracted a daily attendance of some 150 and featured separate programs for adults and for children and young people. This year's conference is scheduled for July 24-30. Full details on this conference appear in the BRYANETTE section of this paper. This family style conference is designed for the Christian public with rates set to encourage family attendance.

Summer Missions Program

Twelve Bryan students, and possibly others, will participate in short-term missionary work this summer in four countries. Ten of these will be a part of the Operation Mobilization program for college students working in France and Spain; one student will go to Germany to participate in Greater Europe Mission's Euro-Corps, and one—a military veteran—will go to Japan, where he was formerly stationed.

Rebecca Van Meeveren, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., assistant librarian with the rank of assistant professor; B.A., Bob Jones University; B.S. in L.S., Peabody College; further graduate work, University of Chicago and University of Michigan. For Mrs. Van Meeveren this is also a return to Bryan where she was head librarian 1957-62, when her late husband, Arthur Van Meeveren, was assistant professor of English. Mrs. Van Meeveren replaces Mrs. Peggy Rosenberger, who has served as assistant librarian on a part-time basis for two years.

FINE ARTS FESTIVAL

The Fine Arts Festival of April 25–May 2 provided an opportunity for the display of art works by both Bryan and community talent under the direction of Raymond L. Gage, Elk Grove, Calif., who has been artist in residence this year at Bryan. In the total of thirty-five artists, eighteen exhibitors were Bryan faculty and students and seventeen were from the local community.

The third floor reading room of the Ironside Memorial Library was converted temporarily, as in past years, into an art gallery, opening Sunday afternoon to show one hundred works. Additional exhibits were displayed in the windows of twenty business establishments in Dayton and fifteen in Spring City. Twelve works of Mr. Gage appeared in the college exhibits, including a special display in the main lobby of the administration building.

Other activities of the week included the showing of Ecce Homo: Behold, This is Man, an award-winning film produced by Southern Baptist's Radio-Television Commission, which shows man as creator of the arts because God created him that way; performances by two vocal student groups, the Choralaires, directed by Virginia Seguire, Librarian, and the Madrigals, directed by J. James Greasby, chairman of the fine arts division; and an evening concert by the symphonic band, directed by William R. Boyd, assistant professor of music.

The final production of the fine arts week was a Sunday afternoon choir concert on May 2 when Schubert's Mass in G was performed with the support of the string ensemble from Cadec Conservatory in Chattanooga. At this concert prizes were presented to artists who had the best displays in Dayton and Spring City, followed by a reception honoring all participating artists.

Literary Publication

The first literary anthology in the history of Bryan College is being put out this year by members of the English Seminar class under the direction of Dr. Richard Cornelius. Covering the years 1961-71, this collection of student writing was compiled from entries in Bryan literary contests, articles in the Hilltopper and the Bryan Broadside, themes selected from the Freshman English theme vault by members of the English Department, and examples of student writing submitted by various faculty members. The anthology, entitled Dandilines, is eighty-eight pages long and includes poems, short stories, essays, and miscellaneous works on sacred and secular themes.

Copies of this book are available at $1.50 each (postage paid); send orders in care of the English Department.

ALUMNI NEWS

Mr. Ingram, Mrs. Rudd, Mrs. Ingram, Mrs. King

SURPRISE REUNION

Emma Rae (Bechtel) '38 Ingram and her husband, Eric, of Ocean City, N. J., enjoyed Sunday dinner with Mrs. Rudd at Bryan on March 14 and toured the campus that afternoon. During the tour a passerby, Eugenia (Pless) '39 King, who was driving from Rome, Ga., with her mother and friends, spotted her classmate, Emma Rae. An exciting reunion followed for "Corky" and "Jeep" as they and Mrs. Rudd shared memories of more than thirty years previous on Bryan Hill.

CONTINUING EDUCATION

Bryan has a strong force at Grace Theological Seminary this year with six on the roster (requesting equal mention with the "Dallas" boys): three from '69—Denzil Mauk, Larry Connors, and Bill Slocum; and three from '70—Steve Cramer, Bill Wilson, and John Young. All except Steve Cramer are accompanied by their Bryan wives.

Paul Yates '58 is head of the Orange County Christian School and Academy sponsored by Temple Baptist Church in Orlando. He is seeking teachers for this school located in a rapidly growing community.

Steve '69 and Madge (Akins) '68 Fitzgerald are living in Columbus, Ohio, where Steve is planning a graduate program at Ohio State University and Madge is teaching first grade.

Terry Roddy '70 of Dayton, Tennessee, received the bachelor of science degree in biology at Middle Tennessee State University in January. As a member of the U. S. Naval Reserve, he took four weeks of basic training at Orlando, Fla., and Charleston, S. C., and then will begin active duty in November. He is living at home in Dayton at present.

Jane Ellen Hodges '70 has enrolled at Moody Bible Institute for a special course in preparation for missionary service. She also plans to attend Summer Institute of Linguistics at Norman, Okla.

BUSINESS ADVANCES

Carey Jackson '68 has taken a new position with the Southern Chemical Company of Calhoun, Ga., where he is chief chemist of the Specialty coating division. Carey and Elaine continue to live in Dalton.

Barry '69 and Jean (Smith) '63 Walcott and their daughter, Alissa, live in Plainwell, Michigan. Barry is assistant manager at one of the McDonald drive-ins in Kalamazoo. He also teaches 7th and 8th grade Sunday School class and Jean leads the young married peoples' class. They both sing in the choir. Alissa is now two years old.

Robert Engelsman '66 of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is married to the former Kay Judkins, and now they have three children, Mary Elizabeth, Robert Jon, and David William. Bob is employed at Steelcase, Inc., and assists with music at the Highland Hills Baptist Church.

Don '53 and Lorraine Thornton have been living in White Bear Lake, Minnesota, for over three years and "just love it." Don is assistant plant superintendent and tooling engineer at Form Products and Lorraine is cashier at "Country Boy." Their children are: Tim in ninth grade, Deb in junior high, and Dan, the youngest.

English class seems more exotic in Spring when taught on the campus by Dr. Richard Cornelius.

NEW DOCTORS

Richard Cornelius '55, see NEWSETTE page 1 for details.

Ila Ruth Mahr '48, of Atlanta, Ga., passed the final test for the Doctor of Education degree to be awarded June 5 at the University of Georgia.

CAMPUS VISITORS

Included among many campus visitors during this spring were a number of alumni represented by the two families pictured below.

Cousins Family

Wilkins Family

Paul '63 and Pat (Stewart) '59 Cousins brought their three sons, Jonathan, Kevin, and Dennis, as shown left to right. Paul has been teaching biology and conservation nine years at Dexter (Mich.) High School and is negotiator for the Dexter Education Association on behalf of the teachers. Pat works two days a week at the hospital as lab technician.

Dennis '64 and Mary Carol (Aldrich) '63 Wilkins are also shown with their three sons, Dennis, David, and Dean. Dennis, Sr., works with the Juvenile Court and teaches a course on police and the juvenile offender at the Kellogg Community College near their home in Hickory Corners, Mich. Mary Carol keeps busy meeting the needs of her "four boys."

MISSIONARY BRIEFS

Wanda Lautzenheiser '49, missionary to Japan under Far Eastern Broadcasting Company, has returned to the States for furlough and resided temporarily at the D & D Mission Homes in St. Petersburg, Fla. For health reasons she has resigned from the mission and the Lord has provided work for her with Christian people in the William Swan Insurance office.

Charles and Eulalie (Escoffier) '51 Zimmerman are expecting to come on furlough this summer from Japan where they work especially with young people under Baptist Mid-Missions.

Dan and Betty (Smetters) '52 Merrick returned with their family of four children to Central America in February. The Lord provided a 30-foot Airstream trailer and a new 1971 Travelall to pull it. The trailer will enable them to travel in various provinces showing films in schools, hospitals, on beaches, military camps, as well as churches.

Ernest '52 and Lois (Cartright) '54 Lee with their five children plan to return to the States in May to attend the Summer Institute of Linguistics at the University of Oklahoma. They had the biennial Wycliffe conference in Viet Nam in February. They have decided to purchase property in Saigon for headquarters. The Lees have just finished printing the book of Ruth in the Roglai language. Before furlough they hoped to complete I Samuel 1-7 and a Roglai hymnbook.

Nancy Freiburger '59 another Wycliffe team member in Viet Nam, anticipates furlough this summer. She has been working with the Nung tribe for whom the first Scriptures are in print; the first Nung believer is growing in the Lord; the first tape recordings and tape players are being circulated; and primers and teachers' guides are being completed for the use of the Nung tribal people.

Robert '52 and Evelyn

sp. Yunker with their two daughters Mary Esther and Naomi Ruth, plan to return to Japan in August after their furlough spent in Indiana to begin their fourth term under TEAM.

Malcolm Bradshaw '57 is now the director of the new Asian office of Evangelism in Depth located in Singapore. He earned the Master of Missions degree at Fuller Seminary in June 1969. His thesis was the first book to be published by the newly formed William Carey Library. Mac's position requires visits to Vietnam, Thailand, Philippines, and Indonesia, where they worked last term. He holds seminars and workshops with leading nationals and missionaries and lectures part-time at the Discipleship Training Center. Rhoda is helping with secretarial and bookkeeping duties. Their four children attend the Singapore American School so they can live at home.

MARRIED

Brenda Stewart '63 to Harty Edward Amonette at the Indianapolis Baptist Temple on January 29. Brenda is still teaching first grade at Southside Christian School. Harty was widower with three children, and two teenagers are still at home. Brenda and Harty are rejoicing at God's leading in bringing them together.

STEWARDSHIP PLANNER
VOL. 4, No. 2
May, 1971

Inflation and Estate Planning

The last issue of the Stewardship Planner began a series of discussions on the general subject of "Creating and Conserving the Moderate Estate." This should be of interest to a large portion of the Bryan College constituency, since the estates of most of Bryan's friends would probably fall into the moderate category.

One of the factors in estate planning, particularly in the moderate estate range, that cannot be very accurately anticipated is the effect that continuing inflationary trends and the rising cost of living will have on the value of an estate at the time of distribution. If at all possible, some reasonable estimate should be placed on the future estate value, because it is this value, rather than its present value, that should chiefly govern its distribution. The estate planner should keep in mind that there may be many years for either appreciation or depreciation of the estate, or this period may be very short, depending on many circumstances over which he has no control.

We want to emphasize again what we said at the end of the last issue of the Stewardship Planner. One of the best ways to create and protect an estate during the years when the course of the economy is uncertain is through life insurance. Life insurance is not subject to the normal depreciation of other investments. It can provide no protection, however, against possible devaluation of the dollar; that is, there can be no guarantee that the insurance dollar will have the same purchasing power some years hence. Life insurance generally will provide increasing "living" protection, as well as set "death" benefits in that the cash value of most life insurance policies grows with the payment of each year's premium.

INVESTMENTS

It is probably reasonable to assume that both inflation and the cost of living will continue to increase. Though inflation and the increasing cost of living have the same general dollar-shrinking effect, the two terms are not synonymous. Actually, two different forces are working simultaneously to place your estate in double jeopardy. The difference between the two may be explained as follows: A certain automobile that may have cost $1,000 in 1920 could be made and sold today for $1,500. But the average cost for this year's family car is perhaps $3,500. Inflation is represented by the $500 additional cost for the 1920 car; and the increase in cost of living is represented by the additional $2,000 for a modern car with all of its luxuries (by 1920 standards) which have become ordinary by today's standard of living. You must seek to make sure that today's dollar grows sufficiently to buy an equivalent share by tomorrow's standards. Therefore, you should have some understanding of "equity" investment, which tends to follow economic trends.

Investments should fit your individual abilities and interests. If you do not have the time or talent for investing or trading in securities, perhaps you could benefit from mutual fund investments, or investments through an agency account, or the investment counseling service of a brokerage house or bank. If, on the other hand, you are a business man, you might very profitably invest in the expansion of your own business rather than dissipating your energies in different directions.

We warned in the last issue against possible estate dilution. One of the greatest threats to moderate estates is procrastination, simply waiting until you can "afford" to begin building your estate, or always using savings for every emergency that arises. Perhaps payroll deductions, fixed premiums for mutual fund investment contracts, variable annuities, etc., or investment in securities or property not so readily convertible into cash could be the "protection against yourself" that you need to get you started on the way to building an estate.

LIFETIME TRUSTS

Active lifetime trusts in smaller estates are rare. Extensive use of trusts, particularly irrevocable trusts, is usually not advisable since productive assets are limited, and it is usually more prudent to have such assets more readily available. Also, additional expenses, such as costs, fees, should be avoided.

Perhaps you should consider the use of revocable trusts for management of property if you are unable or would rather not have the responsibility of managing your property. A revocable trust might also be used for short-term management, for example, if you may be out of the country for a time.

A revocable trust established with charitable institution such as Bryan College could provide some real advantages both for you and the institution. Have you considered the possibility of making a revocable trust to Bryan College if you have property or assets from which you do not now need the income but would like to hold the property as a sort of "insurance" against unforeseen contingencies. Later, under certain circumstances, you may wish to change a revocable trust to an irrevocable trust for certain tax-saving benefits.

JOINT OWNERSHIP OF PROPERTY

"Should property be held in the name of both husband and wife," is a question frequently asked in connection with moderate estates. In larger estates, there is a tendency to shun joint tenancy arrangements because of the inflexible nature of the disposition and because of property and tax problems which it may create. In the smaller estate, however, joint tenancies between spouses generally make good sense.

One factor frequently overlooked is that if the probate estate is reduced to a relatively small value, it may qualify for quick and simple administration under a particular state's Small Estates Act. Frequently, the major assets of a moderate estate consist of life insurance, the family residence and bank accounts. Securities of relatively minor value may also be present. Life insurance proceeds payable to a named beneficiary or a trust are not usually subject to administration. A joint tenancy in the residence, bank account and securities may remove these assets from the probate estate. Thus, a joint tenancy might be used to secure the advantages of Small Estates administration.

Even though the estate may qualify for Small Estates administration, you should nevertheless have a will to name personal representatives and guardians, dispose of property which is of a character not appropriate for transfer to joint tenancy or trust, for example, family automobile and personal effects, and prevent intestate distribution of property which has not been effectively transferred to joint tenancy or trust.

Real Estate

Normally, there appears to be no reason to avoid a joint tenancy between husband and wife in the family residence, so long as the spouses agree that the survivor should receive the residence. Real property located out of the state, such as a summer cottage, will be subject to administration in that state upon death of the owner. However, if such real property is held in joint tenancy, auxiliary administration in that state may not be required.

Bank Accounts

The decision as to whether bank accounts should be held in joint tenancy depends upon convenience and the spending habits of the spouses. Generally, business bank accounts should not be in joint tenancy. The setting up of a joint bank account does not create a gift. The gift is complete only when the joint-tenant donee makes withdrawals for his or her own benefit. Normally, in the moderate estate, such withdrawals would not exceed the $3,000 annual gift-tax exclusion.

The inheritance tax laws of a number of states prohibit the withdrawal of joint tenancy funds after the death of a joint tenant until a consent is obtained from the appropriate state tax department. Other states permit withdrawal of the surviving joint tenant's fractional interest but "freeze" the fractional interest of the decedent joint tenant. You should check your own state law and its impact on the immediate availability of funds for the survivor. If your state law would unduly limit the availability of funds for post-death living expenses of the survivor, consider establishing separate emergency accounts.

Where recognized by state law, bank account trusts are occasionally used as an alternative to joint tenancy. The trust is fully revocable during the settlor-trustee's life; property passes to the beneficiary upon the settlor's death. Since the beneficiary may not withdraw during the life of the settlor, this arrangement offers an advantage over joint tenancy if the donor is concerned about losing control of the account. Bank account trusts have some disadvantages, however. A number of states tax only the fractional interest of the decedent joint tenant which passes to the survivor upon death; however, these same states may tax the entire balance in a revocable bank account trust. Joint tenancy may pass to the surviving joint tenant free of creditor's claims against the decedent, but it is likely that creditors may proceed against the balance deposited in a bank account trust.

Dr. Ironside in front of Moody Church

IRONSIDE MEMORIAL LIBRARY DEVELOPMENT INITIATED

Admirers and students of the late Dr. H. A. Ironside in the Chicago area have been rallied through the efforts of Marvin Keener, director of development at Bryan, to a renewed interest in the H. A. Ironside Memorial Library at Bryan College. This library was dedicated in 1956 to the memory of Dr. Ironside as a vital memorial to this articulate and scholarly champion of historical Christianity and in appreciation for his twenty years of service as a member of the Bryan Board of Trustees.

A sponsoring committee of Ironside friends is headed by Melvin Lundquist, an insurance executive with the Swanson Insurance Agency in Chicago. The organizational meeting was held on June 26 and additional friends' meetings on July 30 and 31.

As the student body at Bryan continues to grow, the library must be expanded to meet the recommended minimum size of 50,000 volumes to maintain the good rating received from

FACULTY STRENGTHENED BY NEW DOCTORATES

J. James Greasby, professor of music and head of the Division of Fine Arts, became the second Bryan faculty member to complete requirements this year for the doctor's degree. In August his dissertation and the oral defense of it were accepted by the University of Southern California with final approval for the degree of Doctor of Musical Arts. The degree will be awarded at the January 1972 commencement.

Dr. Greasby

Dr. Greasby directs the concert choir and the madrigal singers at Bryan and also gives private instruction for advanced organ and piano students. This fall he begins his fourth year with Bryan.

Earlier this year, Richard Cornelius, head of the English department was awarded the Ph.D. in English at the University of Tennessee.

Dr. Cornelius

Other faculty additions, which include four with a doctorate, bring to a total of ten the number of doctorates in a faculty roster of twenty-nine full-time teachers for 1971-72.

In addition to the appointments of Dr. Richard Barnhart, Dr. Dale A. Carter, L. Donald Hill, Dr. Robert L. Mounts, Joseph Overholt, and Mrs. Rebecca VanMeeveren mentioned in the last issue, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools at the time of Bryan's accreditation in 1969. From that date the library holdings grew from 29,625 to just under 37,000 volumes in the spring of 1971. To purchase and shelve the additional 13,000 volumes by 1973 and add needed items to the audio-visual collection, the goal of the sponsoring committee has been set for $150,700.

A mailing was sent recently to a list of Ironside friends recommended by the sponsoring committee. Additional personal contacts will be made by committee members under the direction of Mr. Keener.

NEWSSETTE, one more addition and three replacements are listed below.

Philip Ashworth, originally of Dayton, Ohio, returns to Bryan on a one-year appointment as assistant professor of biology, to replace Russell Porcella, also a Bryan graduate who is continuing studies at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville in a doctoral program. Mr. Ashworth graduated from Bryan with the B.S. in biology in 1967, and earned the M.S. in biology at the University of Tennessee. He is married to the former Mary Kate McCroskey, a 1967 alumna of Bryan, who has been teaching Spanish in high school.

Mr. Ashworth

Stephen Cobb, associate professor of history, holds the B.A. from MacMurray College, the B.D. from Garrett Theological Seminary, and the Ph.D. from Northwestern University. Dr. Cobb's experiences include serving as minister of the United Methodist Church, directing a European travel seminary, and most recently teaching history at Judson College in Elgin, Ill. He is married and is the father of one son.

Dr. Cobb

Wayne Hook, of Naples, Fla., will serve as instructor in art, succeeding Raymond Gage, who returned to California for this year. Mr. Hook specializes in ceramics and sculpture. He is a graduate

COLLEGE FOR-A-DAY

Previously scheduled for October 22 has been postponed because of delay in dormitory construction.

FALL PLANS PROJECTED; SUMMER PROGRESS REPORTED

FACULTY CONFERENCES

A spiritual retreat for all college personnel and a self-study conference highlighted the opening of school activities in early September. Dr. Robert Smith, professor of philosophy, Bethel College, St. Paul, Minn., led the two-day spiritual retreat, the first of its kind to be devoted exclusively to the spiritual dimension as a part of the faculty-staff workshops.

The self-study conference, directed by Prof. Glen Liebig, was the beginning of the second phase of the institutional self-study, a comprehensive in-depth analysis of every phase of college operation involving the total college personnel. A part of the reaffirmation of accreditation process of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, the self-study will continue in its various phases through the winter of 1973. A committee representing the Commission on Colleges of the Association will visit the campus in the spring of 1973 to evaluate the college for renewal of accreditation.

Other activities prior to the beginning of classes on September 20 included the regular faculty workshop, soccer and cross-country camps, a parents' meeting, orientation and registration, and spiritual life meetings led by Rev. Charles Stanley of Atlanta's First Baptist Church.

FACULTY STRENGTHENED

Of major importance is the increase in the number of doctorates on the faculty, as reported elsewhere in this issue. This includes two members of the current faculty receiving the doctorate and a gain of one additional doctorate in new appointments. Two faculty members are on leave this semester, one to complete a doctoral dissertation and the other to complete residence work for the doctorate.

PHYSICAL FACILITIES IMPROVED

A number of projects in the area of physical facilities were carried out during the summer months. These included installing of hand-rails in the gymnasium, construction of two new tennis courts (still in progress) to replace those displaced by the new dormitory, the cutting of a new road from the main triangle to the gymnasium, interior painting of several areas, panelling the chancel wall in the chapel, and creating a new choral room to accommodate the expanding music department.

The Rudd Memorial Chapel committee expects to present plans for consideration of the Board of Trustees on October 4.

New dormitory for 105 women students nears completion

DORMITORY DELAYED

The new dormitory to house 105 women students was not ready for the opening of the fall term as originally planned. Temporary arrangements have been made for housing the student overflow until this building is ready. No date has been set for occupancy.

LAST YEAR

Bryan's annual enrollment for the past academic year passed the 500 mark for the first time with the enrollment for the fall semester a year ago showing a solid 18.5% increase over the previous fall. This increase was attributed largely to accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in December 1969. The college completed the fiscal year on June 30 in the black, with a gift income of $538,000, the second highest in the forty-one year history of the college.

Admissions Counsellor Appointed

E. Walter Seera, dean of students for the past four years, has been appointed Admissions Counselor for the college. This is a continuation on a full-time basis of the activity in student recruitment Mr. Seera carried out part-time last year. Replacing Mr. Seera as dean of students is Dr. Robert Mounts, whose faculty appointment was announced in the previous issue of the NEWSETTE.

Mr. Seera is available for appointments at high school and church college career days and similar events. He is also available as a speaker for church meetings, including youth groups and Sunday School classes. He will specialize in personal contacts with prospective students and their parents as well as pastors, youth directors, and guidance counselors.

Friends of Bryan who wish Mr. Seera to visit their area, or who have contacts relating to prospective students to suggest, should write directly to E. Walter Seera, Admissions Counselor, Bryan College, Dayton, TN 37321.

Enrollment Shows Increase

As of press time (September 1) it appeared that the enrollment for the fall term may run 5% or more ahead of a year ago. New student applications have run slightly behind a year ago, but improved retention of continuing students offsets this small decline and pushes the enrollment expectancy ahead. The higher retention of continuing students also reflects the solid 18.5% increase in enrollment in the fall of 1970, which was attributed in large measure to the accreditation of Bryan by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in December 1969. A total of 413 registered for the fall term in 1970 as against 328 in the fall of 1969.

New applicants are divided about two-thirds freshmen and one-third transfer students with advanced standing. Men students outnumber women slightly, with one in eight students married. Geographical distribution this year lists thirty-four states plus six foreign countries, besides several other overseas countries where missionary children have lived with their parents. Among the states, Tennessee claims over a hundred representatives, or a fourth of the total Bryan enrollment population, and Florida follows in its usual second place with some fifty. Georgia, Illinois, Michigan, North Carolina, Ohio, and Pennsylvania share a substantial representation nearing five per cent or more each.

One of the contributing factors to the enrollment increase was the ministry of the Bryan Musical Messengers this summer. The six-member student team traveled for ten weeks, covering 8,260 miles in twelve states from Georgia north along the coast to New York and west to Ohio, ending in Covington, Ky., on August 18. Many enthusiastic comments were received following their seventy appearances in youth rallies, church services, Bible conferences, vacation Bible schools, and in their contacts in homes where they were entertained.

FINE ARTS DEPARTMENT LISTS IMPROVEMENTS

The Bryan music department has been strengthened by some physical improvements this summer and continues with its five faculty members from last year: Dr. J. James Greasby, associate professor of music and head of the fine arts department, who is director of the concert choir and the madrigal singers and private instructor for advanced organ and piano pupils; William R. Boyd, assistant professor of music, who instructs in music theory and instruments and directs the symphonic band; Dr. John Bartlett, academic dean, who gives vocal instruction to advanced students; Mrs. John Bartlett, assistant professor of music, who is voice and piano instructor; and Mrs. Mary N. Holt, instructor in music who shares in the voice and piano instruction.

To supplement the four practice rooms, two studios, and band room in the music building, a new office for Dr. Greasby and a choral room have been renovated on the ground floor of the administration building. Light wood paneling, new floor with carpets in prospect, a drop ceiling and storage cabinets for music and equipment provide a much-needed improvement for the department.

The Concert Choir is planning the spring vacation tour for March 24-April 2 through middle and west Tennessee, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama. Suggestions for appointments in this area and contributions for the tour which is student-sponsored may be sent to Miss Sue Nolan, secretary to the choir, Box 309, Bryan College.

Other choir appointments will be filled in a number of East Tennessee churches throughout the school year.

The sixteen Madrigal Singers returned to the campus early to prepare a program for performance in area high schools. Special attention has been given to new formal outfits including tuxedos for the fellows and also to matching casual attire for the lighter part of their program. This group wishes to express appreciation for the support they have received through contributions this summer toward their outfits and expanded program efforts.

A new feature for the department for 1971-72 is the awarding of music scholarships to eight students who have qualified on the basis of their work in the department and their general academic standing. These are: Dow Barton, sophomore, Miami, Fla.; Brent Ferguson, junior, Trenton, Ga.; Mary Howard, senior, Sale Creek, Tenn.; Ray Loey, junior, Takoma Park, Md.; Sue Nolan, sophomore, Lexington, Ohio; John Peterson, junior,

A TRIBUTE

Mrs. F. J. Goatley was a special guest of honor at the all-college picnic on August 31 beginning the activities of the new academic year. She will move to Indiana this fall. Mrs. Goatley's late husband, Col. F. J. Goatley, was a member of the public relations and development staff of the college for nine years prior to his death last January. Besides assisting her husband in his work on occasion, Mrs. Goatley has been active in the affairs of the Bryan Women's Auxiliary of which she is the immediate past president. On more than one occasion, Col. and Mrs. Goatley hosted the opening of school picnic at Knollwood, their home in the Edgewater section of Dayton.

Students Share Overseas Missionary Outreach

Twelve Bryan students served with nearly a thousand Christian workers under Operation Mobilization in Mexico and several countries of Europe this summer, and two others went overseas under other mission boards.

Those traveling in Spain were Sarah Abernethy, of Salisbury, N.C., who is considering a year's involvement; Darlene Logsdon, Jacksonville, Fla.; Lynn Puffer, Miami, Fla.; Suzann Georgianni, Miami, Fla.; and Anne Crawford, Waxhaw, N.C.

The team to France included three fellows and one girl: Leroy Nicholson, Latrobe, Pa.; Sharon Peterson, Worthington, Minn.; Bryan Shelley, Asheville, N.C.; and Steve Gregory, Muskegon, Mich.

One young lady, Christine Byers, of Claremont, Calif., served in Italy; and two representatives, Jennifer Stockstill, of Houston Texas, and Jim Lamb, of Atwater, Ohio, went to Mexico.

Operation Mobilization is a fellowship of like-minded Christian college students that have banded together for training and service in evangelism. Its work is carried on in more than 20 countries of the world using mostly nationals assisted by student volunteers.

Reports of the summer's experiences tell of many open doors for literature distribution, eager responses as well as indifferent attitudes, and remarkable instances of the Lord's provision and protection.

Somewhat different experiences but also enlightening ones were shared by Robert Marlow, Knoxville, Tenn., who went to Japan under TEAM and Annette Winkler, Dayton, Tenn., who worked at the German Bible Institute in Seeheim, Germany under Greater Europe Mission.

Evangelism Institute Scheduled

On November 12-14, the College is sponsoring a Lay Institute for Evangelism for students, faculty, and staff, as well as for non-Bryan individuals in the East Tennessee area. The three-fold purpose of the institute, which is being conducted by staff members from Campus Crusade for Christ, is to teach Christians how to live a Spirit-filled life, to train them to share their faith, and to provide practical opportunities for witnessing.

Executive committee chairman for the institute is Scott Coverdale of the Bryan mathematics department, who has experienced first-hand the spiritual impact a lay institute can have in the life of an individual or a Christian organization.

Bryan Joins National Athletic Organization

The Bryan College athletic program will have a new dimension this year since it became a member of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics. Under Coach Wayne Dixon, director of athletics and assistant professor in health and physical education, Bryan shares the NAIA basic premise that the athletic program must be a part of the general educational process in the institution and not a separate enterprise.

Coach Dixon attended the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics in Miami, Fla., in June, representing the smallest institution at the convention. The seminar was continued at Freeport in the Bahamas with discussions of business procedures used in directing intercollegiate athletics.

The Bryan Lions will compete this year in five major sports in the total intercollegiate program. Membership in the Southern Christian Athletic Conference since its reorganization last spring includes Covenant College, Lee College, Trevecca Nazarene College, and Bryan for basketball competition only.

In addition to the SCAC area conference, Bryan is also a member of the National Christian College Athletic Association and will hope to qualify for participation in the spring basketball tournament to be held at Tennessee Temple College.

The fall program includes cross country coached by Lloyd Matthes, assistant professor of mathematics and coach of track and cross country; soccer coached by Jim Bath, assistant professor in health and physical education and assistant coach; and basketball coached by Wayne Dixon. Baseball and track will be added in the spring.

The 1971-72 fall and winter schedule for what Coach Dixon terms one of the toughest Bryan has faced thus far lists the following events:

Student Union Plans Fall Activity Calendar

The Student Union role at Bryan College is different from that of a secular college. Although the purpose is entertainment, recreation, and activities of educational value, this is done in the spirit of Christian fellowship with a stress on spiritual growth.

Membership in the Student Union is open to any student, faculty, or staff member. Membership dues are used to pay initial cost of the HILLTOPPER (student newspaper), furnishings for the TV and game room, and all the Student Union's scheduled activities. The Student Union tries to make Bryan a little more like home. Their officers for this year are: president, Steve Griffith of Tullahoma, Tenn.; vice-president, Dow Barton of Miami, Florida; and secretary-treasurer, Nancy Bugg of Atlanta, Ga.

A calendar of week-end activities planned by the various organizations and college administration has been coordinated by the Student Union to provide some definite activity each week end. Plans made by the Student Union for the first semester include the following:

Children's choir sings for adult service

BIBLE CONFERENCE REPORT

The summer Bible conference sponsored by the Alumni Association on July 24-30 was acclaimed this year by many as the "best conference yet" in the eight-year experience of week-long summer conferences. Outstanding was the warmth of family fellowship among the 17 families with about 40 children who occupied dormitory facilities to join a similar number of Bryan students and faculty families plus local residents who shared in the classes and activities for a daily attendance averaging between 150 and 200.

The prophetic messages of Pastor Roy Clark '51 illustrated by pictures and stories from his recent Israel tour, and the inspirational messages of Rev. Howard (Mickey) Park '55 were a stimulating combination. The musical leadership of Steve x'64 and Barbara (Tanis) x'65 Snyder aided by soloist Judy (King) Barth '57 and in combination with Martha (King) Park '57 and Virginia Seguire '54 gave a vibrant musical presentation.

Other features included the Billy Graham film, "The Lost Generation," an unscheduled address by Tom Skinner of New York City and numerous other features and activities to provide a memorable week in an atmosphere of rustic beauty aided greatly this summer by refreshing July showers.

Why not mark your calendar now for July 22-28, 1972 to attend the Bryan Summer Bible Conference! Ken Campbell '56 and Jim Reese '56 are booked as evangelist and musician and hopefully will be accompanied by their families. Dr. John Reed '51, now of Dallas Theological Seminary faculty, will be the Bible expositor.

OCTAGON SOUVENIRS

While the Octagon was being dismantled to make room for the new women's dorm, Dr. Richard Cornelius rescued pieces of the special grooved wood used in each of the rooms. Anyone contributing to the Rudd Memorial Chapel Fund who wishes a small souvenir from a particular room in the Octagon should send his gift to the Alumni Office and specify which room number (or numbers) he wants (e.g., Upper 7, Lower 2, etc.) Unlike pieces from "the true cross," these relics are guaranteed to be genuine. In addition to these mementos and any memories in the hearts of Octagon dwellers ("Hello, Octagon; two bars for a quarter"), the Octagon also lives on in the form of an addition constructed from its remains by the congregation of the Morgantown Church of God.

STEWARDSHIP PLANNER

VOL. 4, No. 3

September, 1971

This information bulletin is published quarterly as an addendum to the NEWSETTE to provide friends of Bryan College with information that will assist them in their Christian stewardship.

Neither the author nor the publisher of this publication is engaged in rendering legal or tax advisory service. For advice and assistance in specific cases, the services of an attorney or other professional person should be obtained. The purpose of this publication is to provide accurate and authoritative information of a general character only. Watch for tax revisions.

Conserving the Moderate Estate in Distribution

The distribution of moderate estates is concerned generally with transferring estate assets to the surviving spouse, and in turn to the children, without undue dissipation of the assets. Although this is usually accomplished through a simple will, in some cases there may be more effective methods.

WILL SUBSTITUTES

Joint ownership of property and revocable trusts are common will substitutes, both of which have certain advantages and disadvantages. Although the revocable trust is sometimes used to avoid the expense of probate, trustees' and attorneys' fees relating to trust management and distribution could exceed the cost of probate administration. The use of a revocable trust usually shortens the period between death and the distribution of the estate and may reduce the probate estate to a level which could qualify it for short administration.

Even though a will substitute may be used for specific purposes, a will is advisable, also, to name personal representatives and guardians, to dispose of property which is not easily transferred by joint tenancy or trust, and to prevent intestate distribution of property which has not been effectively transferred to joint tenancy or trust.

POUROVER WILLS

Simple pourover wills are used generally to dispose of previously established living trusts which sometimes have complex provisions. The pourover will does not usually provide any tax-saving benefits. Its purpose is to provide privacy of disposition to persons whose affairs may be of interest to the public.

The will which is probated reflects only the name of the executor, personal and estate guardians, specific bequests either minor in nature or intended to be public, and distribution of the residuary estate to "a trust." The actual distribution through the "trust" is not revealed to the general public.

tribution through the "trust" is not revealed to the general public.

MARITAL-DEDUCTION PLANNING

Marital-deduction planning may not appear significant in small or moderate estates since there is no estate tax unless the estate exceeds $60,000 and if the spouse is alive, the tax is usually very small in estates up to $130,000. However, life insurance can quickly swell the estate to a point where estate tax becomes significant. Also, if both spouses should die in a common disaster, all property in the estate may be subject to tax considerations.

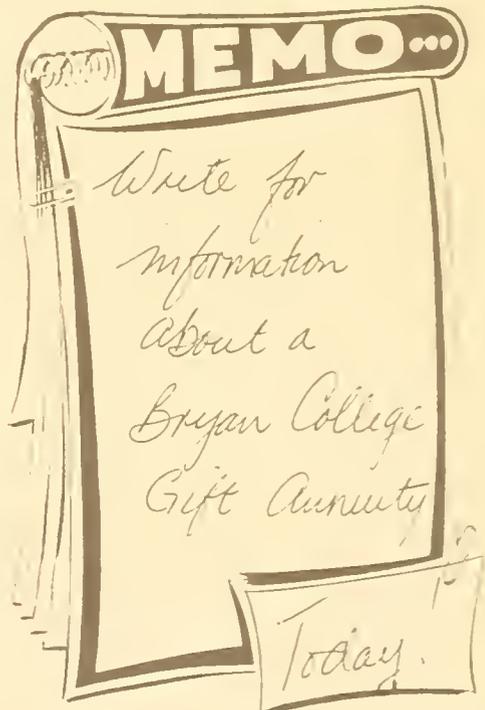

Almost any estate has the potential of reaching a level where marital-deduction planning could be significant. This likelihood could easily exist in the estate of a younger person who has developed a good plan for estate creation.

A simple will requires continuing counsel, review, and updating as circumstances develop and change. There may be a significant difference in cost, initially, of developing a sound, detailed plan to exploit the marital deduction as compared to the cost of a plan that is designed to be continually reviewed and readjusted. A simple will may be advisable, because a marital-deduction plan can complicate a smaller estate if the testator dies before his estate has had time to develop.

Any estate, small or large, can be subject to complications created by unanticipated circumstances. Most complications, however, can be avoided or lessened through careful planning. Estate planning is not a case for "do-it-yourself." Seek good counsel in which you have confidence. Our booklets concerning wills may help you to be knowledgeable of various possibilities which you may discuss with your professional estate-planning counselor. Three Faculty Members Awarded National Honors

Three Bryan faculty members who were chosen as Outstanding Educators of America for 1971 are Dr. John B. Bartlett, academic dean; Dr. R. Allen Killen, associate professor of Bible and philosophy, 1969-71; and Mrs. Robert M. Sheddan, dean of counselling services and student aid officer.

Dr. Bartlett holds the B.A. and M.F.A. from Bob Jones University and the Ph.D. from Ohio State University. He was instructor in speech and dean of men at Bryan from 1956 to 1960 and returned to Bryan in 1970. This summer he conducted a study tour for four weeks on the continent of Europe with a party of 32 members.

Dr. R. Allen Killen lists the following degrees: B.S. from Wheaton College, Ill., B.D. from Faith Theological Seminary; Th.M. from Dallas Theological Seminary, and Th.D. from The Free University of Amsterdam, Holland. He taught philosophy and Bible for two years at Bryan but has accepted a position to teach this fall at the Reformed Theological Seminary in Jackson, Miss. He is being replaced at Bryan by Dr. Robert Mounts who is transferring from that Seminary.

Mrs. Sheddan, an alumna of Bryan with the B.S. in business administration, also holds the master of M.Ed. from the University of Chattanooga. She teaches business courses part time and administers the testing program of the college along with her duties as director of student aid and counselling services.

Outstanding Educators of America is an annual awards program honoring distinguished men and women for their exceptional service, achievements, and leadership in the field of education. Selections are made on the basis of recommendations by the institution with which they are affiliated.

EUROPEAN PARTY COMPLETES MONTH TOUR

Second row standing are: Catherine Eckles, Marina, Cal.; Dr. T. C. Mercer; Mrs. Reita Hall, Athens, Tn.; Mrs. Alice Mercer; Sandra Gibson, Erlanger, Ky.; Mrs. Crews, Athens, Tn.; Mrs. J. J. Rodgers and Dr. J. J. Rodgers, Dayton, Tn.; Don White, York, Neb.; Mrs. Ruth Bartlett, Dayton, Tn.; Richard Daugherty, Dayton, Tn.; Muriel Marshall, Ottawa Lake, Mich.; Dr. John Bartlett, Dayton; and Barbara McCarrell, Glenview, Illinois.

Back row: Jennifer Bartlett, Dayton; Bonita Shumaker, Northumberland, Pa.; Glen Tallent, Spring City, Tn.; Sheila Mercer, Kirkwood, N.J.; Karen Brodsky, Fincastle, Va.; Mrs. Eugene Cox, Athens, Tn.; Elaine Purser, Dayton, Tn.; David Mercer, Dayton; and John Mercer, Dayton; Mrs. Dale Carter and Dr. Dale Carter, Chattanooga, Tn.

Major points of literary, historic, and fine arts interests were visited in seven European countries by the Bryan College party of thirty-two students, faculty, administrators, alumni, and other Bryan associates on the first Bryan College study abroad seminar. Twenty members of the group earned college credit for one or both of the courses taught in world literature and fine arts for a total of six hours credit.

The thirty-one day tour was directed by Dr. John Bartlett, academic dean, who also supervised the fine arts study program. World literature instruction was handled by Dr. Theodore Mercer, college president. Both were accompanied by their wives and other members of their families.

A highlight of the seminar was a visit to Berlin. Students began to feel the tension of the communist regime during the flight from Frankfurt. The heavy restrictions imposed in the air corridor in many cases result in very choppy flying. Seeing the contrast between communist-controlled East Germany and the comparative freedom of the western sector is a shocking experience to any traveler. When one passes through "Checkpoint Charlie," he immediately feels stifled by the restrictions of the East. A visit such as this to a communist country makes one doubly appreciative of the American heritage.

Dr. Bartlett maintains that among the best learning experiences a student can have today are such on-the-spot visits as the Bryan European Study Tour afforded. A student may read texts, look at pictures, and hear lectures about places and things; but seeing the originals of the world's great masterpieces of art and architecture, visiting great literary shrines and the cradles of great civilizations gives impressions that can only be derived from such a tour.

The thirty-two travelers returned to the States weary in body, refreshed and stimulated intellectually, and grateful to God for our great American nation.

Fish Service Program Initiated by Students

Last winter during the Spiritual Life Conference at the College, many students expressed a desire to share their Christian love with the community of Dayton. The realization that Christ was concerned with the social and personal needs as well as spiritual development of His followers raised a vital question, "How can we, as believers, show our love in an outreach that will be both relevant and meaningful to this community?" This was the inquiry that gave birth to the "Fish" program at Bryan this year.

The Fish organization, conceived and operated by students, is sponsored by Bryan's Missions In Action (MIA). The officers providing the leadership and motivation for the student participation are as follows: president, David Wolfe, Sheldon, Iowa; vice-president, Jim Fitzgerald, Richmond, Va.; and secretary, Yvonne Jenkins, Beaver, W. Va.

Fish is designed to channel the students' concern into actual service to the people of the community of Dayton. More than one-fourth of the student body have committed themselves to participate in over seventeen services, including companionship for the elderly by way of taking them for drives around the city and reading to shut-ins; Big Brother/Sister relationships with neglected children or children whose homes cannot offer them the influence of both a mother and father; blood donation; tutoring elementary and high school students; and emergency services such as baby-sitting, transportation, and house cleaning for the sick.

Fish volunteers answered 28 calls in the first four-week period to do yard work, baby-sitting, house cleaning, painting, and tutoring. Fish services are offered free of charge to the recipient. The

CHRISTIAN LIFE CONFERENCE INCLUDES MISSIONS

An action-packed three-day conference on the Christian life is scheduled for January 24-26 to open the second semester. This conference has been planned to combine the essential elements of the annual Bible and former FMF conferences into an integrated program both to nourish the inner spiritual life and to inspire overt response to the Great Commission of Jesus Christ. This new combination program is an experiment growing out of recommendations made by missionary executives participating in the 1970-71 FMF conference.

The three major speakers for the January meetings are Rev. John W. P. Oliver, pastor, First Presbyterian Church, Augusta, Ga.; Dr. Warren Webster, general director, Conservative Baptist Foreign Mission Society, Wheaton, Ill.; and Dr. Don Hillis, associate director, The Evangelical Alliance Mission, Wheaton, Ill.

Mr. Oliver's messages will deal with the kind of spiritual life which is necessary to enable the believer to respond to the Great Commission. Dr. Webster and Dr. Hillis will focus primarily on the promotion of missions and the carrying out of an overt Christian witness. The emphasis will be world missions individual personal witnessing in a non-vocational context as well as the kinds of Christian service generally denominated as home missions and foreign missions.

Approximately 20 mission boards and other organizations have been invited to send an official representative to the conference. Besides the three main speakers for the public meetings, many others, including exhibitors, students, faculty, administrators, and visitors, will participate in a variety of ways in discussion groups, testimonies, and informal counseling.

The conference both in its planning and execution is the joint responsibility of the student organization, Missions in Action (successor to the Foreign Missions Fellowship chapter), and the college administration. Missions in Action is dedicated to world evangelism, on the premise that Christian students will respond positively to the commands of Jesus Christ when confronted with the reality of His power in the personal life and with the spiritual need in the world around them. Two programs sponsored by MIA are Fish and the Summer Missions project. Through Fish, students have an opportunity to show love in action in the local community; through Summer Missions, a more global context is achieved.

The intensive schedule will include three major addresses daily, a discussion period, and a generous allowance of time for viewing the exhibits and films and for interviews and counseling with the exhibitors whose organizations are participating in the conference. The format of the conference makes it a kind of mini-Urbana.

The conference is open to prospective students, families of students, and friends of the college. Those wishing a detailed program may request a schedule by writing MIA, Bryan College, Dayton, Tenn. 37321.

gratitude shown by those helped has been greatly rewarding, a perfect example of Acts 20:35b, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

The response of Dayton city leaders has also been very enthusiastic. In a chapel program this fall, several prominent citizens extended a welcome to the Fish. They expressed surprise and genuine pleasure at seeing young people interested in aiding their community and elicited the hope that this organization will foster even better relations between the town and college.

As Dr. Theodore Mercer, president of Bryan, said, "Bryan College is a part of the Dayton community, and the Fish program is a way of showing it."

TRUSTEES AUTHORIZE RUDD CHAPEL PROJECT; RAISE TUITION

At their fall meeting on Oct. 4, the board of trustees accepted preliminary plans for a college chapel to be built as a memorial to the late President Emeritus, Dr. Judson A. Rudd, and authorized the development of these plans for use in a program of promotion to raise funds for this five-year project estimated at an overall cost, including furnishings, of $500,000. Conceived by the alumni association, the building has been designed to serve both as a college chapel, symbolizing the spiritual commitment of the institution, and as a fine arts center for the growing music department until expansion makes possible a separate fine arts building.

Keefe Made Trustee

Dr. Karl E. Keefe, Jr., dean of the School of Education of the University of Tennessee at Martin, was elected to the board of trustees and has been assigned to serve on the academic affairs committee of the board. Dr. Keefe was academic dean of Bryan 1957-66, and his two sons, Karl III and Thomas, are Bryan alumni.

Arnold Village Purchased

The purchase of Arnold Village, the married students' housing area adjacent to the campus, was authorized, with transfer of the property taking place November 1. This complex of eight buildings with twenty apartments was developed beginning in 1960 by Mrs. E. B. Arnold and her daughter, Mrs. Frank Cowden, Sr., both of Dayton. Mrs. Arnold is a founder of the college and served as a trustee from 1949-69, becoming trustee emeritus in February 1970. Mrs. Arnold served as secretary of the board, a position also held by her late husband in his lifetime. Arnold Village is successor to Trailerville of the 1940's and 1950's, an area developed on campus for married students after World War II.

Tuition Increased

A tuition increase of $90 per semester effective with the 1972-73 academic year was voted, subject to whatever modifications may grow out of the present federal program of wage and price control. As a part of their fall meeting, the trustees were involved in sessions relating to the institutional self-study, which is the heart of the reaffirmation of accreditation process culminating in 1973. The winter meeting of the board will be held February 28-29.

Trustee Hoyt Completes 25-Year Term at Bryan

Dr. Herman Hoyt of Winona Lake, Ind., was honored recently with a certificate of merit for twenty-five years of service to Bryan College as a trustee. At the time of his resignation in October from active service on the board, Dr. Hoyt was the trustee with the longest term of service. In resigning, Dr. Hoyt cited the difficulty of continuing active service on the Bryan board in view of his increasing responsibilities of Grace Schools, which include both Grace College and Grace Theological Seminary. He was voted trustee emeritus in appreciation of his long and faithful trustee service to the college.

The connection of the Hoyt family with Bryan dates back to its early years. Three of his brothers and one sister attended Bryan, and another brother was a French and linguistic teacher—Solon x'43, a missionary in Argentina; Lowell '42, a pastor and mathematics teacher who lives in Hartville, Ohio; Eldon x'50, a resident of Indianapolis, Ind.; and Charlotte x'47, now Mrs. Forest Lance, a pastor's wife in Montclair, Calif. The French professor, Garner, is now teaching at The King's College in New York state.

Prior to the establishment of Grace College in the 1950's, Bryan drew upwards of half of its students from the Grace Brethren Church, which is the popular name of the National Fellowship of Brethren Churches, with which Dr. Hoyt and Grace Schools are affiliated.

IN MEMORIAM

Wallace P. Haggard, prominent businessman of Americus, Ga., and a founder of Bryan College on August 28. He is survived by his wife, the former Roberta Schoolfield, of Pikeville, Tenn., who was a student in Bryan's first class.

Mrs. Ethel Schild Stansbury, wife of Bryan's business manager, Russell V. Stansbury, and school teacher in Dayton for 40 years, on Nov. 16.

Mrs. Gladys Morgan Duncan, retired Sale Creek high school librarian and teacher and an early librarian at Bryan, also on Nov. 16.

Advisory Committee Organized for 1972

In a recent meeting held at the college, the Rhea County Advisory Committee was organized for 1972 with the following officers elected: Ben Purser, president of Dayton Bank and Trust Co., chairman; W. C. Hilleary, president of Southern Silk Mills, vice chairman; Philip Hall, Dayton area Texaco distributor, secretary-treasurer; and Martel Gamble, Spring City Motor Co., and John Beard, Beard-Walters Ford Co., members of the executive committee. Mr. Hilleary and Mr. Gamble are from Spring City and the other officers from Dayton. Composed of some fifty businessmen of the county, the Committee adopted for its immediate project the raising of funds to pay for the furnishings in the new women's dormitory now nearing completion.

The Advisory Committee was originally organized in 1957 and took as its first project the raising of $15,000 to renovate the present college dining room. C. P. Swafford, Dayton attorney and now a trustee of the college, was chairman of that first committee. Since that time the committee has been instrumental in raising funds for many college projects, its most recent project being the official residence of the college built in 1968-69 and named Rhea House in honor of the Committee. Although not functioning within the committee framework, many members of this committee were actively involved in the 1968-69 accreditation drive in which $300,000 was raised to offset expenditures accumulated in the accreditation process.

SUMMER BIBLE CONFERENCE July 22-28, 1972

The 1972 summer conference sponsored by the Bryan Alumni Association has booked the following speakers for its one-week program in July:

John Reed '52, associate professor of practical theology at Dallas Theological Seminary, who will be the Bible expositor and will give a speech recital on Sunday afternoon, July 23;

Kenneth Campbell '56, Canadian evangelist and Bible teacher, who founded the Campbell-Reese Evangelistic Association; and James Reese '56, baritone vocalist and trombonist who serves with Ken Campbell.

TWO ACADEMIC LECTURES FOR ANNUAL SERIES

Biblical Studies and Philosophy

Dr. Kenneth O. Gangel, professor of Christian Education and chairman of the department at Trinity Evangelical Divinity School in Deerfield, Ill., was the guest speaker for the Bryan lecture series sponsored by the division of Biblical studies and philosophy. Dr. Gangel's lecture program was sponsored by the foundation which supports the Staley Distinguished Christian Scholar lectures to "propagate the Gospel of Jesus Christ in its historical and scriptural fullness."

For his Bryan talks Dr. Gangel chose the theme, "The Task of the Church in Contemporary Society." In three morning chapel messages he dealt with the local church as related to its Biblical legacy, Biblical leadership, and Biblical love. Friends in the area also shared in the evening messages dealing with "You and Your Spiritual Gifts," and "Crisis at Conviction Gap."

Dr. Gangel

Literature and Modern Languages

Another academic lecture series scheduled for this year will be sponsored by the division of literature and modern languages on April 6 and 7. Dr. Ernest Lee, a Bryan graduate of 1952 and a linguist who has been working in Vietnam under Wycliffe Bible Translators, will be the visiting lecturer. He and his family are making their furlough home in Columbus, Indiana.

Science Museum Receives Gift Rock Collection

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Castle of Dayton recently gave a collection of rocks to Bryan College Natural Science Museum, of which Dr. Willard L. Henning, head of the division of natural sciences, is curator. Mrs. Castle is a Bryan graduate of 1962 who teaches at Rhea Central High School. The Castles spent the past summer and fall on a collecting trip in the northern Rocky Mountains mainly in Wyoming and Colorado.

According to Dr. Henning, the following minerals were added to the Bryan collection of rocks to be used mainly in the geological studies of the physical science survey course: fern agate, black and turritella agates and an intrusive quartz vein; purple and white amethyst crystals, medium quartz crystals, large and unusual feld-spar crystals; and fossils of petrified wood, palm tree trunk and part of a whale bone (from California). Of special interest is a "Volcanic bomb," nearly as large as a baseball which came from Washington state. It consists of a large angular central core of olivine and chert surrounded by a very hard but round coat of reddish basalt.

The Science Division acknowledged appreciation to the Castles for these interesting and helpful collector's items.

My World is Changing

John Mann, president of Student Senate

A little over three years ago when I entered Bryan as a freshman, I was looking at Bryan, life, and society from a rather distorted perspective. I have discovered that like many others who were in my situation, I was living in a candy-apple world. As I was living from moment to moment, I saw life as a game, and college seemed to be a rather exciting recess from reality. Like most of my peers, I developed an attitude of rebellion against any restrictions that were placed upon me—especially those which seemed to have survived from prehistoric times.

As time progressed, so did I. My thinking began to include not only today but also yesterday and tomorrow as well. I realized that though I attended a Christian college, it was not going to make me Christian. When I began to study God's Word, I began to find some meaning in life, some purpose in my everyday tasks. But it too only made me question more the motives of others and especially what Bryan was trying to do. For the next two years I failed to see what the norms of this society had to do with being Christian.

Society has changed much over these three years and so has Bryan. However, neither of them have changed as much as I have. I can now understand some of the things that seemed irrational as a freshman. I now am an advocate of change not because my desires are being restricted, but because there is a real need for Bryan to stand for and teach some tangible Biblical principles rather than some unrelated traditions which cannot be understood by students. The college has made some tremendous progress in both its physical plant and faculty. There are some real men of God at Bryan who are concerned for the total development of its students and I appreciate very much the job they are doing. God has used Bryan to help me in many ways, and I believe He wants me to help it while I am here. I hope everyone involved with the school will realize how much is being done now, and how much more could be done if we would all work together.

Choir Tour Scheduled; New Robes Sought

The ten-day spring tour for the Bryan Concert Choir, directed by Dr. J. J. Greasby, head of the music department, will begin Friday, March 24, with an appointment at the Horton Heights Free Will Baptist Church in Nashville, Tenn. On Sunday morning they will sing at the Forrest City (Ark.) Baptist Church and on Sunday evening at the First Evangelical Church in Memphis, Tenn. Plans are being laid for a swing into Texas with appointments in Dallas, returning on the following week end through Louisiana and Mississippi.

The program will include a wide variety of selections including a cappella music from the Renaissance period through hymn settings and experimental music of today. Forty-four students will comprise the touring choir, which also includes the madrigal singers.

The choir personnel are undertaking to earn and solicit funds to purchase sixty new choir robes to replace those that have been used for the past fourteen years for both local and tour concerts. Contributions for the robe fund have been made by members, parents, and former choir members.

Any requests for tour appointments or local week end engagements may be directed to Miss Sue Nolan, Bryan College, Dayton, Tn. 37321.

Two new tennis courts were completed recently as pictured above with the gymnasium in full view in the background. The balmy fall season has promoted continued use of these courts for scheduled matches as well as individual enjoyment.

OLD RECORDS FALL DURING SOCCER SEASON

The Bryan soccer team ended their 1971 season with a 2-9 season, but did finish strong as they won two out of the last three games. Nine records were broken by the Lions and opponents during the year, two individual records and nine team records.

Ray Locy, a junior, broke two individual records while playing in the goal. Against Alabama he had 21 saves to set a new record for saves in a single game, and for the year he had 153 to set a record in

Wolfe Sets New Records In Four Running Events

The cross country season at Bryan was highlighted by the outstanding success of junior Dave Wolfe from Sheldon, Iowa, who was first place runner in nine out of ten meets and broke several records including two of his own.

On October 2 he set a new Bryan course record with a two-second improvement over Russ Karvonen's record of 1968 and three weeks later at Bryan's Invitational Meet he cut off one more second for a time of 15:36 on the three-mile course.

He was also a pace setter for a new record on the Carson-Newman course in Jefferson City, Tenn., at their four-way invitational in October when he improved the course record he had set earlier.

In the 17-mile marathon run to Spring City on November 13, Wolfe averaged 5:55 per mile for a total time of 1 hour, 40 minutes, 35 seconds to improve his own 1970 record by over five minutes.

At the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics regional meet in Nashville, he placed eighth to earn an invitation to the national competition of NAIA, held at Liberty, Mo. on Nov. 20.

that category. Dave Gerard, '69, had previously held both records.

Team-wise many records were broken, both good and bad. Opponents took 419 shots at the goal to break the old record of 227. Tennessee Temple shot 55 times to set a new game record, and Bryan shot 48 times against Athens College to break their old mark. Bryan scored 24 goals this year for a new record, but their foes got 62 to exceed another previous record. St. Bernard and Tennessee Temple tied with 11 goals each for the most goals in a game.

The record was set for both the most saves in a season and in a single game as Bryan had 185 for the year and 25 against the University of Alabama at Huntsville. The last mark to fall was for the most corner kicks in a season as the Lions' opponents took 67.

The Lions will only lose three seniors, Paul Peterson, Tim Kimmel, and Larry Jacobsen from this year's team. The 1972 outlook is already bright for Coach Jim Bath as there will be a solid nucleus to build upon with some hopeful new prospects.

At this event in competition with over 330 outstanding runners from all over the U. S., he finished 110th on a hilly five-mile course in a time just two minutes, forty-five seconds behind the national champion for 1971. He was third among East Tennessee runners.

In spite of individual successes, including the tie for first place in one meet by Jim Steele, sophomore of Dayton, and more individual improvement among squad members than any year that Coach Jake Matthes recalls, the season's results were a hapless 1-9 win-loss tally. With undaunted optimism for the future, Coach Matthes points out that this season's number one, two, and three runners, Wolfe, Steele, and Mark Thoreson, of St. Charles, Minn., will be returning next fall.

BASKETBALL SEASON PREVIEW

The 1971-72 basketball season for the Bryan College Lions will be a rebuilding year. With the graduation of Steve Roddy the leading scorer in the conference and one of the top rebounders for the last three years, a big void was left under the Lions' basket. Returning for the Lions are five lettermen to provide the nucleus for rebuilding—Phil Long 6'4" senior, Johnstown, Ohio; R. T. Barker, 6'2" senior, Hazard, Ky.; Woody Duncan, 6'1" sophomore, Oliver Springs, Tenn.; Wayne McPherson, 5'10" sophomore, Calhoun, Ky.; and David Eldridge, 5'10" sophomore, Soddy, Tenn. Several freshmen and transfer students are also being counted upon to contribute toward making the year a successful one.

The demanding 1971-72 schedule includes such teams as Union University in Jackson and several Volunteer State Athletic Conference schools, along with the reorganized Southern Christian Athletic Conference.

Christmas Season Events

The Christmas banquet with its formal dress and candlelight held on December 11 as an annual event in the college dining room featured the Rev. James H. Patterson, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Atlanta, Ga., as speaker. Mr. Patterson is a graduate of Wheaton College with a B. A. and of Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary with the B. D. degree.

The decorations for the festive Christmas theme were prepared by the adult education class taught by Mrs. Bryan Elder of Dayton, who also taught a course in decoupage earlier in the season.

The usual attractive buffet tables were prepared by Bryan's caterer, Professional Food-Service Management, directed this year by Ernest Buff.

The Bryan concert choir presentation of The Christmas Story by Ron Nelson was given in the chapel on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 12, under the direction of Dr. J. Greasby, professor of music. Brent Ferguson, junior, of Trenton, Ga., was the male soloist who along with the choir was accompanied by the brass choir and tympani, directed by William Boyd, assistant professor of music.

The final thematic event before Christmas was the Service of Lessons and Carols which has become an annual Bryan family tradition presenting the story of the birth of our Lord in Scripture lessons and familiar carols illustrated by slides of art masterpieces. The program featured musical groups from the college including the choir, chorales (women's voices), madrigals, and small ensembles in the candlelit chapel.

HOMECOMING REPORT

Homecoming was great! From the basketball game when the old "pros" defeated the intramural "all stars" in a Friday evening fun time which included introductions of the 1971-72 Lions of basketball fame and a half-hour concert by the 37-piece Symphonic band to the alumni-student vesper hour of music and inspiration on Sunday afternoon.

Highlights for Saturday started with Brunch on the bluff, which because of fog and dampness turned out to be a cozy ham and eggs "cook-in" with homemade rolls served in the Skyline conference dining room. Reports were made by President Mercer on enrollment progress, faculty improvement, and trustee decisions and by Mr. Keener, director of development, who presented the plan for the Alumni Homecoming Telethon. A brief business meeting with secretary's and treasurer's reports, discussion of plans to promote the Rudd Memorial Chapel project, recognition of two honorary alumni—Mrs. Betty Wynsema of Dayton, and Mrs. Mary Lee Kenyon of Miami, Fla.—and letters of appreciation to Dr. Herman Hoyt for his long term of trustee service and to Mrs. Vincent Ross for the brunch preparations.

The Homecoming parade of floats showed enthusiastic participation by the students in welcoming alumni and was climaxed with the crowning of the Homecoming Queen Martha Jones, senior of Abbeville, S. C. Three former queens also took part in the day's events: 1970, Gail Hamilton, Jamestown, N. Y.; 1969, Nancy Birch Longnecker, Dayton, Tenn.; and 1968, Kathy Avery, Dayton, Tenn.

The Alumnus of the Year announced elsewhere was a main feature of Homecoming banquet along with the speaker, Dr. Alan Johnson '57, who is an assistant professor of Biblical studies at Wheaton College.

The Sunday afternoon vesper climaxed a full week end with its theme of praise as Dave Llewellyn '66 provided continuity for the musical selections of the choir, the madrigals, and alumni vocalists.

Alumni Telethon

Watch for more news about the Alumni Telethon begun at Homecoming and now being continued through the area chapters. More than $6,000 in "faith promises" as five-year commitments to the Rudd Memorial Chapel project fund were added at Homecoming, and responses from those called are still coming in. At press time the total is near $40,000 toward the $100,000 alumni goal.

ALUMNI NAMES IN THE NEWS

John de Rosset x'47 reported good contacts in road trips during the summer in Central African Republic. On one trip they reached 20 villages and preached to a total of 550 souls. Over 40 professions of faith in Christ were made and several backsliders made things right with the Lord. John anticipates a bright future in the near future, perhaps before Christmas, to be with his children, John W. Jr., '67 who is teaching at a rural school in the Dayton, Tenn. area, and Diane (deRosset) '64 Hardin as well as her husband Lamar, and daughter, Jilte, who live in Oliver Springs, Tenn.

Margaret Ann McKinnon x'41 had a busy schedule of summer camp activities in leading teens and later family camp in the Philippines. Her stories tell of some real problems but also victories in lives surrendered to Christ. This fall she is teaching Bible in Cagayan in the college and one high school. She conducts a "Question of the Week" program discussion in connection with a book table display set up in the snack bar. June 1972 is the prospective furlough date.

Their home church, Rockville Bible Church, is very active in its outreach which this fall will include a Christian Day Care Center to accommodate 150 children.

Pictured at the right are Ann (Moore) x'58 Brownlee and her four children. Mary, Faith, Timothy and Steven, taken when they attended a Bryan alumni fellowship recently in Detroit. They are living in Williamston, Mich., since the unexpected death of husband and father, Willis Brownlee '57 as mentioned in the last issue of BRYANETTE. Joy Canady, eight-year-old daughter of Jack '58 and Norma Canady, is recovering from severe injuries from the attack of a dog last summer. The process of skin graft has restored an almost normal facial appearance and she has been able to return to school. This difficult experience for all the family has opened new doors of testimony for the Canadys in Barstow, Calif., where they work with a new church under Village Missions.

Miss Marilyn Laszlo '59 left the jungles in West Irian by canoe and arrived by plane at her home in Valparaiso, Ind., on Oct. 7 for her first furlough from tribal and linguistic work under Wycliffe Bible Translators.

Janet Claycomb '64 has returned to the States after a busy summer in camp work in Korea for the Korean-American youth who like the same activities as American campers—swimming, contests, awards, camp-fires, films, good food and Bible study. Many of these children are orphans who especially appreciate such an opportunity. She recently severed her affiliation with United World Mission and is living at present in Hartsville, Pa.

STEWARDSHIP PLANNER

VOL. 4 No. 4

by Marvin Keener

FOUR FRIENDS REMEMBER BRYAN IN THEIR WILLS

For the past four years the feature "Stewardship Planner" has been carried as part of the Newsette. Of those who have returned the coupons requesting information about wills, estate planning, and annuities, some have bought annuities to support the work of Bryan as well as to secure their own future.

To the Lord be praise for these responses and for those individuals who have included Bryan in their wills. Perhaps you would like to be sure your estate is used for the Lord after you are gone but are not sure how to take care of the details. Explanations have been given previously about various ways for planning estates, and in this issue some case studies are given where these principles have been put into practice. The people in these studies were convinced that the work at Bryan College was the Lord's work and wanted a part of their estate to go to further that work.

PENNSYLVANIA BENEFACTOR

The first bequest to be considered is that of a family in Pennsylvania. Some time ago the husband died leaving his estate to his wife to support her for the rest of her life. The two of them had agreed previously to leave a large part of their estate to the Lord's work. Should she die first, the money would go at his death to these organizations he had specified in his will. However, he died first and the estate went to her. This fulfilled his written will and the estate was now 100% hers. Under these circumstances, the state would divide the estate among her relatives on her decease; but this was not what either of them wanted. Therefore, she drew up a new will. In this will she gave a little money and much of her personal effects to eight friends. Then she gave a specific amount of money to each of 33 Christian ministries. Bryan was willed $2,000. Not knowing how much money would be in the estate after expenses, she gave the specified amounts and directed that the residue be divided pro rata among the 33 Christian ministries named. When she died in February of this year, this woman's estate was distributed as she wanted instead of its being distributed according to the state's laws which would have prevailed if she had not made a will.

THREE SISTERS OF ILLINOIS

The next will is that of three single sisters in Illinois who were interested in Bryan College because they knew Mr. Bryan personally. They inherited the family estate when their parents died. Not having any dependents, each sister named the other two sisters in her will as beneficiaries. Each also named three Christian schools as alternate beneficiaries. These alternate beneficiaries were to receive 1/3 of the estate each at the decease of the final testator. When the first two sisters died the estate passed to the survivor. This year the last of the three sisters went home to be with the Lord. Now the estate is being liquidated. One-third of it will go to Bryan and one-third to each of the other two Christian schools.

OHIO WIDOW

Now let's look at the will of a widow in Ohio, who had been left her husband's entire estate. When she made a will, she gave 45% of the estate to her son, an only child who was well established financially and did not need her total estate, 40% to her granddaughter, and 15% to be divided equally among three charities—Bryan College, a children's hospital and a church retirement home.

1968 TRUST

In the fourth will the benefactor placed the proceeds of the estate in a trust which was executed when he died in 1968. The trust was designed to give the wife an income as long as she lived. It also gave her the right to invade the trust if she needed more money to live on than the trust provided. On her death in September, the trust was divided among three charities: a memorial home, a church college and Bryan. The college received $10,000 for its endowment fund, which was invested in the purchase of Arnold Village, the married student housing area.

In all four of these cases, the testator's family was provided for first. Secondly, in each case, provision was made to place a portion or all of the estate into Christian work. Without a properly drawn will, one cannot leave a part of his estate to charity. The state has drawn a will for those who die without a will that gives 100% of the estate (after taxes) to the relatives of the deceased. Those who wish to give to charity must specifically designate money or property in their will for this purpose.

If you have put Bryan into your will, please note this fact on the coupon below. The record of these future bequests is of great value to Bryan for credit references. You do not have to reveal how much you have willed to Bryan unless you wish. Just indicate that you have included Bryan in your will. You can be sure that any knowledge you share with us will be kept in strictest confidence.

Bryan provides literature and ideas without obligation to help you plan your estate. For assistance, write Marvin Keener, Director of Development, Bryan College, Dayton, Tennessee 37321.

RUDD CHAPEL DESIGNED

With trustee approval of basic plans for the Rudd Memorial Chapel as presented by Uda Koerner, AIA, with Equitable Builders of Nashville, Tenn., the Alumni Association is pushing ahead on its goal toward securing commitments from alumni for $100,000. This has been set as the alumni project over a five-year period toward the construction of this new building estimated to cost an overall $500,000 including furnishings. It should be pointed out, however, that this is a preliminary estimate. When final plans and specifications are developed and a construction date has been set, an estimate based on construction costs prevailing at that time will be more realistic.

The growing student body of 455 this fall is meeting for the second year in the gymnasium for its regular morning chapel sessions and other all-college functions. The existing Army chapel, which was erected in 1947 on Bryan campus, accommodates only 350 and with auxiliary seating can care for 400; hence the need for the enlarged facility is well established. It is also a worthy purpose to honor the memory of Dr. Judson A. Rudd, who served the college for thirty-eight years of which twenty-two were in the role of college president.

In the early months of promotion of the Chapel project, the alumni have pledged over $37,000 and cash gifts are near $10,000 of this amount. After the alumni phase of the campaign is well under way, further plans will be announced for enlisting the contributions of other individuals and organizations that would like to share in the spiritual welfare of today's college youth who are being trained in a Christ-honoring environment.

The Lay Institute for Evangelism (L.I.F.E.) of November 12-14 attracted a total of 235 registrations—91 in the lay division and 144 in the campus-division. The institute was carried out under the direction of the Tennessee leadership of Campus Crusade International with Scott Coverdale, Bryan professor, serving as local chairman.

AUDITORIUM FLOOR PLAN

Basic chapel structure includes balcony for total seating of 1,000, a small prayer chapel with separate outside entrance and seating for 56, plus a basement to include choir room, band room, fellowship hall, kitchen, and rest rooms.

The 39th commencement exercises at Bryan will be held on May 21 and 22 for more than 90 members of the largest graduating class in Bryan's history. The baccalaureate preacher will be Rev. Ian M. Hay, North American director of the Sudan Interior Mission, and the commencement speaker, Dr. John G. Barker, president of Marshall University, Huntington, W. Va.

Mr. Hay served for 13 years in Nigeria, Africa, with his wife, June, until taking his present position in 1965.

Dr. Barker holds the B.S. degree from Concord College, the M.S. from the University of Maryland, and the Ph.D. from Virginia Polytechnic Institute. At Radford College where he began teaching in the biology department in 1953, he moved from instructor to professor and head of the department, and subsequently became dean and vice president of the college. In 1968 he took the position of associate executive secretary for the commission on colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools which provided his introduction to Bryan at the time this institution became accredited. Last year Dr. Barker became president of Marshall University.

The new 105-bed women's dormitory pictured above, which was occupied on January 28, has been named Arnold Hall in honor of the late E. B. Arnold and his widow, Mrs. Arnold, in recognition of their services on the Board of Trustees. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold were among the founders of the college. Mr. Arnold served as a trustee and for a number of years as secretary of the board until his death in 1948. Mrs. Arnold was a trustee from 1949 until 1970 including a term of service also as secretary of the board. Now as trustee emeritus Mrs. Arnold continues an active interest in the affairs of the college and has recently built a new store to house the Mrs. E.B. Arnold Women's Apparel. Action in naming the new dormitory was taken at the February 29 meeting of the Board of Trustees.

College Visitation Month Set for April 6 - May 6

College Visitation Month will be observed from April 6 through May 6 replacing College for a Day this spring, according to plans announced by the Admissions Office, Miss Zelpha Russell, director. Prospective students and their sponsors are encouraged to visit the campus during this period but it is important that advance reservations be made for an overnight stay. Dormitories, including the new women's dorm will provide housing for guests with Bryan students acting as hosts and hostesses.

Accommodations can also be provided at a minimal rate for adults accompanying the student visitors. April 6 through May 6 will be a month filled with interesting events, primarily in the field of the fine arts and culminated by the Fine Arts Festival, May 1-6.

Rush inquiries for further information about class and activity schedules, meal rates, and housing plans to the Director of Admissions, Bryan College, Dayton, TN. 37321.

Tennessee History Collection Named for Local Citizen

The collection of books on Tennessee history in the Ironside Memorial Library at Bryan was recently named the Anna Trentham Tennessee History Collection in honor of Miss Anna Trentham of Spring City, Tenn.

Miss Trentham received a citation of merit from President Theodore C. Mercer for her continuing support of the Bryan College library and in recognition of the establishment of the collection named in her honor.

Miss Trentham was the first graduate of Spring City high school, being the lone member of the class of 1912. She attended Middle Tennessee State University and was graduated from Peabody College with majors in home economics, chemistry, and history. She did graduate work also at Peabody and later took special work at Columbia University. She spent 29 years in her chosen field of home

Miss Trentham now makes her home in Pennine Community near Spring City, where she lives with her sister, Jean, in the Trentham family home built in 1882.

ADMISSIONS COUNSELOR TRAVELS EXTENSIVELY

These past few months of actual field work by Walter Seera, who has been serving since September as a full-time Admissions Counselor in student recruitment for Bryan, have shown gratifying results. The present increase of 25 per cent over a year ago in applications received in Bryan's Admission Office is due, in part, to the involvement of students, alumni, faculty, trustees, parents and friends in opening doors for the Admissions Counselor on the road to tell the Bryan story.

In order to reach the enrollment anticipation of 500 or more students for the fall of 1972 and to create new interests for the future, Mr. Seera has already traveled in many parts of the East making contacts with alumni, prospects, and parents. Presentations have been made from Michigan to Florida in private and public schools, youth rallies, Sunday schools and Sunday school conventions, churches, alumni meetings, and Bible schools, as well as through more individualized contacts in home visitations and telephone calls.

Future Schedule

Future plans include visits through Alabama into Florida in early March followed by the Washington D.C. area, Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey. As new opportunities and invitations come, they will be coordinated into travel schedules as quickly as possible.

Bryan's summer student recruitment program is being expanded to include one or two-day stops by Mr. Seera in Christian youth camps. In a camp atmosphere young people welcome the opportunity to saunter into a lodgehouse to see the Bryan display and to browse through the college yearbook, literature, and catalog. The continuous slide presentation of Bryan campus life fascinates these high-schoolers and draws many interesting questions and comments that frequently lead into a serious discussion of their future plans.

Reader Participation

Readers of this column are invited to assist in this special summer program of recruitment for Bryan by sending, as soon as possible, the names and locations of camps for high-schoolers in addition to names of their directors. Address this information to the Director of Admissions, Bryan College, Dayton, Tennessee 37321.

ON CAMPUS

Bible Conference Reports

Joyce Turner, Senior Wheaton, Maryland

Sure the Christian Life Conference meant long, seat-straining hours on hard cement, but more significantly it meant contact with men and women who are excited about what God is doing around the world. It meant understanding and catching some of that excitement. It meant taking a more honest look at myself and my own commitment to my Savior. It meant a deeper awareness of the privilege it is to have been chosen by God to serve Him in Nepal, or Chad, or France, or anywhere.

Ed Quigley, Freshman Claymont, Delaware

The Spiritual Life Conference, held at the beginning of the second semester here at Bryan, was a real challenge to me. Since I am accepted as a Bryan College Summer Missions Project student, I was interested to hear what the speakers had to say. I was also able to meet Mr. David Zehr, the representative from Greater Europe Missions with whom I will be traveling this summer.

After each nightly meeting, there were discussions in the dining room which I felt were really times of blessing to me. The missionaries answered questions asked by students, gave informal testimonies, and the students themselves gave testimonies. There was one I'll never

The Madrigal Singers participated in the musical program for the conference as part of their busy spring schedule of appearances in churches and schools.

Faculty and Staff Honored

At a November honor's chapel, a number of faculty and staff members were recognized for terms of service completed recently in multiples of five years. forget. A fellow student, whom I admire a lot, gave Job 19:25, 26 as his life verses. This is God's promise to everyone concerning the fact that we will see Him face to face. No matter what happens to us, we will stand before our Redeemer. This really challenged me to be sold out for Jesus Christ now. Being saved is good, but if you're not spreading God's Kingdom then you're wasting time.

Annuities— Eternal Investment and Present Security

I'm often asked, "What denomination or group supports Bryan College?" Most of the people who ask are surprised to learn that Bryan is an independent work with no single denomination, foundation or group supporting it. The next question is always, "Who then does support Bryan?" The answer to that question is the source of much thanksgiving to the Lord.

Christian people who are sold on developing conservative evangelical leadership have rallied behind the school to help financially. Hundreds of these dedicated individuals donate and invest in our work each year. Their support helps us keep a college where the motto is CHRIST ABOVE ALL. It is for these friends that we write this column, The Stewardship Planner. These people are looking for the best possible way to invest their money in the Lord's work. Each issue we endeavor to share proven methods with you.

One of the most used plans for investing in Christian and charitable institutions is the gift annuity. A gift annuity is an irrevocable agreement by which an institution, in appreciation of a gift for its work, promises to pay a fixed sum of money each year throughout a donor's life. Often these agreements are set up to pay to two individuals as long as either lives.

When an annuity is established, part of the amount goes to the school as a gift and the rest is invested to assure the donor's annuity benefit. The part which is a gift is deductible from income tax in the year the gift annuity is purchased. A large part of the income received by an annuitant annually (quarterly if desired) is non-taxable as it is considered a return of the principal.

A Bryan annuity agreement may be established for as little as $100. There is no limit to the amount that may be invested. Cash, stocks, bonds, real estate, or other property may be used to purchase an annuity. When stocks or appreciated property are invested, there is another special tax advantage. Most if not all of the capital gains tax is also avoided. Many people find this a most profitable way to reinvest low yield stocks that have appreciated greatly.

This information bulletin is published quarterly as an addendum to the NEWSLETTE to provide friends of Bryan College with information that will assist them in their Christian stewardship.

A man, age 70, with $10,000 worth of stock which pays 2% annually, earns $200 per year, which is taxable income. If he bought this stock for $3,000 ten years ago, the capital gains tax would be formidable should he sell it. On the other hand, this same man could give this block of stock to Bryan in exchange for a $10,000 annuity. The annuity would pay him 6.823% interest or $682.30 per year. $559.50 of which would be non-taxable income, and only $122.80 would be taxable. Should this retirement income be low enough, this would be exempt from tax. This appreciated stock would avoid a large part if not all of the capital gains tax. In addition he would be able to deduct $3,510.00 from his income tax the year of the gift with a five-year carryover. The double tax advantage along with the favorable tax treatment of the income makes this method of annuity purchase most attractive. The same principle holds true with appreciated real estate or other property.

This year Bryan College's student body has grown from 408 to 455. This 10% increase added to last year's 18% increase has raised the financial burden considerably here. While it costs us about $2,500 per year to educate a student, the student pays only $2,050. This added $450 per student must come from interested people. We need many new annuitants to join with us in training Christian leaders for this critical day. To learn how you can become a partner with us in this vital ministry, send in the coupon below.

YOU CAN HAVE YOUR CAKE AND EAT IT TOO.

GIVE YOUR MONEY AWAY AND STILL RECEIVE A GUARANTEED LIFE INCOME!

If you would like to give to Christian education but cannot because of the limitation of funds and the uncertainty of the future, there is a way to fulfill your desire without sacrificing your peace of mind. Survivorship benefit may be included.

INVEST IN A BRYAN COLLEGE GIFT ANNUITY.

A gift annuity provides an immediate gift to the College and a guaranteed income to you for the rest of your life. You can start with as little as $100 or convert a large part of your estate to a lifetime annuity.

An immediate tax deduction is allowed for the gift portion of the annuity, the annual payments are largely tax-free, and a special tax saving may be realized through the purchase of a gift annuity with appreciated property.

Missions in Action Sponsors Six Summer Missionaries

These students were introduced at the Christian Life conference in January and pledges were secured from the Bryan family toward the $6,000 needed for their travel and maintenance expenses.

As you read the following information about these young people and their own desires in volunteering for summer service, please pray for the direction of the Holy Spirit as they go and tell of Christ.

Kim Alt, a sophomore math major from Johnstown, Pa., plans to go with Greater Europe Mission to work in a French Bible school. Hoping to train as a Wycliffe translator after her years at Bryan, Kim is looking to this summer as a chance to experience the missionary joys and hardships.

Also volunteering to go to France is Ed Quigley, a sophomore biology major from Claymont, Delaware. As a construction worker for a camp, Ed hopes to gain "experience as a missionary, experience in practical Christianity, and experience in watching Jesus Christ transform many people by His Holy Spirit." About his reasons for missionary interest, Ed says, "I have had many experiences with missionaries at my home. We always house them during our Church Conferences. Just to watch them makes me hunger for a taste of the mission field."

Sherry Lee Porter has spent two summers working with missionaries in Mexico and has applied to go with SMP to Mexico again this summer. Sherry is a sophomore elementary education major from Decatur, Alabama. When asked what she hopes to gain from the summer, Sherry replied: "I expect to gain a bigger heart for other people, to consider them before myself, and I hope to gain the satisfaction that I have shared my love for Christ with someone else."

Above are two students, Mark Shaver and Paul Ryder, shown as they deliver hot meals to elderly people in Dayton. The Bryanites represent FISH, in a community service as they cooperate with the federal program to serve hot meals to the aged on welfare. Other students are involved as "Big brothers and sisters" to children from Dayton whom they may encourage with frequent contacts.

The FISH program, which is new at Bryan this year, has answered numerous types of emergency calls for baby sitting, painting, cleaning, transportation and other special tasks.

Bruce Pauley, a junior elementary education major and Bible school graduate from Tuscola, Michigan, also plans to return to a field in which he has had some experience and recognizes a great challenge—the Mormons in Salt Lake City, Utah. Bruce wants to share the reality of Christ with this rapidly growing cult.

Joyce Dresdow spent her Christmas vacation in Mexico with Operation Mobilization selling and distributing Christian literature from door to door. For the summer she is interested in working with an Inter-Varsity camp in Guatemala for one month, then with one of the missions there for the remainder of the summer. A sophomore Christian Education major from West Chicago, Illinois, Joyce regards this privilege of serving God as the most meaningful way in which she can spend her vacation time.

The youngest member volunteering her missionary abilities is Gwynn Henry, a freshman from Barnesville, Ga. With past counselling experience at Triple-R Ranch in Chesapeake, Va., Gwynn wants to reach children for Christ, and so has applied to work in camps for underprivileged city children in New York. She hopes that "it might encourage more people to support and pray for missions if they see that young people are getting directly involved."

BARTLETT LEADS TOUR

Bryan's European Study tour is scheduled from June 19 through July 10 for a twenty-two day tour with visits to England, Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and France offering college credit in the area of fine arts. Dr. John B. Bartlett, Bryan's academic dean and an experienced European traveler who has guided such tours for the past five summers, will serve as director and lecturer.

Highlights of this summer's literary tour will be visits to Shakespeare's home in Stratford-on-Avon, the Poets' Corner in Westminster Abbey, the Dickens' and Keats' homes in London, the Browning home and Dante home in Florence, and the Moliere theater at the Louvre in Paris.

With its wealth of opportunity to view European architecture, painting, and sculpture, this summer's first-class tour has been developed with special consideration for alumni and friends who may wish to share this experience just as tourists in a Christian party.

Last year's tour members have stated: "The 1971 European summer tour was an A-1 experience in every way for the four members of our family who were privileged to go . . . Linda and I are finding periodicals and television programs that have special meaning now . . . this summer has indeed been the highlight of my life . . . on the tour we saw education come alive . . . it is great to have Rome, Paris, and the Swiss Alps become a real part of our lives . . . the tour was well planned and worry free. Dr. Bartlett, as the tour director, was most efficient and pleasant."

Complete tour information is available by directing inquiries to Dr. John B. Bartlett, Academic Dean, Bryan College.

WOLFE TAKES TRACK HONORS

David Wolfe, a junior of Sheldon, Iowa, gained honors with a first and second place at the indoor track meet sponsored by the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference in February on the University of Tennessee campus in Knoxville.

His first place finish came in the 1000-yard run in a time of 2:22.3. This race was run just 20 minutes after the mile event in which he placed second in a time of 4:37.5, two seconds behind the winner.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN COLLEGE

Volume XXXVIII April-May-June 1972 Number 4

New Teachers Strengthen Three Academic Divisions

Three new faculty members have been contracted for next fall to strengthen the business, speech, and Christian Education departments at Bryan.

For the rapidly growing business department, Dr. Robert P. Jenkins is coming from Centreville, Virginia, to serve as professor of business. Having been an economist for the Federal Economic Research Service since 1966, Dr. Jenkins will teach courses in economics, banking, and the managerial sciences. He received his B.S. from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, his M.S. from Ohio State University, and his Ph.D. from Virginia Polytechnic, where he served part-time as staff member. Dr. Jenkins plans to move to Dayton in July with his wife and five children.

Miss Rachel J. Ross, originally of Pella, Iowa, will be assistant professor of speech. She received her B.S. from Bob Jones University in 1955 and her M.A. from Northwestern University in 1961, and since that time has held the position of instructor in speech at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. Her musical talents in singing as well as piano and organ playing will be appreciated at Bryan along with her experience in dramatics.

ROBERT E. SHEDDAN

12, at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas, will bring a new doctorate to the division of Biblical Studies and Philosophy, with a specialty in Christian Education. He received his B.A. from Campbell College and his M.R.E. from Southwestern. His appointment at Bryan is with the rank of associate professor of Christian Education. Dr. and Mrs. Richardson and their two children will move to Dayton this summer.

DR. BARTLETT PROMOTED

Dr. John B. Bartlett, dean of the faculty, was elected executive vice president of the college at the February meeting of the board of trustees. He will continue as dean of the faculty and part-time teacher of speech. In the new executive position, he will share in the responsibility of the president's office, performing the functions of the president in his absence and such other duties as may be delegated to him by the president.

STAFF MEMBER CALLED HOME

"Whatever you do, do your work heartily, as for the Lord rather than for men, knowing that from the Lord you will receive the reward of the inheritance. It is the Lord Christ whom you serve." (Colossians 3:23-24)

Robert Sheddan has always been a stalwart example among the Bryan family that all things can be done willingly, cheerfully, and to the glory of God. Now a heart attack has taken him to be with the Lord. Praise should be given to God for the testimony of faithfulness and service he lived.

Mr. Sheddan asked that no eulogy for him be given at his memorial services, and we will not violate the spirit of that request here. As Director of Administrative Services and in earlier positions Mr. Sheddan served the college for eight years until his death on April 12. He was such an integral part of Bryan's daily operations, in continual contact with faculty, administrators, and students alike, and his death was so unexpected, that it will be a long time before our loss will be fully realized and his contribution to Bryan fully appreciated.

Mr. Sheddan was a member of the First United Methodist Church of Dayton and sang with the choir for several years. He was also a veteran of World War II. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mayme Sheddan, who is dean of counseling services and student aid officer at Bryan; two daughters, Mrs. Barbara Posey, an alumna of 1967, and Miss Beverly Sheddan; and one son, Frank Sheddan, who is a member of the 1972 graduating class at Bryan.

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from now on." "Yes," says the Spirit, "that they may rest from their labors, for their deeds follow with them." (Revelation 14:13).

BRYAN TRUSTEE ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF CBMCI

A Bryan trustee, Albert J. Page, was elected Chairman of the Christian Businessmen's Committee International at its fall meeting in Mobile, Ala. Mr. Page's daughter, Christine, graduated from Bryan College in 1971. With a record of over twenty-five years service with International Business Machines Corporation, Mr. Page is currently manager of administration at the Huntsville, Ala., IBM operation.

An active Christian layman and member of Calvary Bible Church in Huntsville, Mr. Page has been working with CBMC for many years and is presently serving his second three-year term on the Board of Directors. He is also very much involved in community affairs such as the planning commission, the model neighborhood planning committee, the Huntsville Industrial Expansion Committee, and the Administrative Management Society of North Alabama.

Bryan College feels fortunate, indeed, to have such a man as Mr. Page serving on its Board of Trustees.

Fine arts exhibits included a display in "The Little Gallery" by Wayne Hook, art instructor, of the bird and circle constructed of steel and the oil painting in the background.

Bryan Sponsors Fifth Community Festival

For the fifth year Bryan College has sponsored a spring fine arts festival for Rhea County. Many local and student artists shared their paintings, drawings, and sculpture pieces along with floral arrangements for display in merchants' windows in both Dayton and Spring City during the week of April 29-May 7. Simultaneously the campus art show in the Library Reading Room exhibited many creations of students and county artists all week after an official opening and reception held on Sunday, April 30.

Chapel time during the week was devoted to various programs: a new, award-winning film, WHY MAN CREATES; concerts by the Choralaires, directed by Mrs. Ruth Bartlett; the Brass Quartet, led by William Boyd; the College Choir and Madrigals under the direction of Dr. James Greasby; and the presentation of awards by the English department chairman Dr. Richard Cornelius to winners of the Literary Contest.

The Symphonic Band under Mr. Boyd had an unusually versatile program and featured senior music major Mike Van Huisen of Grand Rapids, Mich., at the piano for Gershwin's RHAPSODY IN BLUE on one evening. The Drama Club, newly formed on campus this year by the Student Union, presented three one-act plays: THE SANDBOX, SUPRESSED DESIRES, and THE DARKEST HOUR for two evenings to conclude the week's festivities.

Advisory Committee Launches Drive

The Rhea County Advisory Committee is completing a campaign to raise funds to pay for furnishings in the new women's dormitory, Arnold Hall. To date, $6,000 has been reported against the goal of $10,000. The funds are being used to cover the cost of movable furnishings provided by the college above the contract price which included certain items of built-in furniture. Included in the Advisory Committee project is the handsome lounge furniture already in use.

Members of the committee are as follows:

Ben Purser, chairman
William C. Hilleary, vice chairman
Phillip Hall, secretary-treasurer

John Beard and Martel Gamble, directors

Two guests from the community view some of the paintings displayed in the Reading Room area by both students and local artists during the Festival week. Other displays were in the Dayton and Spring City store windows.

TRACK TEAM WINS UNION INVITATIONAL

In spite of not having a track to practice on, the Bryan track team found a seasonal highlight when they won the annual Union Invitational Track Meet to bring home a total of sixteen trophies.

Leading the Lions this year were four young men—Dave Wolfe, Paul Bishop, Ron Davidson, and Ben Turney—who helped establish the name "Bryan" in track circles in Tennessee, Kentucky, and Georgia.

Wolfe was named the outstanding performer in the UIT by scoring 17 points with three firsts and being on two relay teams. He ran the 880 in 1:57, the mile in 4:27, and the three mile in 15:55. One other time this year he won all three events in a dual meet plus winning the state indoor title in the 1000 yard run.

Bishop took first place trophies in all three throwing events at the UIT to make this the second meet in one week for winning all three events. At press time Bishop's put of 46'3½" was the best throw in the shot put for the whole state of Tennessee.

Davidson showed his great leaping ability by winning every high jump event that he entered. With a record jump of his own height of 6'5", he broke the school record four times this year and also had the best jump in the season's state statistics.

In the long jump and the triple jump, Ben Turney now holds the school record in the triple jump at 41'6" and has a leap of 21' in the long jump.

Other first place winners at UIT include Joel Kocher in the high hurdles and Doug Mains in the 100-yard dash.

Coach Lloyd Matthes '59 is encouraged with the team's record and hopes the prospects for a track are not far away.

BIBLE CONFERENCE FEATURES EVANGELIST, MUSICIAN, BIBLE TEACHER

He is the author of more than 75 gospel songs, hymns, and choruses, and has produced four LP recordings. He will be accompanied by his wife, Adrienne (Kerr) '56, and their five children.

BRYAN COLLEGE ALUMNI NEWS

ALUMNUS BECOMES COLLEGE PRESIDENT

Dr. Lyle Hillegas '56 has been appointed president of Westmont College, as announced on April 29 by the Westmont board of trustees. He is the fifth and youngest president of this sister Christian college in Santa Barbara, Cal. He has been on the faculty at Westmont since 1962, following the completion of his residency for the doctor's degree at Dallas Theological Seminary.

During his first two years at Westmont, Dr. Hillegas wrote a 25-year history of the college. He has held positions in different areas including head resident, dean of men, and chaplain. As associate professor of religious studies he has taught various Bible courses as well as Greek and Christian Education.

A world traveler and European visitor on several occasions, Dr. Hillegas led a Westmont student group on an academic tour of Europe in 1970 and then stayed on in England for a year of sabbatical leave to do post-doctoral studies in contemporary theology at Cambridge University.

GRADUATE PROFESSORS

Jim Westgate '65 is assistant professor teaching group dynamics and homiletics in the Christian Education department of Dallas Theological Seminary.

Dr. Roland Fleck '63 is teaching courses in statistics, measurement research design and child psychology at Rosemead Graduate School of Psychology in California. Prior to his appointment at Rosemead, Dr. Fleck was chairman of the psychology department at Cedarville College in Ohio and also taught part-time at Wright State in Dayton, Ohio. In addition to being a Bryan graduate, he holds the M.Ed. in guidance and counseling and the doctorate in research design and child development from the University of Georgia. Roland and Dorothy (Tewis) x'66 have three children.

NEWS BRIEFS...

Harold and Virginia (Smiley) '50 Sells are sharing in the responsibility of teaching about 200 missionary children in the Wycliffe school at Yarinacocha base in Peru. Five members of the Wycliffe family were among those killed on Dec. 24 when a Peruvian airliner went down in a storm. Harold was on the plane that rescued the one girl survivor from the 92 passengers. Harold and Virginia had reservations on that plane but decided to stay a few more days in Lima; so they are especially conscious of God's purpose in sparing their lives for continued service here.

John '54 and Joyce (Johnson) '54 Rathbun and children plan to return to the States for furlough from Korea in mid-June.

Nadine Schick '54 flew back to Africa on Jan. 25 to resume work in Zaire (formerly Congo) as a Bible school teacher. She is taking up the study of the Swahili language with courses at the Kenya Language School in Nairobi, Kenya, until May 1.

Paul '54 and Mary (Wiggins) x'56 Marsteller with their two sons, Philip and Mark, are on furlough from Belem, Brazil, with plans to return in January 1973. Paul will be helping with the flight orientation program for new pilots at the Wycliffe Jungle Aviation and Radio Service headquarters in North Carolina during the fall months. The summer is being spent in Arizona and California.

Glenn '58 and Dorothy (Bean) '54 Graham with their four children returned in November to their tribal work in an Amanap village of New Guinea. On the last lap of their journey in a twin-engine Aztec flown by a Wycliffe pilot who became aware of mechanical difficulties with the plane's nose wheel needed for landing, a miraculous "Finger of God" was applied just at the necessary moment of landing to lock the landing gear into place. Later investigations by mechanics showed that the gear could not be locked because it was broken! God had intervened!

Dan x'63 and Shelby (Skinner) '61 Harrison have returned to their school responsibilities in the Summer Institute of Linguistics base in Ukarumpa, New Guinea.

Janet Claycomb '64, after discontinuing her work in Korea, has been appointed to serve in Nairobi, Kenya, East Africa, with the Grace Independent Baptist Mission. Her work will include Sunday school teaching, junior church, youth work, camps, teaching Bible in public schools, women's work, and literature distribution. Presently she is working at a nursing home while residing in Doylestown, Pa.

Ron '64 and Diane (Peck) x'64 Morren have returned to the States after completing Wycliffe Jungle Camp. With their two children, they lived in Miami with Diane's parents from Easter until May 1 when they joined Ron's family in Kalamazoo, Mich.

John Eastman '66 recently accepted the position of Assistant Pastor at the Christian Tabernacle in Dayton, Ohio, serving with Pastor Wayne W. Boyer.

John '67 and Phyllis (Horton) '69 Stone plan to be in Sweden for eight weeks this summer where John will be teaching two courses. He is completing his third year at Dallas Theological Seminary.

Ken Hurley '68 received the master of education degree in mathematics from the University of Tennessee at Knoxville in August 1971. He was assisted by a National Science Foundation Grant. For the past five years he has been teaching algebra and geometry at Rhea Central high school.

Denzil Mauk '69 and Bill Slocum '69 are on the Grace Theological Seminary list to receive the Master of Divinity degree on May 24. Bill plans to continue his seminary work in theology and was voted by fellow students as best preacher of his division of senior homiletics.

CHECK LIST FOR YOUR ESTATE —

by Morvin Keener

The Stewardship Planner has been endeavoring to provide you with data that will help you get the most from your assets and enable you to be a more effective Christian steward. By properly planning your estate you can protect your family and your home and financial assets from becoming entangled, threatened, and burdened unnecessarily. The key item in this planning is a valid up-to-date will.

This issue will give you a check-up quiz to help you be sure that you are on the right track. Read each question and check the square if your answer is yes.

- Do you have a will?
- Has it been reviewed recently?
- Are provisions made for every possession in your will?
- Do both husband and wife have wills?
- Do the wills provide for each spouse to leave property to the other outright?
- Do the wills contain trusts designed to escape estate tax in the second estate?
- If you have set up any inter vivos (living) trusts, do they dovetail with the other parts of your estate plans?
- Do you have any calculations of the estate tax impact of your will as of the present time?
- Do you have any calculations of current liquidating requirements?
- Does your spouse know where your original will is located?
- Does your life insurance dovetail with the other parts of your estate plan?
- If your wife owns the life insurance on your life, has she paid the premium from her separate funds?
- Does the will provide for the continuation of your business interests?
- If you are a partner in business, have you made plans for the orderly liquidation of your partnership interests?
- If you are a stockholder in a closed corporation, have you entered into any buy-and-sell agreements of your stock?
- Have you been following a program of lifetime giving?
- Have you taken Social Security benefits into account in considering your family's financial requirements after your death?
- Have you made any large gifts lately? If so, have you established proof that these gifts were not made in contemplation of death?
- Have all invalid and revoked wills been destroyed?
- Has your will been updated to comply with the latest changes in the law?
- Has your family remained the same since you drew your will?
- Has your financial status remained the same since you drew your will?
- Do you still live in the same state where you lived when your will was drawn?
- Have you remembered the Lord's work in your will?

If you can answer all of the above "yes," then your will should be in good condition. One "no" means that you should review your will right away and bring it up-to-date, making all necessary changes for the welfare of your beneficiaries.

For additional help with your will, check and return the coupon below.

ENROLLMENT INCREASE HIGHLIGHTS 1972-73 OPENING

REGISTRATION REPORT

Enrollment for the fall term on September 1 reached 491, according to registration figures released by L. Donald Hill, registrar, representing 457 fulltime students and 34 part-time, and fulltime equivalent enrollment of 469. These registration figures are to be compared to 455 a year ago, 406 fulltime and 49 part-time, and 418 fulltime equivalent. The 1972 enrollment represents a 12% increase in fulltime equivalent and corresponds favorably with the 9% increase in 1971 over 1970. Since Bryan was accredited in 1969, the fulltime equivalent has increased 32%.

FACULTY RETREAT

The new academic year opened on August 23 with a two-day spiritual retreat for faculty and administration at the Watts Bar Lake cabin of Mr. Harry C. Johnson of Athens, Tennessee, a trustee emeritus of the college. Dr. Jay Edward Adams, dean of students and associate professor of practical theology at Westminster Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, served as speaker and consultant in a program which emphasized the ministry of counseling. Homework for the participants included the reading of Dr. Adams' book COMPETENT TO COUNSEL.

Dr. Adams holds the bachelor's degree from Johns Hopkins University, the B.D. from Reformed Episcopal Seminary, the master of sacred theology from Temple University, and the Ph.D. from the University of Missouri. He has been a pastor and a speech teacher and he currently carries on a conference ministry in addition to his seminary responsibilities. He is the author of two books and several pamphlets and has a third book now in preparation.

SPIRITUAL LIFE MEETINGS

The spiritual life meetings held each year in connection with orientation week were led by Dr. Stanley Toussaint, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, Richmond, Va. Dr. Toussaint holds the B.A. degree from Augsburg College and the master and doctor of theology degrees from Dallas Theological Seminary, where he also taught for a time. He was on the faculty at Northwestern College and served as president of Western Bible Institute in Denver. Immediately prior to assuming his present pastorate in 1969, he was pastor of the Irving (Texas) Bible Church. Dr. Toussaint is widely known for his effective Bible teaching conference ministry.

NEW FACULTY AND STAFF APPOINTMENTS

New appointments in addition to the three new faculty members announced in the last NEWSLETTE, are as follows:

Returning alumnus, Kermit Zopfi, dean of students and assistant professor. A student at Bryan two years, Mr. Zopfi received both the B.A. and M.A. at Wheaton College and then returned to teach at Bryan from 1951-55. After a period of fifteen years, mainly in Germany and then for three years as west coast representative for the Greater Europe Mission, he studied and served on the staff at Azusa Pacific College for two years, earning the M.A. in social studies with a major in psychology.

Jerry R. Sawyer, assistant professor of English, holds the B.A. from San Francisco State College, the M.A. from the University of California at Santa Barbara, and is a doctoral candidate at the Washington State University.

John Reeser, assistant professor of health and P.E. and soccer and baseball coach, coming from the coaching staff of the Roberts Wesleyan College in North Chili, N.Y., holds the B.S. from Greenville (Illinois) College and the M.S. from Kansas State Teachers College.

Rev. Charles Robinson, joining the administrative staff as assistant director of public relations, replacing Robert Sheddan, has just completed eighteen years as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Jacksboro, Tennessee. He is the father of two Bryan Alumni. A graduate of the Pennsylvania Bible Institute, Mr. Robinson began his service career as a missionary in

PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

LOOKING AHEAD

The successful completion of the 1971-72 year, even though with an unwanted operating fund deficit, and the optimistic beginnings of the new year should be a cause of satisfaction and thanksgiving for the friends of Bryan College. Last year saw the largest graduating class in history (92), the completion of the new women's dormitory, an increase in endowment fund assets by some $125,000, and, basic to all other factors, a good year in respect to the achievement in the area of its spiritual and academic commitments.

The new year has opened with an enrollment increase and with further improvements in the academic preparation of the faculty. For the first time all academic majors are fully covered with faculty holding the doctorate (40% of the faculty hold the doctorate and some 57% have formal academic preparation equal to a year or more beyond the master's degree, both of these categories being related to Southern Association standards).

Major expectations and goals for the new college year include the following:

1. The completing, finally, of the unfinished areas of the main building, including the new student union on the ground floor and a new faculty office complex, and administrative offices on the main floor. These projects, already approved by the board of trustees, will be financed in part by the sale of the remainder of the Summers Estate property in Chattanooga. Additional funds, however, will have to be raised.
2. Completion of the institutional self-study, in progress all last year, in preparation for the evaluation committee visit of April 1-4 from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools as a part of the reaccreditation process.
3. Raising of a minimum of some $200,000 in unrestricted gifts for the operating fund to prevent recurrence of a current funds deficit and to offset any negative effect of the 1971-72 deficit and to accomplish this goal by April 1, the date of the evaluation committee visit. A President's Club has been established to give recognition to all donors who contribute a minimum of $500 in unrestricted funds during the academic year. Memberships are solicited! To date eight have joined the Club with $13,000 in gifts or pledges.
4. Launching the capital funds campaign of $500,000 for the Rudd Memorial Chapel, plans for which are nearing completion. It is hoped that commitments for the chapel can be secured within a year's time and construction begun by late 1973.
5. Basic to all of these goals is sound educational and spiritual service to the students. A few months ago I saw in one of the widely read letter columns the letter of a woman who had been on a tour of colleges and universities who said that everywhere she had found beautiful campuses and handsome buildings but "crummy students." I was sorry her letter did not carry a name and address so that I could invite her to Bryan to see our students.

If we fail with our students, all the building improvements, accreditation, or fund raising will be in vain. We thank God that the commitment of faculty, administration, and students is still to the original Christian purpose of the college (and above all to a living person, Jesus Christ) and to a continuing improvement in our program of educational and personal services to students. If you want an investment in money, prayer, and time that is yielding excellent returns regularly and has good growth potential, Bryan is the college for you.

Three Trustees Chosen for Board

Three new trustees were elected at the commencement meeting of the board of trustees, bringing to twenty-seven the number now serving out of a possible full complement of thirty authorized by the college charter. Elected were Mrs. Cliff Barrows, Greenville, S. C., wife of Billy Graham Evangelistic Association song-leader, Cliff Barrows; W. C. Hilleary, vice president of Southern Silk Mills, Spring City, Tennessee; and Ben S. Purser, president of Dayton Bank and Trust Company. Mrs. Barrows will serve on the student affairs committee, Mr. Hilleary on buildings and grounds, and Mr. Purser on public relations and development. The Bryan board will hold its fall meeting on October 2.

SUMMERS GYMNASIUM DEDICATED IN AUGUST

In ceremonies on August 27, the Summers Gymnasium was dedicated with the unveiling of a plaque in memory of the late James Ernest Summers, benefactor of Bryan College who left an estate of $700,000 for the largest gift ever contributed by one donor to the College. In addition to building the gym, this gift also provided the improved academic facilities on the third floor of the main building and other campus improvements.

CAMPUS IMPROVEMENT

Summer physical improvements included completion of the parking lot at the gymnasium, surfacing of three other campus parking areas, a new roof and the painting inside and out of House 3 used as a men's overflow dormitory, installation of cabinets, stoves, and refrigerators in Cedar Hill to convert five more apartments to married students' use, and the beginning of a renovation project in newly acquired Bryan Village. (Formerly known as Arnold Village, because it was developed by Mrs. E. B. Arnold, the name of this married students' housing complex has been changed to prevent confusion with the newly named Arnold Hall.)

NEW PLAQUE IDENTIFIES ARNOLD HALL

Shown in the accompanying picture is Mrs. E. B. Arnold, Dayton merchant and trustee emeritus, observing the new plaque in front of Arnold Hall, Bryan's newest dormitory, which was named for her and her late husband. Official announcement of the naming of the building by action of the board of trustees was made at the May 22 graduation, when Mrs. Arnold was presented to the commencement convocation and the dedicatory inscription of the plaque was read. Both Mr. and Mrs. Arnold were among the founders of the College and rendered distinguished service in succession as trustees, including service as secretary to the board by both of them.

SUMMER ECHOES

SUMMER SCHOOL

A summer school registration of 79 represented three kinds of programs: (1) on-campus classes for 41 students with 10 faculty and 17 courses; (2) the European tour which included 11 students in a fine arts course with Dr. John B. Bartlett as instructor; and (3) the Chattanooga phase of the continuing education program with 27 registrants in three courses with three faculty.

Of the 79 summer registrations 58 were first-time registrants for the 1971-72 academic year, bringing the annual headcount enrollment to 623, a new high for the annual enrollment (counting each registrant, whether fulltime or part-time, once only in the statistics for the full academic year of two semesters and the summer). Summer school is a separate section in the budget and is not included in the academic statistics for the regular year in computing fulltime equivalent enrollment, which is the more significant index of enrollment growth. Bryan's full-time equivalent (FTE) for the two semesters of the academic year was 413 out of a headcount registration of 565.

Of new significance this year was the growth in part-time registration because of an increased emphasis in continuing education, including participation in the Chattanooga program mentioned already. Of the 175 part-time registrants during the two semesters of the regular academic year, 53 were in the Chattanooga program, 19 in the Boca Raton extension Bible class, and the remainder on campus. In the Chattanooga program Bryan was a cooperating institution with the Chattanooga City school system in its Community Action Agency program operated by that system under a federal grant for the disadvantaged. The Bryan registration in that program for both the second semester and summer totaled 80. L. Donald Hill, registrar, is director of the continuing education program.

BIBLE CONFERENCE

The summer Bible Conference attracted more than 80 resident guests in addition to a similar number of area visitors for the week-long session of inspirational messages, music, and outings. The wholesome Christian fellowship among the guests as well as the challenging messages by Dr. John Reed and evangelist Ken Campbell, and music by Jim Reese, plus missionary testimonies, provided the setting for an outstanding conference program.

MUSICAL MESSENGERS

Two teams of Musical Messengers traveling in the Northeast and Midwest were given excellent ratings as to their music, testimonies, appearance, and evidence of Christian character.

A director of Christian Education in Maryland commented, "I noticed a real unity of teamwork among the members and their cooperative spirit toward their leader. Their witness before us was of great credit to our Lord and a good advertisement for Bryan College. They have given me a very good impression of the college." Concerning the second team, "We have had several groups of young people from other colleges in our church, but none that could even compare with the (Bryan) Mixed quartet. We found the young people exceptional in all areas. The one thing that impressed many of us was their knowledge of the Word both in the services and in the sessions that followed."

The team leaders, Walter Seera, admissions counsellor, and Jim Fitzgerald, junior student and head resident of Cedar Hill, recognized real dedication on the part of the student musicians and a

The students themselves became more aware of the need for evangelism and challenge for Christian living and rejoiced in the numerous opportunities they had during the summer to confront other young people with the claims of Christ.

FUTURE MUSICAL MINISTRIES

The 40-voice College Choir and Madrigals plan a spring tour in Georgia and Florida during vacation, March 2-12, 1973.

Requests for the choir during this period or for smaller Messenger teams during December 27-January 8 of the Christmas vacation period, the spring vacation dates in March, or the summer period of June through August should be addressed to the Public Relations Office, Bryan College. Early requests will be given preference as far as is possible within the limitations of the total tour schedules.

STEWARDSHIP PLANNER

by Marvin Keener

POOLED INCOME FUND

One of the most exciting advances contained in the 1969 Tax Reform Act was the Pooled Income Fund. Under the new Law many small life income donations can be pooled together and managed as one large trust.

The cost of administering these funds is very low because they are managed as one unit instead of several. The fund has a mutual benefit to all those who have life income contracts in them.

Bryan College has now started a Pooled Income Plan and we invite our friends to take advantage of this service.

The Pooled Income Plan may be used when a donor makes an irrevocable gift to Bryan College of assets such as cash, stocks, bonds, real estate or other marketable property having a value of $500 or more. These assets are placed in a Pooled Income Plan with similar gifts from others, and the investment of this Plan is supervised by the College with the guidance of private investment counsel employed by the College. The donor makes the gift subject to a life income interest, and the College agrees to pay income to the donor quarterly, based upon the earnings of the Plan. The interest of the donor in the Pooled Income Plan is adjusted quarterly to reflect changes in market value.

Assets which have appreciated in value since their acquisition may be given into the Plan and under present law no capital gains tax is assessed on such a gift.

A single life Pooled Income Plan may be obtained to provide income benefits for one person.

A survivorship Pooled Income Plan may be obtained if the donor desires to provide income benefits for a loved one in addition to himself.

The principal amount invested in the Plan remains with the College and at the death of the donor it is used to further Bryan's distinctive program as a Christian liberal arts college.

A large percentage of each gift under this type of an agreement is deductible in the year of the gift as a charitable deduction on the donor's federal income tax return. Should a gift be more than the allowable deduction for the year, it can be carried over up to five additional years.

ADVANTAGES OF A LIFE INCOME AGREEMENT

- Quarterly income payments are made throughout the donor's life.

- A loved one may be included as a survivor in a Life Income Agreement and continue to receive all income throughout his/her life should he/she survive the donor.

- No capital gains tax is assessed on appreciated asset which are given subject to a life income interest.

- The Pooled Income Fund may provide security not normally enjoyed by an individual.

- The donor is relieved of costs of management as well as problems and worries of the reinvestment of assets.

- The assets invested in a Pooled Income Plan are removed from the donor's estate and are not subject to probate costs. In a survivorship agreement the assets may be subject to estate tax. The single life plan avoids estate tax.

- The principal amount remain with Bryan College at the death of the donor. It provides eternal dividends by supporting the training of young people for Christian leadership, leaders who put "Christ above all."

If you own highly appreciated property or stocks that yield low returns, this Plan would be especially valuable to you. Send in the coupon below if you are interested in learning more about this exciting new plan.

Illustrating one facet of the deferred giving program of the college is the erection of a new house on Faculty Circle by Mr. and Mrs. Mercer Clementson of Chattanooga as a gift to the college. The Clementsons will have life tenancy in this home being built according to their own desires and plans.

At left above, at the ground breaking ceremonies early in August, the Clementsons are shown at the right assisted by President T. C. Mercer, center, contractor Harvie Lewis, standing; and shoveling at left, is Russell V. Stansbury, business manager.

At right is shown construction progress by August 31 as the Clementsons keep an oversight on the erection of the two-bedroom house which also has a living-dining-kitchen complex, plus a carport for both car and camper.

HOMECOMING FEATURES CHAPEL SPIRE RAISING

The college motto, "Christ Above All," was given a new mode of expression at Bryan this fall with the erection of the 75-foot free-standing steeple with a four-armed cross at the tip and four larger crosses at the base. The raising of the new spire, which was a special feature of Homecoming weekend, is designed to call attention to the future location of the Rudd Memorial Chapel and to be a permanent symbol identifying Bryan in accepting the sacrificial death of Christ as the central theme of Scripture.

At the erection ceremony shared by faculty, students, and alumni, the group sang "To God Be the Glory," heard the reading of portions from Ezra by Dr. Jensen, listened to Dr. Mercer's comments about the significance of the event as related to the Chapel construction, and shared in the dedication prayer by Alumni president Charles Westgate.

The promotion for the Rudd Chapel fund has been conducted by the Alumni Association thus far among its own members with a stated goal of $100,000 toward the expected need of $500,000 for the total project. To date over $57,000 has been pledged by alumni members with $24,000 already contributed in cash.

Plans now under way to promote the securing of funds for the chapel are designed to reach a level of commitments and cash gifts which will enable construction to be initiated next year, hopefully at Homecoming time.

The design for the new steeple was conceived and drawn by Wayne Hook, Bryan's art instructor. It was constructed by Campbellsville Industries from acrylic pre-finished aluminum and transported as a unit by truck from Campbellsville, Ky., to the campus site. The installation on a masonry base was made under the supervision of Equitable Church Builders, the Nashville architectural firm which has been employed to handle the plans for the new chapel.

Enrollment Grows 48% Since Accreditation

Seeking a college education where Christ is honored and the Bible is respected as the inspired Word of God, students have enrolled at Bryan this fall from 34 states and 12 foreign countries, representing also more than 40 different denominations.

The total registration including part-time students has risen to 534, for an increase of 12.5 per cent over last fall. Another significant statistic shows a 48 per cent increase in enrollment in the past three years since accreditation.

Tennessee continues to take a long lead with 159 students, or nearly a third of the registration. Approximately 100 of these claim Rhea county as their residence, which is a good indicator of the strong community-college relationship.

Factors which have strengthened the total enrollment include evening courses designed to serve local needs and a public service careers program in Chattanooga where Bryan faculty offer such courses as sociology, psychology, and communications improvement for minority-group adults under the Chattanooga Community Action Agency.

Second in state representation is Florida with 47. Succeeding states in order are Georgia, 32; Ohio, 26; Illinois, North Carolina, and Virginia each with 23; Michigan, 22; Pennsylvania, 21; others with 10 or more are Maryland, Kentucky, West Virginia, New Jersey, and New York. Other distant states include Minnesota 7, Arizona and California with 6 each.

The foreign country representation includes citizens from Canada, Bahamas, and Vietnam and other foreign residents whose parents are missionaries or professional people in Brazil, Colombia, Governor Winfield Dunn, center, is shown at the main building as he addressed students who had gathered to greet him on Sept. 11, when he attended a luncheon at the college held in connection with ground breaking ceremonies for La-Z-Boy Chair Co., Dayton's newest industry.

The denominational representation continues to indicate a strong pre-dominance (some 250) of various Baptist groups and more than 100 students from independent churches without denominational affiliation. Presbyterians and Methodists have significant identity among Bryan students with some 16 other denominations being included.

TRUSTEES ESTABLISH ENROLLMENT OPTIMUM

The steady upward trend in enrollment growth encouraged the trustees to examine realistically the desirable rate of growth and the maximum size for the "small college" when they met in October.

The trustees agreed upon an optimum enrollment of 700 to 800 full-time equivalent for purposes of long-range planning. This will allow for a resident dormitory enrollment of approximately 650 and an overall enrollment including part-time students of 800 to 900.

After conferring with college administrators the trustees felt that fixing the limits on future growth would enable the utilization of existing physical facilities to the fullest extent and would provide operation under existing and foreseeable fund-raising potential. Expansion of facilities would necessarily include three new dormitories, a student union building, and the proposed new chapel which is already on the architect's drawing board. The decision included plans for beginning negotiations immediately for the construction of the fourth campus dormitory.

The decision to limit future enrollment takes into account the current decrease in the national birth-rate which projects an end by 1980 to the spiraling school enrollments which have prevailed nation-wide since World War II and are already evident in many small private colleges. It is also consistent with the desire of Bryan College to continue to provide a better quality of education to all of its students rather than to major on expansion of campus facilities.

Other actions at the recent trustees' meeting included the re-election of Dr. J. Wesley McKinney, Memphis ophthalmologist, to his fourth consecutive term as chairman of the Board of Trustees. He has been a Bryan trustee since 1950. Other continuing trustee officers are Rev. Mark Senter, Bible teacher of Greenville, S. C., vice president; and Mr. Edward J. Robeson III, business executive of Chester, S. C., secretary.

TRUSTEE AUTOGRAPHS NEW PUBLICATION

Dr. Ruth Huston, a trustee of Bryan College since 1959, presented the first copies of her new book, ACTING LIKE CHRISTIANS, to fellow board members at the October meeting.

Faculty and staff members also received personally autographed copies at a coffee hour later in the week. The 177-page volume has been published and copyrighted by Bryan College and will be available through the College Book Store.

Miss Huston

Miss Huston's family has for five generations been prominent in the Lukens Steel Company, Coatesville, Pa., of which she is a stockholder. Most of her life has been spent in Christian work in Knott County, Ky. Her benevolence and long, faithful service was recognized by Pikeville College, Pikeville, Ky., which conferred upon her the honorary degree of doctor of humanities. She retains a summer residence at Emmalena, Ky., and spends the remaining months in Winter Park, Florida.

The reasons for writing this book are explained by Miss Huston in her introduction. "Because I have been puzzled, disturbed, and often misled by the behavior of some people who called themselves 'Christians,' I decided to look at my New Testament to see how I, a Christian, should act during the rest of my days here on earth. This book is hopefully the answer to those who, like myself, want to be genuine Christians by God's standards."

In developing her theme she describes how Christians should act toward the Bible, toward God, toward themselves, others, money, circumstances, pleasure, opposition, and the future.

Dr. Huston is also the author of GOD'S TIMING IN THE KENTUCKY MOUNTAINS, an account of her earlier experiences in mountain mission work.

IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. Loren G. Jones, 87, Greenville, S. C., October 16, 1972, longtime friend and supporter of Bryan College. She and her late husband, who died in 1960, were widely known to the American evangelical constituency because of their musical ministry (she as pianist and he as song leader) from Billy Sunday on. Dr. and Mrs. Jones conducted the music for the 1958 fall Bible conference at Bryan.

GROUND FLOOR RENEWED FOR STUDENT CENTER

by Kermit Zopfi
Dean of Students

"Where can the students go to relax and have fun during their free time?" "The COMMONER staff needs a room in which to meet and work." "What rooms can we give to the Student Senate and to the Student Union this year for their meeting places?" "And don't forget Missions in Action and the Christian Service Association—they need places to meet too!" "Where can we set up the ping-pong tables, and how about a TV room?" These are some of the perennial questions that are asked at Bryan College at the beginning of every school year. Each year the problem is solved by finding some "leftover" and "make-shift" space somewhere in the Administration Building for this student activity or for that student body function. The room, perhaps a storage room in the old, unremodeled part of the building, is usually drab and poorly lighted. The students are reminded, "Of course, this is only temporary. Some day when Bryan gets its new Student Center, then you will have your own room for your particular activity!"

But a Student Center on any college campus usually means another building—and that means a lot of money.

Last year a faculty committee was appointed to investigate the possibility of a student center, perhaps by utilizing more wisely our present facilities. The committee came up with a plan and a sketch: remodel the north end of the ground floor of the Administration Building and make it into a student center. The plan was adopted last spring and the construction and remodeling was begun in October when funds became available for this major renovation project.

On the north end there will be individual and permanent rooms for the COMMONER Staff, for the Student Senate and the Student Union. Missions in Action and the Christian Service Association will have their own offices too. The college bookstore will be located on the south end of the ground floor next to the dining room.

The main feature of the new project will be one large open space between the student offices and bookstore. This open space will have various "areas" designated for specific activities, such as the Lion's Den snack bar, a lounge area, a game area, and a TV area. The whole area can also be used for student meetings and assemblies. The walls and floors will be covered with attractive but durable materials. The furnishings will be modern and conservative. The whole area will be well-lighted.

Even though we are having to shove things together temporarily in other parts of the building in order to vacate the whole north end of the ground floor to facilitate the remodeling, the students are making the shifts and sacrifices without complaints, for there is great anticipation among them for the day when they will be able to enjoy their own Student Center.

The good student morale and spirit of understanding and cooperation on campus this fall is due largely to the very excellent and dedicated work of our student leaders.

Gifts for the King Support Student Aid Program

Our annual Gifts for the King promotion is repeating this year a tradition established more than twenty years ago. You may have received by this time your brochure with the accompanying letter from Dr. Mercer. If you have already responded, we thank you now for your gift. If you have not yet sent your gift, we call your attention once more to the need and thank you for what you are going to do.

NEWSLETTE for December 1948 carried the earliest mention of Gifts for the King which we have found. We quote from it in part:

Almost the entire student body and staff will join in prayer and fellowship for a service in which to present their Gifts for the King.

In addition to the Bryan family of two hundred fifty, over seventeen thousand others are invited to attend. Though it is expected that few of these will be present in person, it is anticipated that many will come "by mail," sending their gifts for the King to be opened at the service in the presence of the entire family.

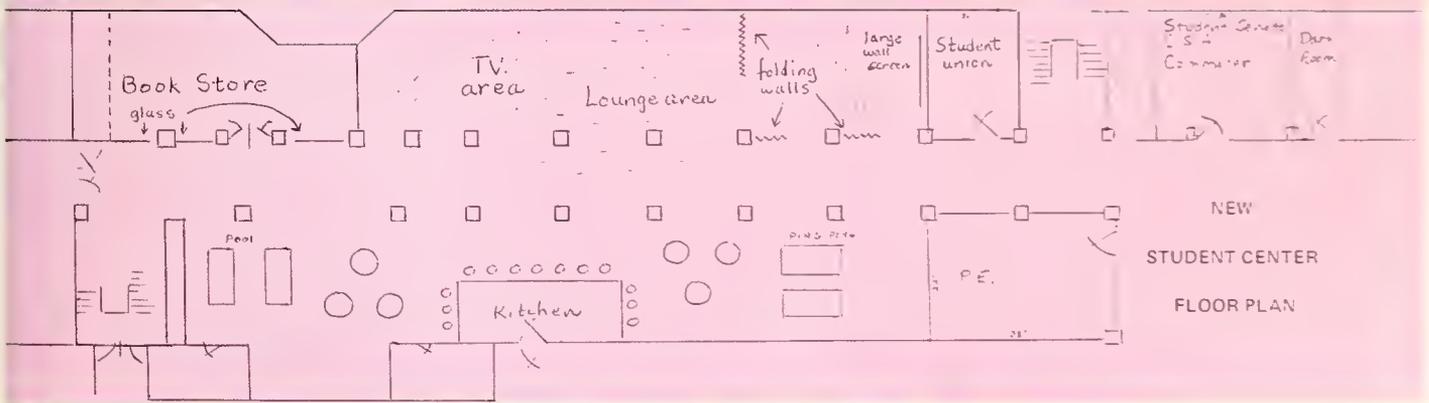

Although a service is no longer held to open the gifts for the King, we hope that hundreds—even thousands—of you will indeed "visit" us this Christmas season by sending your gift for the King. We remind all of our readers that the Gifts for the King presentation is three-fold:

Gold: A gift for the student-aid program

Frankincense: Prayer for Bryan College in all of its many needs

Myrrh: A word of encouragement or testimony

If you cannot visit us in person, you can "visit" us at Bryan nevertheless by sending your three-fold gift for the King. We shall expect to hear from you.

1972-73 Prospects Bright for Bryan's Towering Lions

The outlook for the 1972-73 basketball season appears very favorable. After a losing season last year, his first since coming to Bryan in 1968, Coach Wayne Dixon made an extra effort to find new talent to strengthen the 72-73 team. Top prospects were found in the persons of Rick Burroughs, a 6'6" center from Florida Junior College, Larry Bellamy, a 6'2" guard from Lindsey-Wilson Junior College, Jack Newton, a 6'4" forward from Northeast Alabama Junior College, and Rodney Edwards, a 6'5" forward from Paducah, Kentucky. Another new face in the Lion uniform this season will be Gary Wilson, a 6'7" center, who just returned from the service. These men should provide needed depth to the Lion front line.

Returning from last year's team will be a nucleus of seasoned players who will be expected to provide leadership and spirit. Returning at guard will be Woody Duncan, the SCAC's leading scorer from last year with an average of 23.6 points per game. Also at guard will be David Eldridge, who was the SCAC free throw percentage leader last year. At forward, two men return, 6'5" Ron Davidson, who averaged 10 points and 10 rebounds a game, and Ray Locy, at 6'3", one of the team's best leapers. Ready to play this season, after sitting out the 71-72 year is Reggie Cook, a 6'0" guard from Williamson, New York.

The schedule for 72-73 is by far the toughest ever attempted by Bryan College; however, the prospects for success are hopeful and certainly bright as the combination of old hands, new talent and experienced coaching reaches for a Bryan victory in 72-73.

Wolfe Leads at State Meet

Flash—David Wolfe captured first place at the State Cross Country Meet October 28 to lead his team to a third place finish among seven schools.

Another season highlight for Bryan's cross country team was its second place finish in a tough eight-team field at Fisk Invitational when Dave Wolfe, senior from Sheldon, Iowa, gained second place honors. Wolfe's speed of 31:05 on a hilly 5.8 mile course stands as a remarkable accomplishment in his seasons' efforts.

Beginning the season with its own Invitational, the Bryan Lions barely lost to Covenant for third place, with Dave Wolfe, Jim Steele, junior of Dayton, Tenn., and Tom Potter, freshman from Lansing, Mich., placing in the top ten.

Wolfe set a new course record at the Carson-Newman Invitational to take individual honors and led the team to another second place finish. Steele, Potter, Roger Coulter, sophomore from Sale Creek, Tenn., and Drew Bauder, junior from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., also received individual awards.

The team record for this season stood at 3-6-1, with the state meet and MAIA distant cross country championship meets still in view.

Soccer Team Evens Score

The Lions' soccer team has come out with a season record of 3-1-3 in spite of a plague of injuries, with one game left to play against Covenant before entering the tournaments.

Some of this year's main scorers are co-captain and senior Everett Kier, senior Larry Jacobsen, sophomore Steve Kocher and freshman John Lacey. Among the new freshmen are Lee Efird, Roddy Miller, Mastin Robeson, Chuck Grant, Tim Faugl, and Randy Ballard, who have proved to be assets to the varsity's all-out team effort. Goalie Ray Locy and substitute Andy Hayes have helped to save many of the shots from becoming goals, with assists along the defense line by Steve McCollam, Dale Henry, and Rick Efird.

Coached by John Reeser, who is new to Bryan this year, the Lions look forward to making a good showing in the fall tournament to be held at University of the South, Sewanee, Tennessee.

BRYAN COLLEGE ALUMNI NEWS

HOMECOMING ECHOES

Homecoming visitors of 1972 will not soon forget the impressive scene at the mid-day erection of the gleaming white spire on Saturday as a striking reminder of the continuing project of the Alumni Association the erection of the Rudd Memorial Chapel.

For the students and alumni visitors, the musical program of the night before with the Madrigals, the Common People (a new folk group), and the Symphonic Band were an appropriate prelude to the action of the 1972-73 Lions who were introduced for a warm-up preview of the basketball season. An alumni team that challenged the best of the non-varsity basketball players carried off the honors.

Sports events highlighting Alumni Day included the Cross Country Invitational, crowning of the Homecoming Queen at soccer half-time, and a soccer match with Carson Newman that gave the visitors a 6-2 victory despite a desperate Lion struggle.

The social highlight of the weekend was the festive homecoming banquet joining students, faculty, prospective students, visitors, and alumni in a well-filled dining hall decorated with miniature spires and building bricks to support the homecoming theme. "Let the house be built."

The spirit of the evening can best be reviewed by quoting from the banquet address of Everett Kier '51, pastor of the Sheets Memorial Baptist Church in Lexington, N. C. In following the theme from Ezra, he introduced the question asked of the elders of Israel, "Who commanded you to build this house?" and pointed out that behind the king who gave the order was the "God of heaven," who was the divine director. In concluding his remarks to the banquet assembly, Mr. Kier said:

"My concern in these few moments together is that we be united as those who are now connected or have been in previous days under the blessings of the ministry of Bryan College as we move into this most tremendous and blessed task that we have undertaken under the hand of the Lord. I am sure that God has instructed in the building of the Rudd Chapel; and since God has given the order for the building, how do we acquire the provision that God has laid out for us?"

"It is illustrated by the story told by Dan Sickles. Sickles had been wounded and President Lincoln came to visit him. Sickles observed that the President seemed to be deep in thought. His face was lighted up. Turning he said, 'When Lee crossed the Potomac and entered Pennsylvania, I felt that the crisis had come. I knew the fighting of a great battle on northern soil involved Washington. I went to my room and got down on my knees in prayer. I wish I could repeat my prayer. I felt I must put my trust in Almighty God. He gave to our people the best country. I felt unequal to the task of saving my country. God had been our protector and I prayed He would not let the nation perish. I asked Him to help us and give us victory now. I feel my prayer was answered and I felt sure of the results at Gettysburg.'

"The orders have come from God to build the Rudd Memorial Chapel. Now as we stay in touch with Him, the God who has given the orders will be the God who gives the supply in the days ahead. May it be our desire and personal privilege as student body, as faculty and staff and alumni to see our prayers answered, and by the grace of God one year from today see the new Rudd Memorial Chapel begun.

"Yes, as God gives the order He has the supply. As we stay in touch with Him, He will bring the two together."

Recognizing the outstanding service of one of Bryan's seasoned missionaries who has been particularly effective in training nationals to take places of leadership, Charles Westgate presented the Alumnus-of-the-Year trophy (in absentia) to LARRY FEHL '57, missionary-teacher who has recently returned to the field of Igbaja, Nigeria, under Sudan Interior Mission, to his responsibility as principal of the Igbaja Seminary and Bible College.

Honorary Alumni

Five Bryan-related friends were selected as honorary alumni this year in appreciation for their fellowship and service to the college in various ways. These were Mr. and Mrs. Mercer Clementson, the retirees from Chattanooga who are building a home on Bryan property which they plan to leave to the college; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Steele, who have shared on the staff of the college over a period of twelve years and now have three children among the students; and Mrs. Walter Seera, an enthusiastic member of the Bryan Women's Auxiliary and wife of alumnus Walter Seera '68, who is admissions counsellor for Bryan.

HAPPINESS IS . . .

BEING TEN

"For me? Oh look! A new dress—two of them! And a slip to go with them!" These were some of the excited squeals and shouts that came from Bonnie Poe as she opened gifts at a party given for her tenth birthday Friday evening, Sept. 29, by twins Joy and Judy Steele at their home in Dayton.

Bonnie is one of the many girls and boys involved in the Big-Brother Big-Sister relationships, an activity of the Missions In Action FISH program at Bryan. Bonnie's big sister, Joy, is a fulltime sophomore at Bryan this year.

Also sharing the thrill of the party was Sue Poe, age 12, the little sister of Judy Steele and the real sister of Bonnie.

After coke and ice cream, the "little sisters" went hand-in-hand with their "big sisters" to see the film HIS LAND, starring Cliff Barrows and Cliff Richards, which was brought to Bryan campus by the Student Union.

Even the most exciting times must come to an end, and two tired but happy little girls returned to their home at Wolfe Creek late Friday night, eyes aglow and drooping at the same time, to show Bonnie's gifts to another sister, Debbie, age 11, who didn't come to the party. "Thanks, Joy and Judy, for the nicest birthday I've ever had yet!"

This story written by Jeanette Fitzgerald, wife of Missions In Action president Jim Fitzgerald, is one of many stories that could be told by the 25 Bryan students that have adopted an underprivileged child in the local community this year. For an all-day outing the youngsters were treated in October to visits at Kay Arthur's Reach Out Ranch and the Bryan-Covenant soccer game at Covenant College in Chattanooga.

In addition to its work with children, FISH has included in this second year of service such activities as housecleaning for a lady whose baby had just died, tutoring, installing storm windows for a man with a bad heart, and assistance with recreation for retarded children.

When the load is lifted, a heart is encouraged, or a "little brother" just sits down and starts talking about how he had accepted the Lord, the reward is already being enjoyed.

STEWARDSHIP PLANNER

by Marvin Keener

ESTATE PLANNING SEMINARS

Bryan College has developed an Estate Planning Seminar as a part of the development program of the college in order to challenge people to be good stewards of their estates. The presentation shows how bequests and trusts can benefit the local church or other sponsor as well as Bryan College. This service is offered free in return for the publicity which the college receives. If the sponsoring group is able to do anything toward the Bryan representative's travel expenses or to furnish hospitality, that will be appreciated; but this is in no way a requirement.

The seminar lasts two hours. First, a slide presentation shows how to plan an estate properly. It explains how to avoid estate taxes and administrative costs through the right use of trusts and charitable gifts. After a short coffee break, a panel discussion and question period conclude the evening. In addition to Marvin L. Keener, the Bryan representative, the panel is composed of a Christian attorney, a CPA (if possible), and an insurance salesman secured by the local sponsor. These men give local credibility and are able to follow up contacts for the group.

The main thrust of the meeting is to help those who attend by showing them how they can save money. Any person who applies the ideas presented should be able to conserve many estate dollars. The discussion does not over-emphasize tax savings on charitable gifts. Attention is not directed toward any individual, rather those in the audience are challenged to consider their responsibility to their immediate family and other loved ones;

their local church, the Lord's work; and other charitable works, especially Christian organizations, including mission boards and colleges.

Publicity for these seminars is prepared for the local sponsor. They include press releases for local papers, announcements and inserts for church bulletins, and information booklets. The local sponsor has only to place them so that they can be used to the best advantage.

A seminar should be planned two months in advance in order to allow the staff at Bryan sufficient time to prepare the materials and to promote the meeting. If desired, the Bryan representative may be able to stay around for a day or two for personal interviews and to assist anyone who may wish individual help in planning his estate. It is emphasized that the Bryan representative does not give or try to give legal advice or to consummate arrangements which are in the province of the legal profession.

Whitcomb Lectures Treat Biblical Basis of Origins

For the third annual Staley Distinguished Christian-Scholar Lecture series at Bryan, Dr. John C. Whitcomb, Jr., professor of Old Testament and Theology at Grace Theological Seminary, was the speaker on November 20-22.

Dr. Whitcomb's theme on modern science and the Bible was developed through his discussion of The Origin of the Universe, The Origin of Life, and The Origin of Man during the three morning chapel sessions. In the two evening sessions his topics were The Flood and Final Judgment, and The Flood and Modern Geology.

In several classroom sessions Dr. Whitcomb dealt with such themes as Modern Science and Biblical Miracles, Genesis and Evolution, and The Original Perfection of the World.

These lectures by Dr. Whitcomb were especially appropriate with their Biblical perspective to share in the community as well as at Bryan following the recent

North American premiere showing of "The Darwin Adventure" in Dayton with its support of the evolutionist position.

Dr. Whitcomb, who began his theological studies in Princeton Seminary, continued at Grace Theological Seminary where he received the B.D., Th.M. and Th.D. He has taught at the same school since 1951 in the department of Old Testament and Hebrew, and since 1969 has been chairman of the Department of Christian Theology. He has been active also in missionary interests serving as president of the board of the Spanish-World Gospel Broadcasting, Inc., since 1962, and as president of the board of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Brethren Church since 1971. He has traveled through much of western Europe and the Bible lands; he lived in China three years and has ministered in Peru, Puerto Rico, Canada, Mexico, Guatemala, as well as United States.

Dr. Whitcomb co-authored with Dr. Henry M. Morris a defense of the universality of the Flood entitled, THE GENESIS FLOOD, in addition to several Old Testament commentaries and charts.

Dayton Hosts Premiere of "Darwin Adventure"

History came alive in Dayton on September 26 with the showing of the North American premiere of the film, DARWIN ADVENTURE. Produced in England by Palomar Films and distributed in the United States by Twentieth Century-Fox, the film depicted Darwin's five-year journey on HMS BEAGLE to the South Sea islands in the 1830's and the subsequent publication in 1859 of his theories in his book, THE ORIGIN OF SPECIES. The premier showing was in the Rhea County court room, the scene of the historic 1925 Scopes trial and the debate between Clarence Darrow and William Jennings Bryan.

The event brought to Dayton Mr. Francis Darwin, British-born biology professor at London University, and great-grandson of Charles Darwin. Francis Darwin visited the Bryan campus, met faculty and staff during coffee-break, and showed keen interest in Dr. Willard Henning's natural history museum.

On Wednesday night, September 27, a second showing of the film was presented in the Bryan chapel. This was followed by a panel discussion which served as a rebuttal of the film's subtle attack on the Bible and Bible-believers. Participants on the panel were: Dr. Irving L. Jensen, head of the Bible department at Bryan; Mr. Phil Ashworth, assistant professor of biology at Bryan; Dr. Willard L. Henning, head of Bryan's division of natural sciences; Dr. William Stillman, department of chemical engineering, University of Tennessee; Dr. Roger Rusk, former professor of physics at University of Tennessee, now retired; and Dr. William J. Tinkle, retired geneticist and former professor at Taylor University.

Bryan's participation in the premiere was based on the understanding that it would be treated as a straightforward event and would not develop into an organized publicity stunt. The Bryan representatives who spoke on various occasions presented a good image of the college and handled the situation in a dignified manner.

A Memorial Tribute

Rembert Leigh Bryan
1889-1972

Bryan College lost one of its most dedicated friends in the death of Mr. R. L. Bryan, of Bartow, Florida, on November 25, 1972. A trustee of the college since 1952, Mr. Bryan will be remembered for his frequent campus visits, often accompanied by Mrs. Bryan, and for the generous scholarships he annually provided for students, many of whom he personally recruited to attend the college. His vigorous and persistent promotion of Bryan College was a factor in making Florida the second state at Bryan in student enrollment, a position it maintains today. Though both he and Mrs. Bryan had been in somewhat less than robust health in recent years, his interest in the college never slackened. He last visited the campus in February, 1972, shortly after Mrs. Bryan's death, to attend the winter meeting of the Board of Trustees.

On numerous occasions, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan and their family hosted the Bryan choir and the musical messenger teams on their Florida tours, arranging appointments and hospitality and giving the non-Floridians their first visit to an orange grove. Annually he sent a generous shipment of citrus fruit to the campus as his salute to the students. For all this personal attention to so many in successive student generations, Mr. Bryan became widely known and much beloved. On his eightieth birthday, in 1969, the students created a large "Charlie Brown"

CLASS OF 1973 TO GRADUATE MAY 7

Commencement exercises closing Bryan's forty-third academic year will feature alumnus Everett Kier, of Lexington, North Carolina, as the baccalaureate preacher on Sunday afternoon, May 6, and four members of the graduating class as joint speakers for the graduation on Monday, May 7. Mr. Kier, of the Class of 1951, is pastor of Lexington's Sheets Memorial Baptist Church and the father of Everett Kier, Jr., president of the Senior Class.

Everett Kier

Having students as commencement speakers is a departure from Bryan's traditional custom of having one major outside speaker. The innovation comes about as the result of acceptance by class vote of the administration's invitation that the class provide four speakers to give brief addresses dealing with topics of interest to the class and to their commencement guests. One or more of the speakers may be chosen from the winners of the McKinney Senior Essay Contest in which members of the graduating class are invited to compete for a $100 prize for the best essay on the dual subject of "How Bryan Has Changed Me and How I Would Change Bryan." The contest, instituted in 1970, is endowed by Dr. J. Wesley McKinney, Memphis ophthalmologist, who is chairman of Bryan's Board of Trustees.

The list of candidates for degrees in the Class of 1973 exceeds one hundred, eighteen of whom completed requirements at the end of the first semester and a similar number who will finish their work next summer. This is the largest graduating class to date and compares with eighty-nine who received degrees last academic year.

Other commencement activities include the annual senior trip just prior to commencement, a meeting of the Board of Trustees, and the president's reception for the graduating class and their guests.

SUMMER BIBLE CONFERENCE SET FOR JULY 21-27

The 1973 week-long summer Bible conference on the final full week of July will round out a ten-year tradition which began in 1964, the year the first two new brick dormitories were occupied on Bryan Hill. In 1972 a third dormitory, Arnold Hall, was completed with its suite-style rooms, which will also be used this summer for conference guests.

A full program of conference sessions with special children's classes, recreation including swimming and water skiing, sightseeing to local attractions, and fellowship times around the dining tables with speakers and missionary visitors are all combined for a week of family enjoyment and inspiration to be long remembered.

The 1973 speakers and musicians are listed below:

Rev. Ralph Maynard '54, missionary to West Irian

Rev. Leonard Meznar '51, missionary to Jews in Brazil

Mr. Chuck Olson, Swedish tenor soloist of Iowa

Rev. Donald Weltmer '56, Gospel magician and Pennsylvania pastor

Moderate prices, home style meals, and air-conditioned dorms and meeting rooms in a setting of natural scenic beauty offer a combination that would be hard to surpass. For further details, write to: Summer Bible Conference, Bryan College, Dayton, TN. 37321.

Student Senate President Reviews Progress

By Larry Puckett, of Bristol, Tenn., a member of the class of 1973 and president of the Student Senate. Last year he was president of his junior class and therefore a Student Senate member.

This year I am a senior at Bryan College. In the past four years Bryan has changed much. My first year, 1969, saw regional accreditation come to the college with the accompanying mental and physical anguish of much paper work, bound in red tape. I feel it is a great privilege to add to those volumes of well-documented soul-searching called "Self-Study" my own introspection of Bryan College during this period of my stay.

Larry Puckett

Last year's graduating class felt the impact of regional accreditation on their educational experience to such a degree that they bemused the fact in a satirical play on words that restated the college motto as "Accreditation above all." They had seen the efforts to attain accreditation and it was with a high degree of concern that they made such an observation. Certainly the point comes through, though the phrase itself is a prime example of the devastating frankness of college wit which often tends to hyperbolize. The fact is that accreditation is a large part of the change in Bryan which I see.

Accreditation has provided this institution an impetus for improvement in some essential areas. The physical facilities of the college have been expanded through the erection of a new dorm, the gym, new tennis courts, and presently the renovation of the ground floor of the administration building into a student center. The addition of new faculty and staff has strengthened the various academic and administrative divisions of the college. A characteristic attraction of the college to students has been the willingness of those who teach and work with students to offer freely of themselves in academic and personal counsel beyond the formal classroom presentations.

Accreditation has set for Bryan definite goals and provided a structured program for the achievement of positive ends. God has used the accreditation process to expand the image and scope of the institution. The blessings of accreditation which I have enjoyed are evidence of divine purpose and intent, which is even more important than the physical conveniences.

An increased ministry should be the result of such a blessing as accreditation has been, and this is the most exciting aspect of change that I have seen during my tenure at Bryan. Students in these years have revitalized the outreach and Christian ministry of the college. This year the Christian Service Association has expanded its ministry from Bible classes in the local public schools to include a jail ministry, visits to the state reformatory at Pikeville, and gospel teams which minister on week ends throughout the immediate area. Two new musical groups, the Common People and Maranatha, have come into being as the result of a desire by ordinary students to share Christ in some manner.

Mission in Action's FISH program has ministered to the needs of the very old and very young alike. In the local school for the mentally retarded, Bryan students have voluntarily worked with the mentally handicapped, the first such instance in the state of Tennessee. In addition, about forty Bryan big brothers and sisters spend time each week with their economically and socially deprived little brothers and sisters from the community in an attempt to show the love of Christ in an intimate relationship. Six summer missionaries, students who are supported by fellow students, have been chosen to represent Christ on various fields during the coming summer. Not every student is involved in this kind of outreach, but those who are involved are doing a good job and the Lord is working through them.

Accreditation gives these students a chance to receive a bona fide education in a Christian atmosphere and to share in the ministry of the college so they can see immediately the fruits of their educational experience. Bryan's ministry is for these students a today ministry, not one that is awaiting the completion of their academic preparation. "Christ Above All" is a mandate for constant involvement and constant progress, and accreditation is an evidence of both at Bryan College.

I feel I have experienced the peak years of development. Yet when I leave this spring I do not expect that the peak is passed. For me perhaps a milestone is reached and with an accredited degree in hand, a sense of fulfillment is present. However, I desire for Bryan no such sense of completion; but those who follow me should have the opportunity to feel as I do now the excitement of seeing the progress of this institution in an ever-expanding ministry for Jesus Christ among its students, its community, and its world.

Indeed, I am thankful that God sent me to Bryan four years ago!

MEMORIAL TRIBUTE

type of poster birthday greeting, which was signed by nearly everyone in the college community. A picture of Mr. Bryan and this unusual greeting appeared in Bartow papers.

Mr. Bryan was a man of genial and optimistic spirit and of unwavering personal Christian commitment. His wide experience, including twenty-three years he spent on the road as a salesman of citrus nursery stock, gave him a broad understanding of human relations and a fund of real-life stories to illustrate almost any situation. Sometimes in a trustee meeting at a tangled point of discussion, his comment or story was just what was needed to give perspective to the problem at hand.

A Florida native, Mr. Bryan was born "in an orange grove," as he liked to say, in Adamsville, Sumter County. A 1910 graduate of Florida Southern College, he went to Bartow in 1916 as manager of Lake Garfield Nurseries Co., then four years old. He became widely known, helping to pioneer many of the developments which give Florida the preeminence it enjoys today in the citrus industry. An interesting sidelight is that India's commercial grapefruit industry began with seventy-five trees which Mr. Bryan sold to an agricultural missionary. Mr. Bryan's civic and professional connections were numerous; and in 1955 he became president of Lake Garfield Nurseries, an enterprise which includes everything in citrus business from nursery stock to groves to frozen concentrate.

Mr. Bryan was descended from William Bryan of Virginia and was therefore a distant cousin of William Jennings Bryan. His maternal grandfather, David G. Leigh, was a signer of the Florida Ordinance of Secession in 1861. Mr. Bryan's survivors include two sons, Don and Leland, with their families, and a sister, Mrs. G. N. Grant, of Orlando.

STEWARDSHIP PLANNER

by Marvin Keener

The development department at Bryan College is gratified with the good response our friends have given to the Estate Planning Seminars. The program was set up as a service for our donors and friends to assist in conserving their estates. Seminars have already been conducted in Jacksonville and Miami, Fla., Richmond, Va., and Chattanooga and Dayton, Tenn.

Wills, bequests, trusts, and other methods of planning one's estate are covered in each seminar. A panel of estate planners will be present to answer questions and instruct regarding the latest ideas in estate planning. These seminars are conducted free to assist those attending in saving money and preserving their estates for those they love. Every Christian has a stewardship responsibility to be sure his estate is well planned.

Lions Hold Balance In Season's Record

The Bryan Lions coached by Wayne Dixon have had the good and the bad this season with their record, as of February 10, showing 11 wins in 23 outings. With five regular season games and the SCAC tournament left on the schedule, the Lions are still playing for a 1973 season record that balances on the winning side.

There have been many exciting moments this year, none of which so far tops the January 20 game with the University of the South, when the Lions came out on top, 62-60, behind a clutch performance at the free throw line by junior guard, Dave Eldridge. Five individual games have also been turned in by senior forward, Ron Davidson, who scored a high 33 points against a strong Toccoa Falls team which the Lions defeated 96-83.

Woody Duncan, last year's SCAC scoring champ, is again leading the Bryan attack with an average of 19.2 points per contest this year. His best game to date is a 32-point outburst against small-college national power Carson-Newman.

Through 23 games the Lions are being paced in average scoring per game by Duncan with 19.2; Davidson, 15.0; and Eldridge, 11.5. Rick Burroughs, 6'6" junior, leads Bryan in rebounds with an average of 8.3 per game. Following closely behind him is Davidson with an average of 8 rebounds per game.

Evaluation Committee to Visit

An evaluation committee from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools will visit Bryan April 1-4 as a part of the process of Bryan's seeking reaffirmation of the accreditation achieved in 1969. Southern Association accreditation is granted initially for four years, after which an institution is evaluated every ten years. The report of Bryan's self-study, in progress now for two years, was completed for distribution just prior to the February meeting of the Board of Trustees. This report, covering all standards of the Association applicable to colleges, has involved all faculty and administration and a representative number of students. Glen H. Liebig, assistant professor of Spanish, has been director of the project. The report contains recommendations and projections for both immediate and long-range improvements.

Gifts for King Response Exceeds $40,000 Goal

The annual Gifts-for-the-King Christmas offering for student aid reached $43,600 with 600 gifts. This compares with 611 gifts and $30,100 a year ago. Contributions ranged from $1 to $6,000. These gifts are being used to underwrite grants provided by the college from its own funds and to cover the college cost of the federal programs in college work-study (20%) and student loans (10%). These kinds of financial assistance are a part of the overall student aid program of grants, loans, and employment which will total some $235,000 for 1972-73. Approximately 60% of Bryan's full-time students receive some kind of financial aid.

Second Semester Enrollment

The head-count enrollment for the second semester is 526 compared to 534 for the first semester. The second semester registration includes 80 new students, bringing to 614 the head-count enrollment for the academic year of two semesters. The equated full-time enrollment for the two semesters is 480 at this time, a figure which will decline slightly by the end of the year. All of these statistics represent new highs and reflect the enrollment increases which Bryan has been experiencing.

Student Speakers Give Commencement Messages

A four-part commencement address by members of the senior class and participation by nine ministerial fathers of seniors were special features of the commencement exercises concluding the forty-third academic year of the college. The four student speakers at the graduation convocation, chosen by written competition open to all seniors were Martin Collins, Dayton, Tenn., business education; Ray Locy, Takoma Park, Md., music education; Larry Puckett, Bristol, Tenn., history; David Wolfe, Sheldon, Ia., mathematics.

Though not chosen for that reason, each of these students had distinguished himself in some area of student activity—Collins as a member of the college band; Locy as an athlete, musician, and academic honor student; Puckett in student government, serving as president this past year; and Wolfe as an honor student and as Bryan's record-breaking distance runner this year, winning both the Tennessee cross country championship and the Tennessee mile, setting a new state record in the latter.

Nine fathers of graduating seniors participated in the commencement programs, Everett L. Kier, Lexington, N. C., being the baccalaureate preacher. Others participating in the baccalaureate service were W. Dean Henry, Akron, O.; Richard B. Moore, Altoona, Pa.; John Van Puffelen, Bradley, West Va.; and Homer E. Willis, Nashville, Tenn. Those taking part in the graduation exercises were J. Allen Bailey, Chicago, Ill.; James A. McCollam, New Salem, Pa.; George D. Miller, Jr., Spencer, N. Y.; and Howard Van Sice, Elkton, Md.

Recognition and prizes awarded seniors included the following:

TENTH SUMMER CONFERENCE JULY 21-27

Rich in the meat of the Word, satisfying in Christian fellowship, refreshing in the vacation spirit of comfortable guest accommodations and delicious "home-cooked" food, the Bryan summer Bible conference has successively rated comments as the "best conference ever." The family spirit predominates with special activities for the children and teenagers as well as adults. You are invited to plan your schedule for a purposeful vacation with combined spiritual and physical refreshment.

The three main conference speakers are Bryan graduates with fifteen to twenty years of experience in the Lord's service and have been selected because of their effective public ministry on previous occasions at Bryan.

Leonard Meznar '51, a missionary among the Jews of Brazil since 1958, will develop a prophetic theme, "More Buds on the Fig Tree," as viewed from his knowledge of the Jews and their homeland.

Ralph Maynard '54, pioneer missionary to a cannibalistic tribe in West Irian that was receptive to the Gospel and is now receiving Bible institute training, has selected the theme, "You Can Be Victorious Yet Human."

Donald Weltmer '56, pastor of the Grace Fellowship Church of Ephrata, Pa., will speak mainly to the children through his "Gospel Magic" to teach Bible and moral truths. He is also a song leader and trumpeter.

Chuck Olson, a Swedish-American tenor soloist and recording artist from Iowa City, Iowa, will share his professional sacred concert repertoire as well as his contemporary styling of hymns and gospel songs throughout the conference musical program.

P. A. Boyd prizes to a senior man and a senior woman for "highest degree of influence over their fellow students"—Larry Puckett, Bristol, Tenn., and Karen Brodsky, Fincastle, Va.

F. R. Rogers Awards in Bible and Music, for excellence—Ronald Davidson, Burbank, Calif., and Dennis Bodtlen, Ellicott City, Md.

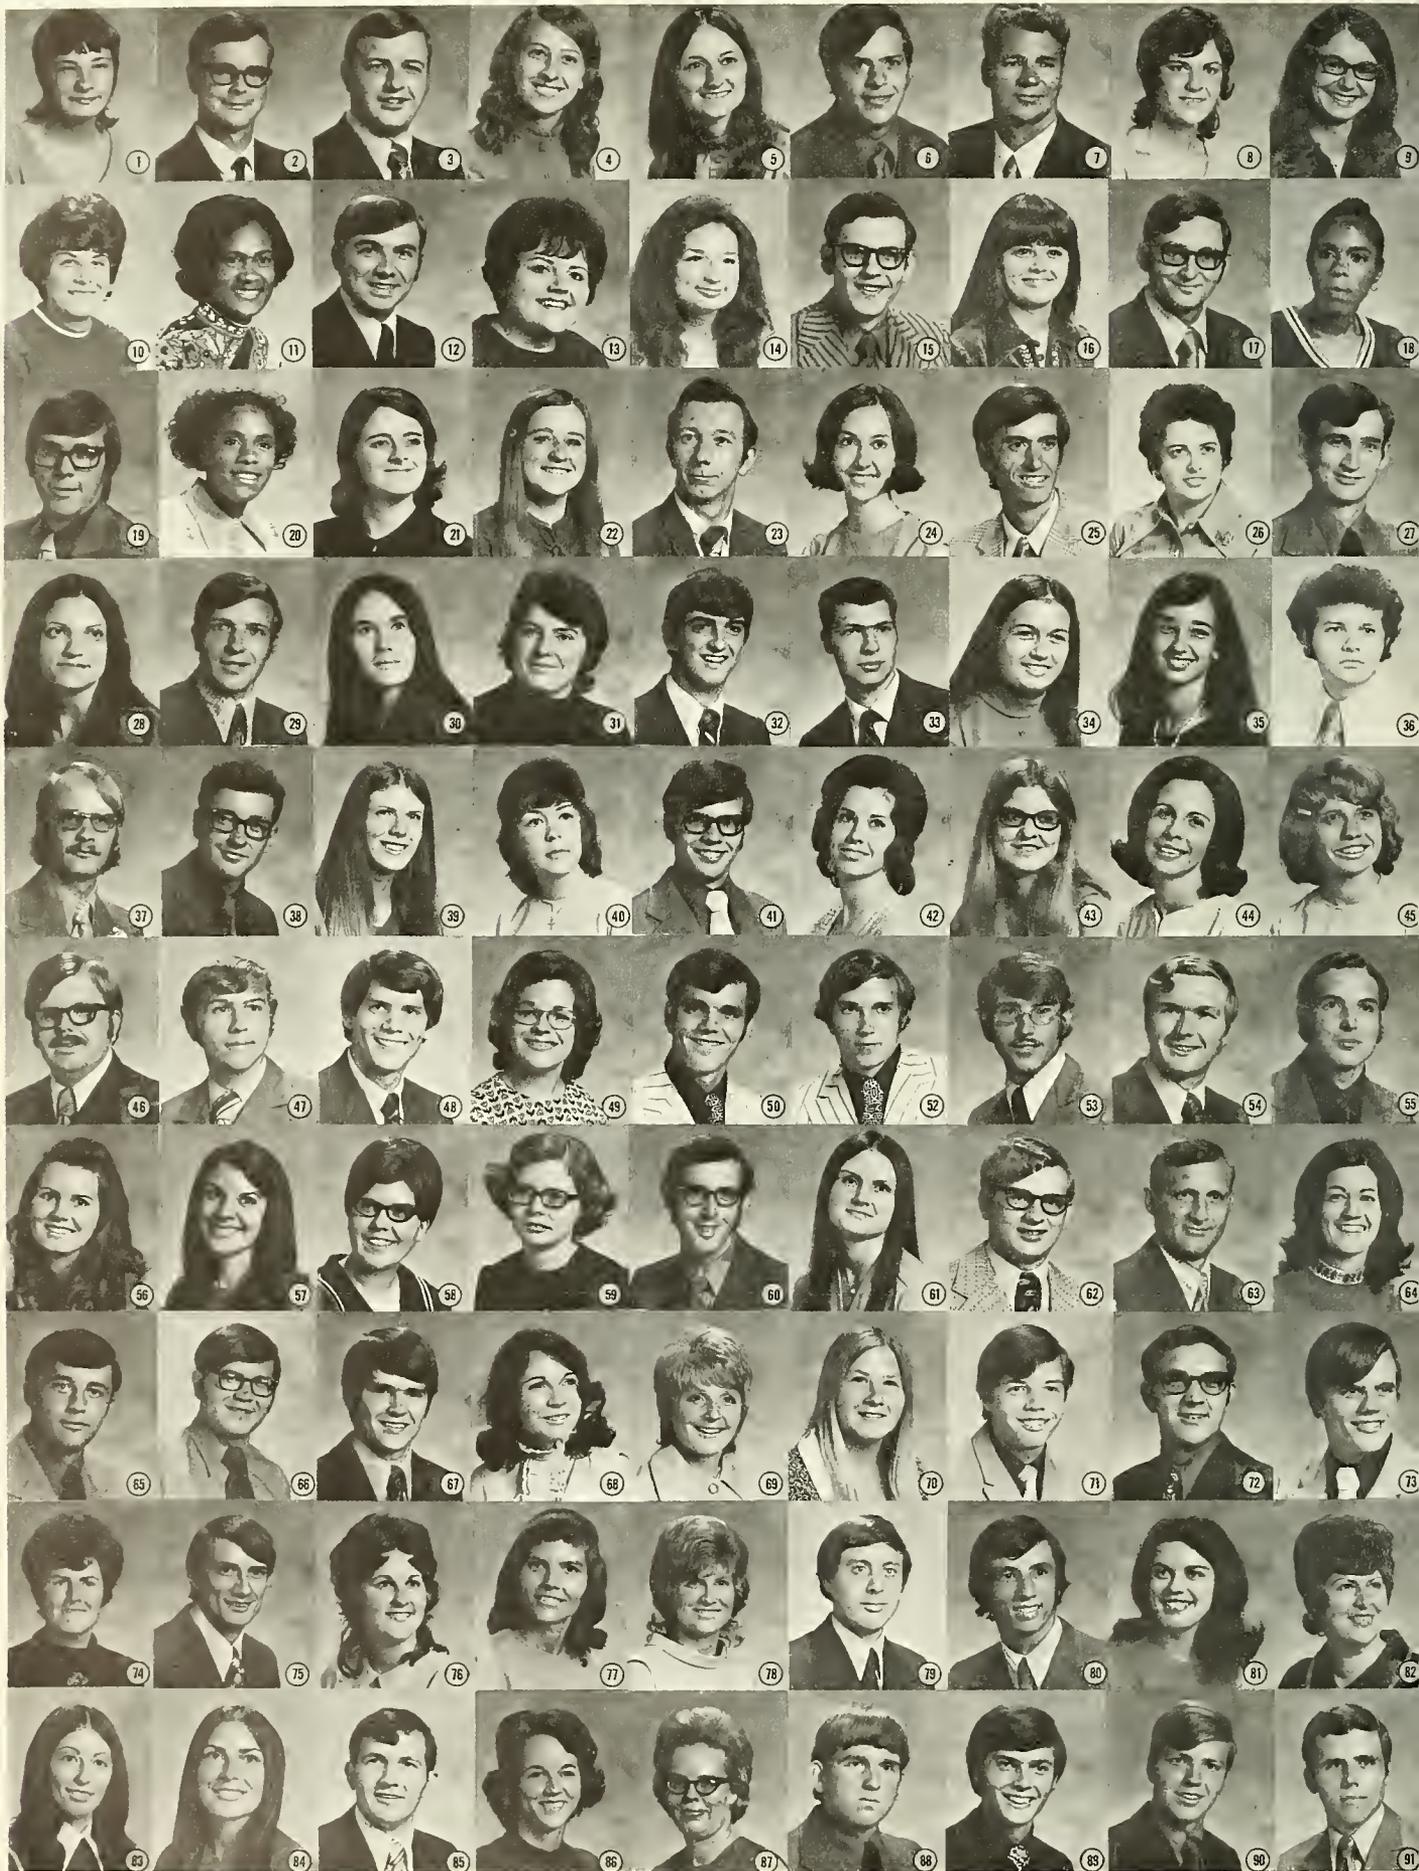

McKinney Senior Essay Award on "How Bryan has changed me and how I would change Bryan"—Ronald Davidson.

Mrs. E. B. Arnold Student Teaching Award for student teacher of the year—Robert Daniel, Asheboro, N. C.

Departmental Awards—history, Larry Puckett; Christian Education, Wayne McLeod, St. Clair, Mich.; business, overall achievement, Greg Renaud, Sully, Ia., and Wall Street Journal, Shirley Burrows, Eleuthera, Bahamas; mathematics, Naomi McCarrell, Cleveland, Tenn.

Faculty prizes—highest scholastic record, Richard Speece, Lake Worth, Fla., summa cum laude with 3.967 on scale of 4.0; faithfulness and loyalty, Stephen McCollam, New Salem, Pa.; most progress during years at Bryan, Dennis Bodtlen.

Eighty-six bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees were conferred on seniors who had finished all requirements, including eighteen who had completed their work first semester. An additional nineteen were recognized as summer candidates. This total of 105 is the largest senior class in the history of the college.

New Faculty Provide Four Doctorates

New faculty members this fall include four with the doctorates and a fifth doctorate in prospect for later in the year, plus two others with masters degrees, of whom one is a returnee with previous service at Bryan.

Dr. Robert Spoede, a native of Wallis, Texas, is assistant professor of history, replacing Dr. Blair Bentley. He earned the B.A. in history from Texas A & M, the M.A. from Harden-Simmons University, and the Ph.D. from the College of William and Mary. Dr. Spoede's experience includes teaching at William and Mary and at Mackinac College and twenty years of active military service as a commissioned officer in the U. S. Army. He is married and the father of three teenage children.

Dr. and Mrs. Blair Bentley, who completed twelve years of service as Bryan teachers, have moved to Dyersburg, Tenn., where Dr. Bentley is teaching history and Bible at the Dyersburg Community College. Their daughter Vicky is a sophomore at Bryan.

Dr. Owen Biller, Jr., of Plainview, Texas, is assistant professor of psychology. His B.A. is from Cedarville College in Ohio, his M.A. from Valparaiso University in Indiana, and his Ph.D. from the University of Arkansas. PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

Bryan enters a new academic year with many encouragements from last year. An important factor is that the college completed the fiscal year in the black, with a sufficient surplus to offset last year's red ink and at the same time to provide funds for necessary improvements in physical facilities. The new student union and the faculty offices are most attractive and very impressive for anyone who remembers their previous appearance.

Last year showed also the largest enrollment in the school's history (572 total enrollment) and with a senior class of 105, also the largest. Whether Bryan has come to the end of the enrollment crest (48% from the fall of 1969 through the fall of 1972) remains to be seen after registration is complete for the current term.

Last year was the year of the institutional self-study report and the Southern Association visiting committee evaluation. The results of this process in which Bryan is seeking reaccreditation will not be known until December.

For all of these developments we are indeed grateful to God and we dedicate ourselves to His purpose for the college this year.

This brings me to our goal for 1973-74—the raising of funds for the Rudd Memorial Chapel. To date a total of some $140,000 has been pledged or paid in cash against a need of $500,000-$600,000. In view of inflation and other factors operating in construction today, it seems clear that the longer we wait, the more the project will cost.

NEW FACULTY

Hornell, New York, as assistant professor of French and Spanish. Mr. Bedford holds the B.A. from Houghton College and the M.A. from Middlebury College in Vermont. His teaching experience besides four years at Bryan, 1956-60, includes five years at Houghton College and in two high schools in New York state. Mr. Bedford replaces Joseph Overholt, who has returned to Ohio for Christian service in his home area.

Glen Liebig, assistant professor of Spanish at Bryan since 1966, has been appointed assistant academic dean, and will combine that responsibility with part-time teaching in the modern language department.

We must, therefore, give this matter full attention so as to bring the beginning date of construction into view. The trustees have wisely set down the principle that the actual construction is not to begin until the money is in sight with firm commitments and sufficient cash to get under way.

During the coming months, specific contacts will be made with many Bryan friends. This multi-purpose building is urgently needed, for chapel, for the music department (which is bursting at the seams), and for a variety of other purposes. Please put this project on your prayer list. I will be getting in touch with you.

New Faculty Offices

Four divisional office suites have been renovated to accommodate sixteen faculty members on the south end of the main floor in the administration building.

These offices, which have been in use for thirty-five years variously as dormitory accommodations, classrooms, and faculty offices without any major improvement since their original construction, have taken on a wholly modern appearance with plastered and paneled walls, carpeted floors, and lowered ceilings. The installation of telephones and air-conditioning brings these facilities into first-class offices which now excel some of the administrative offices that are also in line for renovation.

In addition to these quarters which are being used by the Biblical, modern languages and literature, education, and history and social studies divisions, two sections of classroom space and certain other office allocations on the third floor complete a modern and spacious provision for twenty-three individual faculty offices.

Expansion is also planned for the administrative offices on the north end of the main floor to be completed as soon as laborers and funds are available.

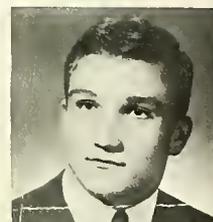

Faculty Share Spiritual Retreat, Academic Workshop Meetings

Following the tradition of a pre-school retreat, the Bryan faculty and administrators held their spiritual retreat August 20 and 21 with the Rev. Donald C. Graham, executive director of the National Presbyterian Reformed Fellowship as the minister and counselor.

Mr. Graham recently completed an eight-year pastorate at the First Presbyterian Church of Montgomery, Ala., and has also been active in the presbytery and in ministerial circles both in Alabama and Florida. He is a ministerial advisor to the Reformed Theological Seminary in Jackson, Miss., and a trustee of the

DEVELOPMENT OFFICE

Mr. Larry Levenger of Chicago, Ill., has been appointed to the administrative staff with the title of assistant to the vice president to work in the area of development. He replaces Marvin Keener, who is now conducting his own advertising agency in Dayton, Tenn.

Mr. Levenger

After attending South Dakota State University and Southern Methodist University, Mr. Levenger transferred to Bryan College for a degree in business administration, which he is currently completing. For the past two years he has worked as an insurance salesman in Oak Lawn, Ill.

Mr. Levenger was married July 28 to Gail Hamilton, a 1971 graduate of Bryan and the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Hamilton of Superior, Wis.

Opening Spiritual Life

The Rev. Marlin C. Hardman, pastor of Barcroft Bible Church in Arlington, Va., ministered to both faculty and students at the fall Spiritual Life meetings held for three days during registration and orientation week at the opening of the fall semester. A special session for the faculty included a dinner fellowship with Dr. Hardman.

Mr. Hardman is a native of Charleston, W. Va., who graduated from Piedmont Bible College of Winston-Salem, N. C., and did graduate work at Columbia Bible College for the M.A. degree. For six years he was on the staff of the Washington, D. C., Youth for Christ, and since going to Barcroft as pastor in 1965 he has continued additional youth evangelism, college and conference ministry, as well as vocal expression in sacred music.

Westminster Theological Seminary in Philadelphia, Pa.

Mr. Graham's messages on the theme of the "Joys and Trials of Teaching" were designed to inspire new confidence for meeting the needs of young people from today's culture.

A two-day workshop in the same week helped faculty and staff to formulate plans for the new academic year and included a special orientation for the incoming faculty members. The report and recommendations of the Southern Association Visitation Committee of last April were reviewed and discussed.

SUMMER ACTIVITIES—At Home and Abroad

SUMMER SCHOOL

Registration for the summer school program included a total of 87 persons, of whom 11 were new registrants. The 1972-73 headcount from the fall semester through summer school showed 572 enrollees. Of this number 86 received degrees at the May graduation. An additional 19 were scheduled to complete work during the summer.

Summer courses held on the campus included Bible, philosophy, business law, botany, history of western civilization, general mathematics, trends in education, art in classroom, and personal evangelism.

EUROPEAN STUDY TOUR

Bryan's third study tour in Europe added 9 tourists to the 10 students for a total party of 21 with Dr. John Bartlett, director, and Miss Virginia Seguine, hostess. With stops in Scotland, England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Austria and Germany, the 5,000-mile tour on the British Isles and European continent in three weeks, offered a broad cultural variety in sights, sounds, and tastes for the youngest student to the several spirited senior citizens that took the tour quite in stride.

On a separate excursion to Europe, Miss Rachel Ross, assistant professor of speech, spent a month in Greece attending a course of study and lectures on Greek drama, language and folklore and archaeology as designed for college teachers and graduate students. Interesting sidelights of her study included such features as visits to Greek islands and attending two Greek plays at Epidaurus Theater, a well-preserved 5th century B.C. theater seating 12,000 people.

STUDENT MISSIONARIES

Bryan students are finding exciting opportunities for missionary orientation on the field in the midst of the cultures they have studied about in the classroom as they become involved in the summer program of Missions in Action. Six students were sponsored by gifts from fellow-students and faculty to go to four foreign countries and two stateside locations for service this summer under Summer Missionary Project (SMP).

Peggy Lawson, a '73 graduate, is at the European Bible Institute in France under Greater Europe Mission's Eurocorps program for students. Peggy, who is from Ruckersville, Va., has completed training as a teacher and expects to work in the Christian school system.

Another Eurocorps participant is John Mercer, a rising senior at Bryan, who spent his summer at the Scandinavian Bible Institute, learning a little Swedish to assist in weekend gospel team activities while working on the maintenance crew at the Institute. John was elected president of the student body for his final year as a student.

Mary Jo Hemme, from DeSoto, Mo., spent one month in Guatemala, where she lived with national Christians and assisted them in evangelizing in their local community while studying the Biblical basis of missions under Interservice Christian Fellowship. Mary is publicity director for Missions in Action next year.

John Lacey, a rising sophomore, spent his second summer in Ireland with Ireland Outreach in door-to-door literature distribution, evangelism, and church planting. Despite several weeks of illness with pneumonia, John was speedily renewed after lung surgery in June. He is the son of missionary parents who served in Uganda and have lived in Waterloo, Iowa, the past two years. John is vice president of Missions in Action in charge of the SMP.

Bruce Pauley, a 1973 graduate from Tuscola, Mich., is working for the third summer in Utah under the United Missionary Fellowship and has made application for full-time service. He will be the first SMP trainee to enter full-time missionary work.

Nancy Nofsinger, a rising senior from Washington, Ill., was sent under the supervision of the West Indies Mission to St. Lucia Island off the coast of South America to work with the nationals. Nancy is a psychology major.

In addition to the six Bryan-sponsored students, several others have served on summer missions assignments. Leroy Nicholson is on his third tour in Europe with Operation Mobilization and presently serving in Belgium. One of his tours lasted 16 months. He is a 1973 graduate from Latrobe, Pa., who plans on entering the foreign mission field.

Sue Oliver, a rising sophomore, of Hagerstown, Md., was with a group of thirteen young people from her home church that went to Mexico for a special missions project.

Among other students sharing in similar service are Gwynn Henry, a rising junior, who was sponsored last summer by Bryan's SMP program and is repeating her service this year at Triple R Ranch in Norfolk, Va., and Ellen Smith, a counsellor at Camp Hope in Canton, N. C.

1974 Spring and Summer Tours to Israel, Europe

February 28-March 14, BEST OF THE HOLY LAND TOUR, directed by Dr. Theodore C. Mercer, to visit Jerusalem, Bethlehem, Galilee, Jordan River, and other significant Biblical locations in Israel.

June 12-June 26, EUROPEAN HIGHLIGHTS TOUR, directed by Dr. John Bartlett, as Bryan's fourth European Study tour for both students and tourists. See review of the 1973 tour elsewhere in this issue.

June 24-July 15, CHRISTIAN HERITAGE TOUR, directed by Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Zopfi, to include church history and modern missions in England, Holland, Belgium, France, Italy, Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Austria, East Germany, and West Germany.

CAMPUS VISITORS

Among the numerous campus visitors during the summer were two large youth groups. The first was a 60-voice choir from the Guess Road Baptist Church of Durham, N. C., brought to Dayton by its director, David Pierceall, a Bryan alumnus of 1963. They gave concerts and shared the evening meal with a Bryan summer audience on a Tuesday evening and with the congregation at the First Baptist Church in Dayton on the following Wednesday evening.

A second larger contingent of about 180 high school young people represented the third consecutive Youth Encounter summer Bible training camp week sponsored by an East Tennessee committee under the leadership of Donnie Cantwell, a youth evangelist.

PROSPECTIVE STUDENT TRAVELS

Douglas Zopfi, an entering freshman this fall and the son of staff members, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Zopfi, had the unique experience of traveling with a basketball team to the Orient in July. He is a graduate of Pasadena California High School.

The all-star team of Christian athletes toured to the Asiatic countries of Japan, Korea, Taiwan, the Philippines, Thailand and Hong Kong. They won eleven out of twelve games as they sought to give a Christian witness to their competitors in these countries.

CHOIR PLANS CALIFORNIA TOUR

The Bryan College Concert Choir has been planning for over two years to visit California for their spring vacation tour in 1974. Because many young people in California like to go to eastern colleges and because there are many evangelical and conservative churches that are sympathetic to the Christian position of Bryan, Dr. Jim Greasby, the choir director, has worked with the student choir officers in mapping out the ten-day itinerary, March 1-10, between San Diego and San Francisco.

The 45-voice choir will have a total repertoire of nearly two hours of sacred music from which to select their hour-long program representing musical styles from the 16th century to the present day. Along with some of the earlier masterpieces, more of the familiar tunes are being included in this year's concerts.

In addition to appearing in churches for evening services, the choir will be available for morning and afternoon performances in Christian day schools and junior colleges.

The choir and their director have already started raising funds to provide for a chartered flight to California and a chartered bus for travel within the state. Requests about this tour or contributions for it may be addressed to Bryan College Choir, Dayton, TN 37321.

Musical Messenger Reports

Two student teams of Musical Messengers have completed twelve-week tours, both concluding with week-long appointments in North Carolina. The team accompanied by Coach John Reeser had their final week at the Camp Lapihio near Durham, N. C., where they were counselors and musicians for the more than a hundred teenagers from Baptist churches of the area. This team toured in the midwest as far north as Wisconsin and as far east as Pennsylvania and Virginia.

A similar five-student team accompanied by Kermit Zopfi, dean of students, began its tour in the southern area of Georgia and Florida and took a western swing through Texas, Arizona, and into California before returning through Colorado, Minnesota, and Illinois. Their final week was participation in the Bible school program and missionary conference of the Sheets Memorial Baptist Church in Lexington, N. C.

With gratitude to the Lord for the ministry of these young people, we acknowledge the gracious comments of host pastors.

"Their music and testimonies were good. I'm thankful for the standard of music they presented."

"One of the finest groups we have ever had here at Camp N. I would like to commend the group on their selection of songs and ways of presenting them."

"The fresh looks and excellent personalities of the entire group made a most favorable impression. Also, the choice of music was very good, and our people still comment about the relaxed friendliness of the group."

"Good appearance, good music, credible testimonies, excellent acceptance by our people . . . I shall be eager to recommend your excellent college whenever I have opportunity."

"Our congregation loved the young people from the moment they first arrived. They were vivacious, friendly, professional in their musical presentation and lifted our hearts with their Christian testimony."

Tenth Summer Conference

The summer Bible conference held the last week in July attracted about eighty guests who stayed in the college dormitory in addition to other area participants as well as Bryan faculty, staff, and summer students.

At least fifty children and teenagers participated in the morning classes conducted by four Bryan teachers and the children enjoyed also the evening program of Gospel magic by Rev. Donald Weltmer of Ephrata, Pa.

The musical program was highlighted by the outstanding performance of tenor soloist Chuck Olson, of Iowa City, Iowa, whose thoughtful interpretation of the hymns of worship, as well as the more modern sounds in Gospel music, were most inspiring to the listeners. Both teams of Musical Messengers shared in the evening programs and gave a combined concert one evening.

The spiritual challenge and uplift of the missionary and prophetic speakers gave the conference rich soul food through the messages of Leonard Meznar, missionary to Jews in Brazil, and Ralph Maynard, missionary to West Irian. Bryan administrators, missionary speakers' wives, and numerous others helped to round out a conference program which evoked comments like the following:

"All well planned for spiritual, mental, and bodily upbuilding. Food, fun, and fellowship best of my eight years."

"I like the idea of Bryan products (as speakers). So many conferences take on such a 'professional' air. Have appreciated the relaxed, enjoyable atmosphere of the services. The separate children's program is good for the children and for the parents as it enables them to be free to more fully enter into the adult meetings."

"The food and room accommodations are equal to the finest of hotels anywhere."

"It was good to have the musical teams and administrators on campus for the conference."

Banquet, Choir Concert Highlight Christmas Season

Dr. Theodore H. Epp, speaker on the well-known radio program, "Back to the Bible Broadcast," was the guest speaker for the annual formal Christmas banquet at Bryan on December 8.

Theodore H. Epp

In this first visit to Bryan, Dr. Epp was impressed to see the institution which he had known since its founding only by publications and representatives from the college. Dr. Epp brought a devotional message emphasizing the Christmas theme before an appreciative audience of more than 350 students, faculty, and visitors who attended the dinner.

Back to the Bible Broadcast, founded by Dr. Epp in 1939 as a daily program on a Lincoln, Neb., station, is now broadcasting each week more than 3,570 English programs, and 570 foreign language programs in 19 different languages.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC

Two diverse musical programs but both featuring the Christmas message were combined for a Sunday evening musicale in the college gymnasium on December 9. GLORIA, an oratorio by Vivaldi, was presented by the concert choir and a chamber orchestra from the Chattanooga Symphony. The soloists were Karen Parrott, a junior of Madison Wis., and Terri Fouts, a sophomore of Vero Beach, Fla., sopranos; and Mrs. Ruth Bartlett, mezzo-soprano, who is assistant professor of music and director of the Choralaires, the women's choir.

The second event was the one-act Christmas opera, AMAHL AND THE NIGHT VISITORS, by Gian Carlo

MISSIONS CONFERENCE OPENS SECOND SEMESTER

J. Allen Thompson

E. Walford Thompson

The main speakers for the January 9-12 Christian Life conference which opens the second semester will be two men named Thompson from the West Indies but who represent two different nationalities, cultures, and missions—Rev. J. Allen Thompson, general director of the West Indies Mission, and Rev. E. Walford Thompson of Jamaica, coordinator of the evangelistic program called Men in Action.

Mr. Allen Thompson, born in Cuba, the son of American missionary parents, received his training in Canada and the United States at Prairie Bible Institute, Columbia Bible College, and Conservative Baptist Theological Seminary. His missionary experiences have taken him through revolutions in Cuba and the Dominican Republic.

Mr. Walford Thompson is a native of St. Vincent, British West Indies, and received his bachelor of arts training in Canada. Since college he has been involved in evangelism and church planting in the West Indies.

Other mission boards and their representatives expected to participate in the conference include the following:

Un evangelized Fields Mission. Bob Cable

The Evangelical Alliance Mission. Charles Willoughby (a Bryan alumnus)

American Association for Jewish Evangelism. Al Vanderslik
Wycliffe Bible Translators. Perry Priest
Trans World Radio. Roy B. Deck
Slavic Missionary Service. A. J.

ACCREDITATION REAFFIRMED

The accreditation of Bryan College, first achieved in 1969, was reaffirmed on December 12, 1973, at the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in Houston, Texas. This reaccreditation is effective for ten years. It comes as a climax to a process involving a two-year institutional self-study, an on-campus evaluation by a visiting committee, and the responses of the college, written and oral, to the committee's recommendations bearing on compliance with the Association Standards. Reaffirmation of accreditation is not an invitation to complacency in the days ahead but rather a commitment to a continuing program of institutional improvement in all areas.

Menotti. The cast included Amahl, played by Sue Nolan, a senior of Lexington, Ohio; his mother by Linda Friend, a junior from Sandusky, N. Y.; the three kings by three junior fellows, Charles Davis, of Spring City, Tenn., Mike Hodge, of Princeton, Ill., and Mike Gilmer, of Jonesboro, Ga.; and the page, Randy Paepflow, a sophomore from Lake Placid, Fla.

These programs were directed by Dr. J. James Greasby, professor of music at Bryan.

FACILITIES

Since the original conception of the Rudd Memorial Chapel in 1970, student enrollment grew by 48% from 1970 to 1972; and in spite of not posting an increase this fall, the college has a long-range planning goal of 800 full-time students. With its present facilities, the college choir had to turn away thirty-five qualified students this year. On renovation of the administrative office wing of the main building, the art department must be relocated. Looking to the future with ultimate economy in mind (to do away with the necessity of a separate fine arts building), the feasibility of expanding the proposed chapel to accommodate the fine arts division was considered. After conferring with the architects in light of present circumstances and future goals, revised plans were drawn.

Included in these revised plans are the following additional facilities: 11 practice rooms for voice, piano, and organ, 6 classrooms, 7 faculty offices, 1 secretarial office, 2 art studios, and additional auditorium seating for 131 persons, bringing the total main auditorium capacity to 1159.

COST

Costs have risen here as they have everywhere else. The original estimate in 1971 for the smaller building, excluding furnishings, landscaping, and parking, was $377,000. By September of 1973, inflation increased this original estimate to $575,000. Adding this to the cost of 9,120 sq. ft. of instructional space for fine arts, the architect now estimates $725,000 for the basic building of nearly 40,000 sq. ft. An additional $150,000 will be necessary to provide interior equipment and furnishings such as organ, piano, auditorium seats and curtains, and exterior landscaping and parking facilities.

Architect Bob Schumacher displays the revised plans to the Rudd Chapel building committee.

PROGRESS

Encouragement was the key in 1973, fully realizing our Lord's presence in this program. Beginning as an alumni project late in 1970, the Rudd Chapel Fund commitments reached $13,227.50 by December 31 of that year. December 31 of 1971 saw an increase to $44,113 and December 31 of 1972, $63,645. As of December 1, 1973, through the active participation of friends, trustees, faculty and staff, administrators, and additional alumni, we've reached $231,358. Encouragement grows as one dear brother has offered $50,000 if the college matches it by raising $200,000. Praise the Lord for such an incentive. Complementing this fine effort will be a strong local campaign involving key people in Rhea County. Please pray as these friends and others contact individuals and businesses in an effort to begin construction as soon as possible.

MEMORIAL OPPORTUNITIES

In response to inquiries, the list below is intended to show various possibilities for memorializing friends and loved ones through the Rudd Memorial Chapel. As specific items are chosen, they will be removed from the list. For example, Mr. Smith, wishing to acknowledge his personal love and appreciation for Mr. Allen B. Friend, his pastor, donates the cost of the prayer chapel, $11,000 (based on actual cost per sq. ft., excluding furnishings). The chapel would then be designated as the Allen B. Friend Chapel and removed from the list.

A-V PRESENTATION

A ten-minute color film strip with pre-recorded cassette tape has been developed to aid in the Rudd Chapel solicitation. The result of a thoroughly researched and well-thought-out script, this audio-visual presentation emphasizes spiritual life, educational programs, physical facilities, campus activities and the plans for the new chapel.

The object of this new production is two-fold: first, to put the Rudd Chapel project in context by showing Bryan College as it is today, and second, to capture the attention and active interest of the viewers for the Rudd Chapel project in particular.

It is hoped that such a presentation will recruit new friends for Bryan who share concern for quality Christian education. To reach our goal of approximately one million dollars for constructing, furnishing, and equipping the Rudd Chapel, there is a need to reach a wider spectrum of friends, both individuals and businesses, as well as foundations.

You can help us in this effort by submitting names to the Development Office of people and businesses whom you would like to see actively supporting Bryan College.

FALL ENROLLMENT SUMMARY SHOWS SLIGHT DECLINE

The enrollment of fulltime students in the fall semester showed a 4.1% decline from the fall semester a year ago, down to 442 from a peak of 461. The drop was entirely in first-time college students, a characteristic which has now appeared in American colleges with sufficient frequency to constitute a national trend in which the surging enrollment of the 1960's is seen as peaking and stabilizing prior to a predicted drop in the 1980's. The total on-campus enrollment this fall including part-time registrants, was 467 compared to 502 a year ago. Participation in the off-campus Community Action Program in Chattanooga, which accounted for 32 additional part-time students a year ago, was not repeated this year. The on-campus fulltime equivalent this year is 450 compared to 471 last year at this time. The senior class this year numbers 100, approximately the same as last year.

Holy Land Tour Expanded

Bryan's 1974 Holy Land Tour scheduled for February 27 to March 14 has been expanded over the 1973 tour to include visits to Cairo, Egypt; Beirut, Lebanon; Damascus, Syria; and Amman and Petra in Jordan. Rather than emphasizing legendary sites of doubtful identification, the week spent in Israel will concentrate in both the history, geography, and archaeology of biblical Palestine and the development of modern Israel. Activities will include visits to Masada; Qumran, where the Dead Sea Scrolls were discovered; and Mea Shearim, the orthodox sector of Jerusalem; tour of a kibbutz with lunch; a boat crossing of the Sea of Galilee; and a synagogue tour.

President Theodore Mercer will be tour host and lecturer, and Dr. John Bartlett, vice president, is tour director. Transportation for tour members may be arranged either from New York, Chattanooga, or any hometown.

A descriptive folder is available on request. Reservation should be made at least six weeks before departure date.

European Tours

The European Highlights Tour is scheduled for June 12-26 under the direction of Dr. John Bartlett, as Bryan's fourth European study tour, including Scotland, England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Austria, and Germany.

The Christian Heritage Tour under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Zopfi departs June 24 and returns July 15. Places of interest associated with church history and modern missions will be visited in England, Holland, Belgium, France, Italy, Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Austria, East Germany, and West Germany.

Details on these tours are available through the individual tour director at Bryan College.

GEOGRAPHICAL DISTRIBUTION

The fall semester's enrollment represents 33 states, the Canal Zone, and 13 foreign countries. Of the 23 students from foreign countries, four are international students representing Vietnam, Kenya, and Peru, and 19 are students with U.S.A. citizenship representing 10 countries, where their parents, many of them missionaries, continue to live and work. These countries are Brazil, Colombia, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Ethiopia, India, Indonesia, Rhodesia, Spain and Zaire. The foreign student enrollment represents all continents except Australia.

STATE RANK

Among the states, Tennessee with 104 fulltime students is in first place, followed by Florida with 38, an order which has existed now for several years. Georgia (37) is a close third to Florida, with Ohio (28), Virginia (27), North Carolina (24) and Michigan (22) next in order. Six additional states in the 10-20 student enrollment range are Maryland (14), Pennsylvania (13), Illinois and Wisconsin (11), and New Jersey and West Virginia (10). Four states from the far west are represented—Arizona (6), California (5), Oregon (2), and Montana (2).

RELIGIOUS DENOMINATIONS

The religious denominations represented by the fall semester enrollment number 34, with six Baptist denominations accounting for 27% of the student body and those from unaffiliated independent Baptist churches representing an additional 16%. Independent churches of various titles (Bible, non-denominational, I.F.C.A., and those independent churches retaining denominational names, including independent Baptist) account for an overall 40% of the religious affiliations of Bryan students. Other major groups are Presbyterians, Methodists, Christian and Missionary Alliance, Grace Brethren, and Plymouth Brethren.

Lions Raise Scoring For Best Soccer Season

With a season record of 6-9-2, the Lions ranked first in the Tennessee Intercollegiate Soccer Association, broke several school records, came out fourth in conference tournament and played at the N.A.I.A. against Asbury College. The Lions proved themselves as a team with outstanding victories over University of the South and King College, both conference games, and over North Georgia and Tusculum.

The team members elected for the all-tournament and all-conference teams were Dave Beaty, sophomore; Reg Cook, senior and team captain; and John Shalanko, freshman. Chuck Grant and Roddy Miller, both sophomores, were elected to the second team.

The most goals in one season by an individual player were scored by Reg Cook with a total of fifteen goals with six assists. The most goals scored by the team for the season was also broken with the total of 45. With four goals David Beaty broke the old record of the most goals scored in one game by an individual player.

In October the team travelled to Winter Park, Florida, to play Rollins College rated fifth in the South. The T.I.S.A. tournament games were played at Darwin Field in Chattanooga against Tennessee Temple and University of the South. In the game against Temple, two five-minute overtimes failed to break the tie. After five players from each team

Witnesses Reach Out To Community, World

CHRISTIAN SERVICE ASSOCIATION

"Ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem . . ."

In response to this parting admonition from the Lord Jesus, Bryan students and faculty find various avenues of community outreach through organized and individual witnessing, teaching, singing, and preaching.

The Christian Service Association provides the organizational channel for the practical Christian work of the students under the supervision of Dr. Brian Richardson, chairman of the Christian Education department, and Terry Lovegren, a first-semester graduate with the class of 1974, as coordinator and sponsor. In its January report, the C.S.A. indicated that one of its most far-reaching channels for sharing the message of God's love is through students who conduct weekly Bible clubs for over 1,300 children in the Dayton area, including the children's program conducted in a housing development in Dayton. Many parents from this development were also contacted when they accepted an invitation to attend a Christmas program.

This year C.S.A. is sponsoring six gospel teams who present testimonies, songs, and a message in area churches on weekends. Team ministry is being planned for three groups during the spring vacation period in Chicago, Ill., Clarksville and Livingston, Tenn. Other services of C.S.A. include a ministry in the local jail in Dayton and in the Rhea County Nursing Home, and a Bible study on the campus of a nearby college. Bibles are being placed in the local motels with an invitation to patrons to accept a Bible as a gift along with a free correspondence course, and a supply of Bibles and tracts are provided to students and faculty for general distribution.

41st ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT MAY 5,6

Rev. Robert C. Hill

Rev. Robert C. Hill of Stone Mountain, Ga. editor of Christian Review Magazine, will preach the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday afternoon, May 5, as a part of the forty-first annual commencement of the college.

Mr. Hill, whose daughter Sherry is a member of the graduating class and whose son Terry is an alumnus, is a brother of Bryan's registrar, L. Donald Hill. Mr. Hill holds a business diploma from Rutgers University, the bachelor of arts in theology from Free Will Baptist Bible College in Nashville, and he has done graduate work in journalism at Virginia Commonwealth University.

Previous to his organizing Crossroads Publications in 1973, of which he is president, Mr. Hill was a pastor for seventeen years in churches in Missouri, Tennessee, and Virginia; he served as assistant editor for Moody Monthly; and he was vice president and managing editor of Christian Life Publications. Besides the publishing of Christian Review Magazine, Crossroads Publications includes book publishing and Christian bookstores.

MISSIONS IN ACTION

Missions in Action at Bryan is the student organization which fosters the missionary aspect of Christian service both at home and abroad by securing missionary speakers at chapel and for the annual conference and by providing channels for student missionary activity.

The January Christian Life Conference gave excellent exposure of several mission fields through the representatives of sixteen mission boards and the attractive displays which they set up in the student center for easy access to visitors during the three-day conference. In addition to

RUDD MEMORIAL PROJECT GAINS MOMENTUM

The Rudd Memorial Chapel project gathered new momentum recently when a campaign was launched for the local area of Rhea County by a committee of businessmen in Dayton and Spring City, who set a goal of $100,000 for their participation. The new building will offer to the community the prospect of enjoying its use through the concerts, lectures, dramatic productions, and Bible conferences that are open to the public.

Pictured below are the Rhea County campaign leaders. Chairman is William Hilleary, Jr., vice president and general manager of Southern Silk Mills in Spring City and a trustee of the college; vice chairman in the commercial area is Ben Purser, president of the Dayton Bank and Trust Co., and a trustee of the college; vice chairman for community relations, Mrs. Jewell Corvin, a local civic leader; vice chairman for industry, John Cammenga, vice president and general manager of the new Lazy Boy Corporation in Dayton; and vice president for the professional division is Arnold Fitzgerald, attorney.

The commitments of the Alumni Association members who initiated the project are now at $88,000. Members of the Board of Trustees have pledged over $50,000, and the faculty and staff pledges total over $27,000. Additional gifts and pledges of parents of students and other friends bring the total commitments to $285,000 toward the estimated total cost of $800,000.

An extended five-year plan to provide for the financing of the additional funds for the Rudd Chapel has been established for 1974-78 to enlist 500 donors, each of whom will contribute $200 annually for an individual total gift of $1,000. Since this plan was introduced in January to a few alumni groups and to the faculty and staff, over $45,000 has been committed to the fund to represent the first 45 of the 500 contributors sought.

The urgency to secure these commitments even before actual construction begins is to provide the financial backing which the trustees feel is necessary when they authorize the architects to proceed with construction plans. Both trustees and administrators recognize the importance of making the building available as soon as possible and also avoiding further inflationary losses.

Those who contribute to the Rudd Chapel fund may also wish to establish a memorial—$500 for one person or $1,000 for a couple or two individuals. The names of those memorialized in this manner will be included on a bronze plaque to be erected in the lobby at the main entrance. Gifts not designated as memorials will be commemorated in a similar manner on a plaque listing the living donors.

Memorials have already been designated by contributions amounting to $22,000. Among these is the memorial to Walter Cornatzer, an alumnus who was killed in a truck accident while he was in U.S. military service in Turkey. Contributions by his mother and two sisters have provided for this memorial to be included in the Rudd Chapel where other young people will be benefited by Christian training similar to that which helped Walter to be prepared to meet the Lord early in his life.

At the erection of the Rudd Chapel spire at Homecoming in 1972, the banquet speaker, Everett Kier '50, suggested the possibility of holding a groundbreaking ceremony for the new chapel at Homecoming 1973. That time passed without the prospect of beginning construction, but Homecoming in October 1974 could be a possibility—let's pray and work to that end!

A-V Presentation

The new audio-visual presentation of Bryan College produced by Film-Sound Production of Collegedale, Tenn., has proved to be a useful tool to display life at Bryan and to present the need for the Rudd Memorial Chapel. Either in its form as a briefcase-size table model showing a 5x7 colored picture with recorded narration or in the auditorium-size projection with sound track, the ten-minute "show and tell" has been receiving wide use and appreciation.

During February Dr. John Bartlett, vice president and academic dean, made numerous contacts with the A-V presentation in Florida, including alumni fellowship meetings in St. Petersburg, Miami, and Jacksonville on three successive days, February 21, 22, and 23.

Larry Levenger, assistant to Dr. Bartlett in the area of development, is concentrating on contacts in the local community during February and March. He has given the presentation to two alumni chapters, faculty and staff, business and professional women's club, business men's dinner and various personal contacts in the community. He anticipates more extensive travel in later spring months and during the summer and welcomes invitations to share developments at Bryan College either in personal interviews or in public assemblies, including civic clubs as well as churches and youth groups.

NEWS ROUNDUP

GIFTS FOR THE KING

The annual Christmas offering for student aid known as Gifts for the King came to nearly $52,000, which is $8,000 more than last year. This money goes to underwrite student aid, primarily grants, paid from college funds.

SECOND SEMESTER ENROLLMENT

Second semester enrollment was a pleasant surprise package, with the full-time enrollment of 428, only one student under a year ago, and with the fulltime equivalent for the two semesters of 1973-74 only seven under that for the 1972-73 academic year. This is the more remarkable in view of the 4% decline in enrollment first semester and the fact that some twenty 1974 graduates completed their degree requirements in December.

Total headcount enrollment for the year is 535 for the two semesters.

tion. Last year's student speakers were received with such enthusiasm that it was decided the experience should be repeated.

As has been customary for many years, senior parents who are in fulltime vocational Christian service will be invited to participate in both baccalaureate and graduation.

Some twenty seniors completed degree requirements at the end of the first semester in December but will receive degrees at the May commencement.

ALUMNI GAIN RECOGNITION

Three recent acknowledgements of the accomplishments of Bryan alumni are representative of the contributions which Bryan graduates make in their professions and communities.

DURWARD MAYNARD, who had his first two years of college at Bryan with the class of 1941, is president-elect of the Louisville Bar Association, an organization of more than 1,500 lawyers and judges.

Durward Maynard

He is currently serving as chairman-elect of the Kentucky Bar Association and will be chairman of the House of Delegates in 1975, the year he will be installed as president of the Louisville Bar Association. From the Appalachian State University in Boone, N.C., he earned the bachelor of science degree and from the University of Louisville the bachelor of laws in 1951 and the juris doctor degree in law in 1969. Dr. and Mrs. Maynard have three children, the oldest of whom, David, is a sophomore at Bryan this year.

LESLIE COX, a Bryan graduate with the class of 1964, was named Young Educator for Bradley County for 1973. He is the assistant to the vice principal at Cleveland High School in Tenn. Previously he taught history for five years at McMinn High School, his alma mater, and for two years was coordinator of federal programs for Cleveland State College. He is a member of several educators' associations and is a teacher at the First Baptist Church.

KENNETH FROEMKE, a graduate of 1968, received the award as Outstanding Young Educator of the Year at the Dayton Jaycees Award Banquet in January. He is 7th and 8th grade social studies and literature teacher at the Dayton City School. In addition to his quality work as teacher, Ken was cited for civic work as assistant coach at Dayton City School for four years in extra-curricular basketball and football and for a successful summer recreation program at the city park which grew into summer classes in basketball and tennis.

daily missionary challenges, supported by a well-coordinated musical program in six public services, there were opportunities to attend seminars on nine different topics ranging from the practical concern on "How to fit everything I have always wanted to do into my schedule and still find time to study," to "I don't want to eat monkey meat, and besides the people live in unsanitary conditions."

Four songs were composed for the occasion by William Boyd, assistant professor of music, including the theme, "Song of His Coming," which was introduced with symphonic band accompaniment under Mr. Boyd's direction.

The immediate missionary expression of MIA is the involvement of individual students in the FISH program of serving as big brothers and big sisters for neglected or handicapped children in the area. Nineteen students maintained the brother and sister relationships during the first semester and a similar number were added for the second semester. The little brothers or sisters are contacted in some way each week for a ride, a party, a meal at Bryan, a Christian movie, or Saturday morning recreation in the college gym.

The Summer Missions Program, which sponsors students on summer projects to aid missionaries, has found growing response with ten students now approved for the 1974 summer vacation period. Some individuals have already chosen their anticipated places of service in Korea, Sweden, France and intercity New York; others are depending on counsel, specific openings, and available support to guide their decisions.

The work of MIA has been strengthened during the past two years under the aggressive leadership of its president Jim

MUSICAL TOURS LIMITED

CONCERT CHOIR

The plans for the Bryan Concert Choir to tour in California were set aside in deference to the energy crisis and a shorter trip was arranged in the northeast with appointments for March 1-10 during the spring vacation. Concerts were given in churches in Loudon and Bristol, Tennessee; Durham, North Carolina; Lexington, Lynchburg, Achilles and Richmond, Virginia; Ellicott City and Derwood, Maryland; Wilmington, Delaware; and Danbury, Connecticut.

MUSICAL MESSENGERS

It is also anticipated that only one team of Musical Messengers will be representing the college this summer.

This student team will include a quartet selected from members of the college choir and madrigals plus an accompanist and the staff director. Their repertoire of sacred music and devotional message is appropriate for a variety of situations ranging from the more solemn Sunday morning worship to the entertaining songs suited to youth groups. In all their musical expressions, Bryan musical groups have sought to honor Christ and have found a hearty response from both pastors and congregations.

The team is offered to churches, conferences, camps or other Christian organizations on a freewill offering and overnight entertainment basis. Inquiries for the services of a Bryan team between May 13 and August 15 should be addressed to: Musical Messengers, Bryan College, Dayton, TN 37321.

A limited number of copies of the book, Acting Like Christians, by Miss Ruth Huston, Bryan trustee of Winter Park, Florida, are still available. Copies of this 177-page paperback book may be ordered from Bryan College at $2.00 per copy plus 35¢ for postage and handling.

Fitzgerald, a psychology major, who is a member of the class of 1974. Other officers of MIA are Lynn Wheeler, vice president of FISH; John Lacey, vice president of SMP; Brian Schrauger, treasurer; Pam Dekker, secretary; and Mary Jo Hemme, publicity chairman.

Concerning his part in the work of MIA, Jim says, "It has been exciting to see students get involved in expressing what they have experienced in Christ Jesus by sharing with others through practical demonstration of love. The upward relationship to God then becomes an outward manifestation—theory put into practice now."

European Tour Confirmed

Plans for the fourth Bryan College European summer study tour are confirmed for June 17 to July 8 by tour director, Dr. John B. Bartlett, vice president. The 22-day first class tour will visit England, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy, and Switzerland. New places of interest to be visited this summer are Belgium and Vienna, Austria. Credit for Fine Arts 391 will be available to students.

Several people who have gone with Dr. Bartlett on previous tours are making plans to travel with him again this summer. His large file of acknowledgements from satisfied tour members indicates that the European visits have been a highlight of their lives.

Complete tour information including prices is available upon request.

The Holy Land Tour scheduled for early March was dropped for this year on account of political conditions in the Middle East and the European Christian Heritage Tour scheduled for the summer has also been cancelled. Both of these tours will be offered again when travel conditions are more favorable.

Kindergarten Education Certified

Bryan received official approval in November, 1973 for its teacher preparation program in kindergarten education as a broadening of its certification in elementary education. Students may obtain a teaching endorsement in kindergarten while pursuing a degree in elementary education by taking an additional methods course in early childhood education and completing the student teaching experience on the kindergarten level.

The college has also submitted an application for approval of teaching endorsement in special education. The program is currently being reviewed by the Department of Education in Tennessee with action on the program expected by the next quarterly meeting of the State Board of Education.

New courses being added in the division of education and psychology to meet the requirements for this new major include teaching methods for special education, speech correction methods, and mental retardation.

Brent Ferguson, one of Bryan's alumni student recruiters at the right, hosts a group of high school visitors.

Admissions Office Invites Student Prospects To Visit

Do you know a high school senior who is a prospect for a Christian college training? Or, perhaps you have in mind a Bible college student who will soon graduate or a state university student who needs spiritual encouragement and would benefit by a Christian liberal arts college opportunity. The Admissions Office would welcome your suggestions to add to its prospects for the fall of 1974, who are being contacted with letters, phone calls, and personal interviews by college representatives and alumni. Names for future years are also welcomed, since it is

LIONS' STAR SHINES

Woody Duncan, 6'1" senior from Oliver Springs, Tenn., became the all-time leading basketball scorer of the Bryan Lions in a game with South Christian Athletic Conference foe Trevecca Nazarene College. The Lions won the game 90-71, finishing the conference schedule with a 4-2 record and second place. Woody scored the 2,078th point in the first half to top the previous record held by Tim Margene, a graduate of 1970.

Duncan led the SCAC in scoring with an average of 22.2 points a contest. Dan Begley, a sophomore of Hazard, Ky., followed with an average of 16.8 and 11.0 rebounds per game, and Dave Eldridge, the senior point man from Red Bank, Tenn., averaged a close 13.7.

Even more effective would be a visit to the college for young people who are exploring the possibilities for the future. Visitors are welcome any time, but it is requested by the Admissions Office that prior arrangements be made to stay in the dorms, to take guided tours on the campus, or to attend classes and chapel or other functions of the college. Address your inquiry about a campus visit to the Admissions Office and information will be sent promptly.

RUDD CHAPEL FUND NEARS $400,000

"Commit thy way unto the Lord, and He shall direct thy path." Surely the evidence of this promise can be seen in the progress being made toward the fulfillment of the Rudd Memorial Chapel program. The most recent blessing coming in the form of a check for $25,000 from the Benwood Foundation of Chattanooga has brought our cash to $225,000 in a total commitment of $370,000 toward our $600,000 goal.

Col. and Mrs. J. Henderson Brock of Bradenton, Fla., were honored at Commencement as Rudd Chapel Benefactors. Their contributions have included a $50,000 challenge grant which has brought in an additional $140,000 since mid-November when the commitment was made. The Brocks, who are native Kentuckians, have lived in Florida for many years and retired recently from the citrus business. They were introduced to Bryan by the Allen Jewett family, now of Hendersonville, N. C., who came to know the Brocks when Mr. Jewett was minister of music at Calvary Baptist Church in Bradenton, Fla.

As one of the Lord's stewards who would like to share in this exciting project for the Rudd Memorial Chapel at a time when construction seems imminent, you are urged to make a commitment now. Your gift or pledge, which could be spread over the next five years, could help boost the total commitments to a level enabling the trustees to determine the beginning of construction at an early date.

It is the support and prayers of God's people that will make available to the students of Bryan the greatly needed worship center, auditorium, and classrooms for art, speech and music. God is richly blessing Bryan as a training center for young people. Here is your opportunity to get involved in a major step of moving forward to God's glory and for the use of students and faculty.

TWO DOCTORATES ADDED: OTHER FACULTY ADVANCE

by Charles Robinson

assistant director of public relations

The addition this year to the Bryan faculty of two new members holding the Ph.D. degree brings the total of teachers with the doctorate to fourteen out of a total of full-time faculty of twenty-seven. Both new doctors are in the division of natural science. Two other faculty members joined the music and business departments.

Dr. Merlin D. Grieser has been named assistant professor of chemistry. For the past year he has been engaged in post-doctoral research at the University of Iowa. He holds the B.A. in mathematics from Goshen College and the Ph.D. in analytical chemistry from the University of Iowa. Dr. and Mrs. Grieser are the parents of a two-year-old daughter.

Dr. Ralph B. Paisley has been appointed associate professor of biology. He earned the B.S. in secondary education at West Chester State College in Pennsylvania and the M.Ed. with a major in biology from the same institution. His Ph.D. in plant science was conferred by the University of Delaware. He and Mrs. Paisley are the parents of a three-year-old son and a two-year-old daughter. Dr. Paisley replaces Phil Ashworth, '66, who was on special appointment and is now teaching at Rhea County High School.

I'VE WATCHED THE GROWTH!

by Larry Puckett '73, admissions counselor

Larry Puckett, left, and Miss Zelpha Russell, right, are viewed in the renovated admissions office from the hall where a large glass window gives immediate access to visitors.

The Lord led me to Bryan five years ago. During my four years as a student God's challenge to me was a total learning experience—His Word illuminating all academic areas in a college setting which also stimulated spiritual and social development. My experience as a student fully convinces me that Bryan College is an exceptional institution. I am pleased to have the opportunity to continue my involvement in such a ministry for the Lord as a part of the admissions staff.

More individuals than ever in Bryan's 44-year history are being convinced of the value of Christian education and Bryan's ministry in that area. The growth trend in Bryan's enrollment is a strong contrast to the national enrollment decline among colleges. Records show that from 1963 to 1969 Bryan's full-time enrollment rose 33 per cent. In 1970, the year following accreditation, there was a significant 17½ per cent increase; in 1971 another 10 per cent rise and in 1972 another 13 per cent, for a total full-time enrollment increase of 40 per cent since accreditation. Only in 1973 was there a slight decline of 2 per cent, and it was this turn of events that caused the careful scrutiny of the overall admissions outlook for Bryan lest this setback become a trend itself.

It is apparent from preregistration statistics that Bryan's 1974 fall enrollment will exceed the previous year by at least 10 per cent, reestablishing the favored path of increase. With a total of over 450 resident students, all dormitory accommodations are filled and additional housing has been secured in the community. The nearly one hundred day students including married students who have moved into the community as well as local residents who commute to the campus round out a total student body near the 550 mark.

Of the nearly 300 new students on Bryan campus this fall, there are approximately one hundred transfers bringing credits from 20 different Christian colleges, 14 Bible institutes, 14 junior and community colleges, and 25 state or private secular colleges.

In state representation Tennessee continues to provide about 25 per cent of the student body followed by Florida in second place with 10 per cent. In close succession with 5 or 6 per cent each are Michigan, Virginia, Georgia, and North Carolina. One significant increase among new students has been from the state of Michigan. New states added to last year's list include Colorado, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and Vermont, for a total of 39 states represented. Fifteen foreign countries are claimed as home by 30 students this year—10 being nationals and the remaining being sons or daughters of missionaries who make their home in the countries where they serve.

Some of the factors contributing to

FALL ENROLLMENT

Registration in progress at press time indicated a record fall enrollment of some 550, for an apparent 20% increase over a year ago. All college housing, including the overflow areas, are crowded to capacity.

DEVELOPMENT DEPARTMENT REPORTS PROGRESS

by John B. Bartlett, vice president and director of development

The continued response to the development program which is focusing on the Rudd Memorial Chapel has brought the current total of pledges to approximately $430,000 with $240,000 already contributed in cash. One of the most interesting aspects of this summer's activity concerning the Rudd Memorial was attendance by Larry Levenger at the Rudd family reunion in Denver, Colorado. As a college representative Larry was able to share the story of Bryan and more particularly that of the Rudd Memorial with about eighty of the Rudd clan who met for this occasion. Mrs. Judson Rudd had planned to attend with Larry but was prevented because of poor health.

A project to establish a Rudd family memorial for Dr. Judson A. Rudd within the Rudd Memorial Chapel has been promoted by a committee composed of two of Dr. Rudd's Kansas cousins, Gerald V. Rudd and Ruhe Rudd Pringle, and Dr. and Mrs. Rudd's daughter, Mary Frances Rudd, of Tullahoma, Tennessee. To date approximately $5,000 has been contributed by 23 members of the family.

The prayers of all alumni and friends are urgently requested as final decisions are being made by several foundations regarding Rudd Memorial allocations. Larry Levenger is planning as his major emphasis to further the campaign this fall by an extensive phonathon. Telephone calls will be made by staff members and alumni to graduates, former students, and other friends who have not yet made a commitment to the chapel project.

Two further development projects being considered but still only in the unofficial talking and sharing stages are an Olympic swimming pool and a retirement center. The swimming pool would greatly strengthen the athletic and recreational program for our growing student body and also enable a fuller use of the campus for camps and conferences all summer long. The retirement center idea grows out of the experience of Mr. and Mrs. Mercer Clementson's having built a retirement home on the edge of the campus in 1972 under a lifetime tenure contract. As a response to this first retirement dwelling, several others have expressed interest in a similar type of retirement housing as a part of the college community.

FACULTY AND STAFF CHANGES

tion, a master's degree in music education, and a master of music degree, all from the University of South Carolina. She has undertaken further study at the Royal Academy of Music in London, and was a flutist with the Columbia (S.C.) Philharmonic Orchestra. At Bryan she will direct the symphonic band and give instrumental instruction.

Martin D. Collins, '73, will be a part-time instructor in business. He has a master of education degree from Middle Tennessee State University and is pursuing advanced study in accounting.

Dr. James G. Baldwin, who served last year as assistant professor of biology, accepted an appointment to do post-doctoral research in nematology at North Carolina State University.

OTHER APPOINTMENTS AND CHANGES

Under the rotating system for divisional chairman, Dr. Irving Jensen has become chairman of the Division of Biblical Studies and Philosophy, replacing Dr. John Anderson. Similarly Dr. Richard Barnhart replaces Dr. Willard Henning as chairman of the Division of Natural Sciences.

Lloyd "Jake" Matthes returned from sabbatical leave to his faculty position as assistant professor of mathematics. For the past year he has been teaching calculus under an assistantship at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, while working on his doctoral program there. A teacher at Bryan since 1967, Mr. Matthes is also cross country coach. He is a Bryan alumnus of the class of 1959 and holds the M.Ed. from Illinois State College.

Glenn Liebig, assistant professor of Spanish since 1964, and assistant academic dean since 1973, assumes also the responsibility of registrar this year. He relieves L. Donald Hill, who continues as chairman of the Division of Education and Psychology, head of the Department of Education, and assistant professor of education.

Miss Kim Alt, '74, of Johnstown, Pennsylvania is the new assistant registrar, replacing Mrs. William Boyd; and Mrs. Linda Summers of Dayton has become secretary to the registrar, replacing Mrs. Delores Wilson.

Mrs. Shirley Holmes has been appointed manager of a new Support Services System to provide secretarial support for administrative offices. Mrs. Holmes, who was a Bryan secretary from 1955 to 1959, during the student years of her husband, Raymond Holmes, '59, returned to Bryan in September 1973 as a secretary in the public relations department. She and Raymond live in Spring City, where he is an elementary teacher.

R. Carlos Carter became business manager as of July 1, succeeding Russell V. Stansbury, who has retired after 14 years in that position. Mr. Stansbury, however, is director of special projects and has been directing the summer renovation of the administrative offices. Mr. Carter, who came to Bryan last year as instructor in business and mathematics as a sabbatical-year replacement, will continue as part-time instructor in business.

Mrs. Barbara McDowell is the new loan clerk, replacing Mrs. Peggy Steele in the business office. Mrs. Wilma Harrow has become accounts payable clerk, as a returning employee who served for the 1968-69 school year.

Mrs. Mildred Arnold has returned to the business office as cashier, replacing Mrs. Deanna Baldwin.

Two other graduates of the class of 1974 are returning to staff appointments. Terry Lovegren will be director of Practical Christian Involvement, and Miss Anice Pence replaces Mrs. Sherry Jordan as head resident of Huston Hall and secretary to the dean of students. Replacing Jim Fitzgerald as head resident of Cedar Hill is Lynn Wheeler from Athens, Pennsylvania, a senior majoring in Christian Education.

Miss Melodie Linebaugh, R.N., Spring Creek, Pennsylvania, is the new college nurse replacing Shirley Ellison, '74. Miss Linebaugh has a B.S. in nursing from Cornell University Hospital School of Nursing.

NEW DEGREES

Robert D. Andrews, '67, dean of men and instructor part-time in the Division of Biblical Studies, completed a graduate study program which he began in 1972. On August 23, he received from Tennessee Technological University the degree of master of arts in college student personnel services. Completion of the program required one hundred hours of internship at Bryan, working in the various offices of the college. Mr. Andrews holds the B.A. from Bryan in 1967 and the M.Div. from Trinity Evangelical Divinity School. He has been on the Bryan faculty since 1971.

Miss Karin de Rosset, '64, dean of women, is engaged in the same graduate program as Mr. Andrews and will continue taking evening courses as her time allows.

Miss Miriam Sailors, a 1971 graduate of Bryan, received the M.S. in educational psychology and guidance from the University of Tennessee, Knoxville. She is now employed full-time in the counseling services office, assuming some of the duties of Mrs. Mayme Sheddan Bedford, dean of counseling services, who will be on partial sabbatical leave this year to work on her doctoral program at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville.

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICE RENOVATION COMPLETED

by Rebecca Peck
executive alumni secretary

A brand new look in all the administrative offices on the north end of the main floor of the administration building greeted new and returning students at the opening of the fall term in August. The little-used front door on the north end of the building has become a popular entrance with its hall serving between the admissions office on the south and the personnel dean's office and the nurse's station on the north.

From crowded quarters of about three hundred square feet of floor space each, the admission and personnel offices were the first to move into new areas with nearly three times the amount of space. Private offices have been provided for the dean of students, Kermit Zopf; the dean of women, Miss Karin deRosset; the dean of men, Robert Andrews; director of admissions, Miss Zelpha Russell; and admissions counsellor, Walter Seera.

The space left by these two offices has been used to double the office area for both the records' office and the student aid and counseling office to improve services to the students as well as accommodate the need of the office staff and equipment. New staff members in this area are announced elsewhere.

The executive suite next to the north stairway provides private offices for President Mercer and Vice President Bartlett with Mrs. Elizabeth Wynsema serving as receptionist and secretary. The space formerly used by the president serves as a conference room adjoining his new location.

To complete the renovation and expansion, the public relations office has been moved to the northeast corner with the administrative services of printing and mailing being maintained in the same room which joins the public relations department and the new administrative support system, which provides a center for secretaries serving the public relations, admissions, and academic departments. The addition of IBM typewriters with memory features that can repeat letters or other special information automatically facilitates the handling of correspondence, preparing college publications and programs, and promoting the school among student prospects.

The glow of light from new recessed fluorescent fixtures, the comfort of central air conditioning, the dignity of paneled walls, and the lush softness of carpeted floors make the renewed offices a delight for staff members who have long used rooms with concrete floors, block

SPIRITUAL LIFE MEETINGS HIGHLIGHT FALL CALENDAR

Two major events which provide the spiritual undergirding for the new academic year at Bryan are the faculty retreat which was held August 19 and 20 and the spiritual life meetings for students and faculty held on August 28, 29, and 30.

Dr. Jack D. Terry, Jr., of Fort Worth, Texas, addressed the faculty and adminiswalls, and lighting dropped from the ceilings in various stages of construction. Visitors will find a more cheerful welcome to the commodious new quarters and even a place to sit comfortably when waiting to see someone.

For both the administrative and faculty offices a new telephone system ordered for November installation promises greatly increased efficiency in communications both within the college and to friends outside. Another area of improvement this summer was the new lighting installed in the dining hall to replace the decorative but dim chandeliers.

The renovation of the faculty offices last summer in the south wing of the main floor, plus the new student center on the ground floor also completed in the spring of 1973, along with this summer's administrative office renewal brings the main building to a state of finished appearance throughout. For alumni who like to remember "when I was a student," one short section of the hall on the south end of the ground floor and a few hidden sections in the north end still reveal tile blocks and nails protruding from the ceiling as the last vestige of the unfinished walls in the building which has been used for over forty years in various stages of completion.

Today there is rejoicing in what God has wrought step by step through these years in bringing to its present attractive appearance the building which is similar in size to the ark that Noah built and which is planned as an ark of spiritual safety for young people who find refuge from the storms of doubt and despair in the world as they launch out to serve under God's rainbow of hope and promise.

trator, at their two-day retreat at the Harry Johnson cottage on Watts Bar Lake. Since 1973 Dr. Terry has been dean of the School of Religious Education and since 1969 associate professor of Foundations of Education at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Following the spiritual refreshing the faculty convened in a two-day workshop to prepare for fall registration and other counseling and academic responsibilities in connection with the arrival of Bryan's largest student body.

To speak to the students at the outset of the fall term, Mrs. Kay Arthur came from Chattanooga, where she is executive director of Reach Out Ranch. Her frankness and spiritual discernment have established for her an identity as a challenging Bible teacher among high school and college age young people. She is a graduate with a degree in theology from Tennessee Temple College, Chattanooga, and also a graduate nurse from St. Luke's School of Nursing in Cleveland, Ohio.

Administrators and Faculty Attend CASC Conference

by William L. Ketchersid

During the week of August 5-9, Bryan College participated in a program of faculty development directed by the Council for the Advancement of Small Colleges (CASC). To participate in this program each college was required to file with the CASC office in Washington a tentative program for faculty development. On the basis of this plan, forty of more than one hundred forty colleges were selected to send teams to the CASC faculty development workshop which was held in Oklahoma City on the campus of Oklahoma Christian College. Bryan's CASC workshop team consisted of President T. C. Mercer, Academic Dean John B. Bartlett, Registrar Glenn Liebig, and Professors Robert Spoede and William Ketchersid.

The team members worked in sessions with three or four teams from other CASC colleges. For example, Bryan's representatives participated in sessions with teams from Averett College in Danville, Va.; Paul Quinn College in Waco, Texas; and Trevecca Nazarene College in Nashville, Tenn. Professional consultants, all of whom possessed expertise in various areas of professional education, led the sessions.

Throughout the week, team members drew from the vast experiences of the consultants and from the ideas of participants from other colleges to help formulate a Bryan College faculty development proposal. This proposal will serve as a basis for faculty consideration of a long-term development program. Some of the many possible areas of faculty development included in the proposal are the development and implementation of a comprehensive program of faculty evaluation, individualized faculty growth plans, the establishment of a faculty resource center, inter-college faculty visits, retraining of faculty to meet the needs of the college, and the adoption of a faculty salary scale which would link merit raises to faculty productiveness.

At the August faculty workshop, the entire faculty devoted considerable time to discussing various facets of a potential development program. CASC consultants will aid each college in the refinement of development programs through a process of periodic evaluation of efforts made in faculty development. The first evaluation will occur in October or November of this year, and the last will be conducted in 1979. Each team member sincerely hopes that this CASC project will serve as a catalyst for continual improvement of Bryan's faculty.

the steady growth of Bryan's enrollment are merely a continuation of the goals set when the institution was founded as stated in its early publications, "a university for the higher education of men and women under auspices distinctly Christian and spiritual, as a testimony to the supreme glory of the Lord Jesus Christ, and to the Divine inspiration and infallibility of the Bible . . . it is confidently expected that the William Jennings Bryan University will rank, within the next few years, among the leading institutions for higher education in the United States."

Today Bryan is more nearly approaching those early optimistic goals. It is meeting the challenge of academic excellence and is continually seeking to improve the quality of instruction and facilities. The entire constituency of the college has joined the admissions office in its efforts to increase its service to student prospects. Students have provided the names of friends and relatives and have helped to contact prospects in their home areas. Faculty and administrative members have written personal letters to potential students who inquired concerning some specific department. Alumni have also helped by manning Bryan booths at conventions and by contacting student prospects in their locale.

This year's admissions team includes Miss Zelpha Russell, director; Walter Seera, admissions counselor; Miss Madge Hughey, secretary; and my fellow alumnus Brent Ferguson and I as recruiters. This team has made several innovations designed to communicate Bryan's personal interest in Christian youth who are planning for college by providing new literature and increasing personal contacts with them. Brent and I, who are both new in the department, have concentrated on reaching student prospects through high school guidance counselors. We have also made hundreds of phone calls to assure prospects of our readiness to help them with their college plans and encourage them as they make a definite decision. Now we are glad so many young people have joined our student body this fall, and we are already working with students who plan to enter college in 1975.

BRYAN EXPERIENCES RECORD YEAR

Love in Action

By Lynn Wheeler
senior student from Athens, Pa., head resident of Cedar Hill Dormitory

Mr. Wheeler

For the Staley Lecture Series presented annually to the entire Bryan community, we were privileged this year to have a team consisting of Pastor

Raymond Ortlund; his wife, Anne; and his assistant, Rev. Kent Tucker, of Lake Avenue Congregational Church of Pasadena, Cal. For the lectures held October 15, 16 and 17 during the chapel time and two evening sessions, the theme was "The Bible and the Christian Life." The main objective was "... to get students connected with God in a new way." (Anne Ortlund). Parts of the Ortlund lectures have been given to many different groups around this country and to missionary groups overseas. The heart of their message has been recorded by Dr. Ortlund in his book, Lord, Make My Life a Miracle.

The team, as they referred to themselves, obtained their objective in the lives of many in our Bryan family—both students and staff—with the help and nurture of the Holy Spirit. This was evidenced when several students publicly asked forgiveness, exhorted others with their new-found strength, and praised God for the wonderful working of the Holy Spirit in drawing them to a vital realization of Jesus Christ and His teachings.

Dr. Ortlund spoke Tuesday evening of "brokenness," relating it to the story found in Mark 14:3-9, about the woman who broke the alabaster box of precious perfume for Jesus. Not until the box was broken did the fragrance of the oil fill the surroundings. The analogy was drawn that we, as Christians, must be broken of ourselves to radiate Christ to all those around. A broken vessel remade in the image of Christ is beautiful!

The team also centered on love as being the responsibility of all Christians to one another, the Body, or the Church. The command found in John 13:34-35 is "... that you love one another, even as I [Christ] have loved you..." because "By this all men [unbelievers] will know that you are my [Christ's] disciples..." NASB. The world has every right to scrutinize Christ because of our lack of love shown to one another as Christians. But how much better the picture of Jesus becomes to people in the world when they can see brother helping brother, brothers and sisters showing love! I now realize that it is not love when I keep it; only when I share it, show it, and tell it, does it become love!

I sincerely believe that these practical Christian truths from the Word of God will continue to enhance our lives and to make us more effective in our ministries, not only as we live together at Bryan this year but also as we move out to take our place of service after we leave Bryan.

Christian Life Conference

Dr. Mel Johnson, Minneapolis, Minn., and Dr. Mark Corts, Winston-Salem, N.C., will be the main speakers on January 8-10, 1975 for the annual Christian Life Conference, which opens the second semester. Dr. Johnson is a conference speaker known for his radio broadcast, "Tips for Teens"; and Dr. Corts is the pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, a center of dynamic Christian ministry in central North Carolina. For his first visit to Bryan, Dr. Johnson comes highly recommended by students who have profited from his conference and radio ministry; Dr. Corts has visited Bryan twice previously with great spiritual blessing to the college community.

The schedule of the three-day conference will provide large group meetings with the speakers, small group discussions and seminars on topics of special interest to college students, and opportunities for informal fellowship.

The principal emphasis of the conference will be on the teaching of the Bible under the theme of the responsibility of a Christian: to oneself, to the body of believers, and to others. The January conferences are on an alternating cycle—one year the major thrust is that of missions and the next year the personal Christian life.

President's Column

Dr. Mercer

The beginning of a new school year is always an exciting time, but I believe that this year's beginning, the nineteenth for Mrs. Mercer and me, has been the most exciting in our experience. The normal excitement of welcoming returning students and the greeting of new students and their parents was intensified by the increase in enrollment which was a solid 20%. Nothing raises the level of anticipation like an overflow crowd!

The physical challenges of where to put the overflow dormitory men, how to use administrative offices that were still in process of renovation, and how to adjust the food service schedules and facilities to keep the food-waiting line to a minimum—all had their part in heightening the normal excitement of the opening. In addition to the stimulating round of normal activities, including a much-better-than-normal year in cross country and soccer which you can read about elsewhere in this issue, there is, as one professor described it, "Not only the excitement of activity but also the excitement of anticipation of what the Lord will do this year."

We have already seen God manifest Himself in very special ways in a prevailing demonstration of unity among the body of believers in this place. We always acknowledge that all who are truly united to Jesus Christ by faith are indeed members of His body and members of one another as Paul clearly shows us, but to have this glorious fact demonstrated in daily routine is quite another matter. Inasmuch as this unity is not a thing which can be created by us, it must have come from a renewed acknowledgement of Christ as Lord and the rule of God in individual lives as well as a reaffirmation of institutional commitment to the founding principles of the college.

Yet at the human level this unity is all the more remarkable because of the diversity in the college community. The more than 600 of us on this scenic campus in East Tennessee come from some 40 states and 16 foreign countries. All continents except Australia are represented. We are white, black, brown, and oriental. Those of us who are USA citizens come from New England, the Atlantic seaboard, the Midwest, the South, and the West. We represent a wide spectrum of religious orientation—from more than 40 denominations or from no

TRUSTEES AUTHORIZE FINAL RUDD CHAPEL PLANS

In their fall meeting on October 14, the Board of Trustees authorized the development of final plans and specifications for the Rudd Memorial Chapel. At their January 1975 board meeting, the trustees will consider a specific date for the beginning of construction in the light of the level of fund-raising achievement at that time. As of October 15, $448,000 had been received in cash and pledges toward a total estimated cost of $1,000,000 for the full project. The plans are being prepared to allow for the possibility of constructing the building in stages—that is, fully completing certain areas and deferring other areas if the flow of cash does not warrant full completion at the time. At this point it is estimated that a significant portion of the three-floor building could be completed and put into use from the $650,000 level upwards.

In the light of the overcrowded dormitory housing situation, the board also authorized development of a proposal for an additional dormitory. Bryan's record fall enrollment of 564 (535 fulltime plus 29 part-time students in regular academic courses) made necessary several special arrangements to accommodate 436 dormitory students. The earliest possible date for occupancy of such a building would be the fall of 1976. In the meantime a study is being made as to how the interim housing requirements can be most satisfactorily met in the event next year's enrollment continues at the current level or better.

A final budget for 1975-76 of some $1,600,000 was approved for the current operating year. This includes an overall student aid program of $340,000. Action was taken to increase the charges to students for 1975-76 to approximately $2,850, representing a 10% increase over the current year. Bryan's rate of increase over the past five years has been about 7% annually.

HEARTFELT THANKS TO BRYAN SUPPORTERS

By Larry Levenger
assistant to the vice president in development.

Mr. Levenger

As a representative of the development department I want to relate to all you faithful friends who have supported Bryan College so generously through the years that God has been speaking to my heart about communicating in some small way the rewards of your contributions to Bryan.

Having been with the college only a year in my position, I cannot begin to comprehend the impact of this Christ-denomination (40% of Bryan's enrollment is from independent churches of various kinds and from non-denominational fellowships); and each of us represents the heritage of his own family background and the flavor of personality that is truly individual. Yet we are one in Christ and members of one another. Thus we see two remarkable qualities of life on a Christian college campus—unity and diversity; and each quality has its place as we seek to do God's will together.

centered institution in the lives of individuals through the years, but I can in a small way express the influence of today's students on my own life.

Oftentimes while walking from office to office, I overhear comments by students on their way to and from class. Recently I heard one student expressing to another his difficulty in a particular class. Then the other replied, "Let's pray before class that the Lord will help you." That's taking God at His Word, looking to Him for wisdom and knowledge.

Frequently on my way home late in the afternoon just before dinner, I see students gathered in an open grassy area overlooking the river and hills, praising God, singing, studying the Bible, and praying together.

Not long ago I saw a big old country boy with tears in his eyes confront a friend to ask forgiveness for ill feeling he had towards him. What an example! How often have we gone to God in prayer, knowing we had something to straighten out with a Christian friend and because of pride failed to do so.

Finally, I think of how many of our young men and women are involved in organized prayer groups as well as Practical Christian Involvement service programs.

In behalf of these young people I thank you for your loyal support and I commend these our young people to you as worthy of all your bountiful gifts. Please pray for them as they challenge lives like mine with the love of Jesus Christ.

Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges

Fifteen Bryan seniors were selected from the class of 1975 for listing in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, 1974-75 edition. Selection for the honor is made by the faculty and administration based on academic excellence, character, and citizenship. They are the following:

Patricia Baker, an English major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Baker, Orlando, Fla. Winner of a 1974 Honors Day Academic Award, Patty is secretary of the student union and student senate. She has served on numerous committees, is treasurer of the drama club, and was a cheerleader in her freshman year.

Carris Barker, an applied music major, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. William F. Barker, Sr., Ashford, W. Va. Carris is accompanist for the Choralaires and a member of the band. Last year she served as accompanist for a Gospel Messenger team and was selected choir-member-of-the-year.

Stephen Bradshaw, a psychology major, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin G. Bradshaw, Ivyland, Pa. On the dean's list for four years, he wrote the prize-winning set of suggestions on how the college can best conserve energy during the present energy crisis.

William Brewer, a science major, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Brewer, Arcadia, La. He is on the dean's list and vice-president of the student senate. A paper he presented before the Tennessee Academy of Science won high commendation.

Robert Conrad, a history major, son of Rev. and Mrs. Earl Conrad, missionaries in Poona, India. A dean's list student and member of the band, Bob was editor of The 1974 Commoner.

Charles Davis, a double major in Christian education and applied music, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Philip Davis, Spring City, Tenn. He has traveled three summers representing Bryan on the Gospel Messenger team. He is a member of the band, the choir, and the Madrigals and has been on the dean's list two semesters.

Gary Fath, a business administration major, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Fath, Dalton, Ohio. Gary is a dean's list student and member of the student senate. His wife, Norma, is the college receptionist.

Jack Roddy, a Christian education major, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roddy, Dayton, Tenn. Business manager of The Commoner last year and a student senate member, Jack is student pastor of the Grandview Baptist Church.

Beverly Shondelmyer, an elementary education major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shondelmyer, Avonmore, Pa. On the dean's list the past three years, Beverly won the junior P. A. Boyd prize for citizenship last year. She sings in the choir, is in the student senate, and is vice-president of the drama club. She served as a 1974 summer missionary in Haiti.

David Smith, a biology major, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Smith, Hogansville, Ga. He is president of the band, a member of the dorm council and student union, and winner in his freshman year of the term-paper award.

Ellen Smith, a mathematics major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Smith, Augusta, Ga. She won the term-paper award in her freshman year, participates in intramural sports, and has been on the dean's list for six semesters.

Robert Tatum, a Bible major, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Tatum, Jr., Decatur, Ga. A dean's list student, Bob was a member of the 1974 Gospel Messenger team. He is chaplain and stage manager of the drama club and a vice-president of Practical Christian Involvement.

Jeffrey Tubbs, a psychology major, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Tubbs, Milan, Pa. Jeff is president of the student senate, was junior class

“... And Love That Soul Through Me”

A keen awareness of the power of God's love shown through students and staff has been evident in the growing desire to share this love with others by reaching out in the community surrounding Dayton as well as to the uttermost parts of the earth.

ON BRYAN CAMPUS

The Christian service program has continued through the years at Bryan with varying emphases under several different names—George E. Guille Ministerial Association (named for Bryan's first president), Christian Service Association, Foreign Missions Fellowship, and Missions in Action. Three years ago FMF (Foreign Missions Fellowship) took the name MIA (Missions in Action) when it expanded to include the local ministries known as Fish and Big Brother—Big Sister. Last spring MIA and the older CSA (Christian Service Association) merged to form PCI (Practical Christian Involvement), which unites all these ministries under one organization. Response to increased opportunities for students to be involved in Christian service while they are still at Bryan has shown remarkable growth to the extent that some 350 students are active this year in one or more PCI ministries.

IN THE LOCAL COMMUNITY

The biggest segment of service has been among children of Rhea County through weekly Bible clubs and children's Bible classes, a Saturday morning AWANA program which includes Bible study and recreation, and the Big Brother—Big Sister relationship established with individual children. Contacts in the weekly classes reach over 2,000 children with a Bible story, Gospel songs, and the offer of a free Bible to any child who does not already have one. This ministry involves some 150 student teachers and participants.

A new feature of PCI this year is the initiation of a 15-minute weekly radio broadcast from the local Dayton station to give campus news and events, testimonies, and musical expression.

Six Gospel teams involving 65 students go to local churches by invitation to sing and to give testimonies and a devotional message. From these teams it is planned that some 25-35 students will be divided into two groups for ministry in Chicago during the vacation period, February 28-March 10, 1975. One team will spend the week at Pacific Garden Mission and the other will work with the Light Bearers Association, a national chaplaincy in federal and state penal institutions.

In addition to giving Bibles to children, PCI also has undertaken to supply the local motels with Bibles which are offered as gifts to patrons who desire to keep them. This service is provided in cooperation with the World Home Bible League. Other projects of PCI include a weekly visitation program by ten students who go to the Rhea County Nursing Home to share individually with about 30 elderly and infirm persons.

Bryan College Travel Tours

A tour of the Holy Land is planned for February 26 through March 11. Dr. Mercer, president of the college, will again serve as tour host and lecturer and Dr. Bartlett, vice president, will serve as tour director. The 14-day tour will visit Egypt, Lebanon, Syria, and the many familiar places of Biblical significance in Israel.

Plans are also underway for the fifth summer tour of Europe. Projected dates for the 1975 tour are June 1 through July 8. Included in the itinerary will be Scotland, England, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Austria, Switzerland, and France.

All accommodations on each tour are first class and the price is all inclusive. For complete information on either of these travel programs direct your correspondence to Dr. John Bartlett at Bryan College.

LIONS TRIUMPH IN FALL SPORTS

CROSS COUNTRY

The Lions are now concluding their best season ever in cross country. Along with a dual meet record of 12-1, Bryan has won the SCAC championship and their own invitational, they added a second place in the Fisk Invitational and a third place in the state cross country meet. The SCAC championship was especially sweet, because the Lions lost the same race to Covenant last year by one point.

Teams that the Lions have beaten include Covenant, Tennessee Temple, University of Tennessee at Chattanooga, Lee, Trevecca, Fisk, Alabama State, Alabama A & M, Jackson State, Morehouse, Rust, Savannah State, Stillman, and Lemoyne-Owen. Four powerful squads, Berry, Tuskegee, Carson-Newman, and David Lipscomb, have dealt the Bryan harriers their only defeats.

Tom Potter, junior from Lansing Mich., has developed into the best runner in Bryan history. He has finished first in all but three meets, successfully defended his SCAC championship for the second consecutive year, and has set six different course records. One of these new course records (and the most satisfying) was the Bryan course record which was broken in the Bryan Invitational. Potter was clocked in 22:47.8, breaking the old record of 22:51.4 set by Dave Wolfe in 1972.

Mike Wood, a new freshman from Roanoke, Va., is running second on the team and consistently beating all opposition. Chris Hatten, Huntington, W. Va.; and Mike Hodge, Princeton, Ill., both returning lettermen, give the team strong and experienced middle men. Three new runners—Tom Lane, Trenton, Ga.; Wayne Scott, Advance, N.C.; and Isaac Munyua, Kenya—give the Lions a depth that they have never had before in the lower positions.

Reports were not available for the NCCAA meet on November 9th, which concluded the harriers' extremely rewarding season under Coach Jake Matthes assisted by senior, Jeff Tubbs.

Bryan's soccer team became the Tennessee Intercollegiate Soccer Association champions on October 22 when they shut out arch rival Tennessee Temple 3-0 to earn a record of 5-0 in the conference.

The Lions' unusually successful 1974 season, which stands with a record of 12-0-1, began with the Tennessee Temple Tourney in which Bryan burned Temple 2-0. Other matches in which the Lions won were Central Wesleyan 3-0, Maryville 11-0 and 6-1, Tennessee Wesleyan 3-1, University of the South 2-0, King 7-1, Tusculum 1-0 and 2-1, Athens 6-0, Temple 3-0 and Toccoa Falls 3-0. Bryan and Covenant held each other to a 0-0 deadlock. The team is coached (to a new conference record of 5-0 in the TISA) by Head Coach John Reeser and Assistant Coach Bob Andrews, who played on Bryan's first soccer team in 1964.

High scorers for the season are freshman Luke Germann, of Nashville, Tenn., and formerly of Ben Lippen School and Paul Githuka, a sophomore from Limuru, Kenya, who each have 12 goals. David Beaty from Bulwayo, Rhodesia, has 11 goals this year and is top career scorer for Bryan with 20 goals and 7 assists.

Post-season activity for the Lions will include the TISA Tournament at Tennessee Temple on Nov. 1-2 and the district NCCAA tournament on Nov. 9, hosted by Bryan. Based on the success thus far, the Lions have high hopes of being district winners in order to participate also in the national tournament of NCCAA at Covenant College on Nov. 15-16.

TO THE UTMOST PARTS OF THE EARTH

Not waiting for graduation to begin missionary service, several students have taken advantage of summer vacation months to get acquainted with the mission field. Last summer the Summer Missions Program provided over $7,790 through gifts of students, staff, and other friends to enable Judy Steele to go to Korea; Connie Cropp, to Spain; Gee Gee Goad, to Peru; Lucy Lieb, to Brazil; Linda Friend, to Sweden; Beverly Shondelmyer, to Haiti; and Steve Strauss, to Lausanne, Switzerland.

This overview of missionary life and practical help that could be rendered to missionaries in their daily routine have provided a wholesome atmosphere in which candidates for missions can evaluate future service. Plans are being made to expand this program for sending more students in 1975 to various mission fields.

Steve Strauss, a junior from Escondido, Cal., who is the son of Pastor Richard Strauss and grandson of the well-known Bible teacher, Lehman Strauss, is president of PCI this year. He is assisted by five vice presidents who head the following departments: summer missions program, John Lacey, junior, Phoenix, Ariz.; elementary school age children, Bob Tatum, senior, Decatur, Ga.; gospel teams, Charlie Loshbough, sophomore, Port Alberni, B.C., Canada; radio, Dan Jelley, sophomore, Lakeland, Fla.; and chapel and conferences, Lynn Wheeler, senior, Athens, Pa. The entire program is directed by Terry Lovegren, a 1974 graduate who works under Dr. Brian Richardson, head of the Christian education department and the PCI adviser.

Love in indeed reaching out from Bryan through its students and staff to touch lives in the local community and around the world.

Founders Week Focuses On William Jennings Bryan

Founders Week of March 17-22 focused on the life and career of William Jennings Bryan (1860-1925) with special emphasis on the events of the Scopes Trial and the summer of 1925. Three visiting scholars gave lectures at three convocations during the week, the public relations department and the Inrside Memorial Library featured an historical exhibit, and the week concluded with a Founders banquet which included as special guests those who in some way were associated with the trial of 1925.

The three lecturers and their topics were as follows: Dr. Willard Smith, professor emeritus of history, Goshen (Ind.) College, spoke on "William Jennings Bryan at Dayton: A View Fifty Years Later." Dr. Smith's book, entitled, The Social and Religious Thought of William Jennings Bryan, is scheduled for publication this summer.

Dr. Edwin Hollatz, professor of speech and communication at Wheaton (Ill.) College, presented William Jennings Bryan as orator and Chautauqua speaker on Mr. Bryan's birthday anniversary, March 19. Dr. Hollatz's material included original research in the archives of Illinois College on Mr. Bryan's student days.

Dr. Warren Allem, Bryan alumnus of Egg Harbor, N. J., lectured on the Scopes Trial, using the research he did in writing his thesis for a master's degree in history at the University of Tennessee Knoxville. In his research, Dr. Allem used primary written records of the trial as well as the now widely acclaimed oral history technique.

The Scopes Trial lasted from July 10-21, 1925. William Jennings Bryan died in Dayton five days later. Remembering

The May 5 graduation completing the forty-fifth year of the college falls on the exact fiftieth anniversary of a discussion around a table in Robinson's drug store on Main Street in Dayton in 1925. The participants in this discussion, which led to the plan for a court case to test the recently passed Tennessee anti-evolution statute, included young John T. Scopes of Kentucky, a mathematics teacher and coach, who was teaching a biology course that year. He pointed out that teaching certain material in the current biology text would be in violation of the new law. His agreement to violate the statute to provide the test case changed a local his expressed desire that a Christian school be established on one of Dayton's scenic hills, a group of local citizens representing a national committee chartered the Bryan Memorial University Association on October 15, 1925. Five years later Bryan College was chartered on July 24, 1930, and the first student body of thirty-two began the school year on September 18, 1930, in the Rhea County high school, where John T. Scopes had taught.

The 1975 class of 128 candidates for degrees, some of whom will finish graduation requirements in the summer, will provide its own speaker from law members being chosen through a written competition now in progress. This will be the third year for student speaker at graduation, a new tradition which has been well received by both the college community and commencement guests.

Rev. Milton Leininger, pastor of Abbott Memorial Presbyterian Church of Baltimore, Md., will preach the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday afternoon, May 4. Mr. and Mrs. Leininger have twin daughters, Jan and Judy, in the graduating class; an older daughter, now Mrs. Barry Gilman of Richmond, Va., was a graduate in the class of 1969.

Other seniors' parents in a fulltime Christian ministry invited to participate in baccalaureate or graduation services include Howard J. Peterson, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Chaplain Roscoe B. Garris, Johnson City, Tenn.; Louis Friend, Sandusky, N. Y.; William Barker, Ashford, W. Va.; Edward Ferguson, Bozeman, Mont.; Richard Krueger, Ringwood, N. J.; O. W. Harer, Cosby, Tenn.; and George Smith, Hogansville, Ga.

Other events of the annual commencement include the spring meeting of the board of trustees on May 2-3 and the annual reception for seniors and their commencement guests hosted by President and Mrs. Theodore C. Mercer at Rhea House.

MR. BRYAN'S UNDELIVERED SPEECH STILL RELEVANT AFTER HALF CENTURY

As a member of the counsel of prosecution in the Scopes evolution case in Dayton, William Jennings Bryan had prepared an address in defense of Tennessee's law against the teaching of evolution in the public schools. This address was not delivered during the trial because arguments to the jury by counsel on both sides were dispensed with by agreement. Journalists were so eager to hear Mr. Bryan's undelivered closing arguments that he promised to commit the speech to writing. Two days after the trial he had dictated some 15,000 words and delivered the copy to a Chattanooga printer personally. Then he went to Winchester, Tenn., to speak before returning to Chattanooga, where he made pencilled corrections on the proof sheets the following Saturday, the day before his death. After spending the night in Chattanooga he drove to Dayton Sunday morning, July 26, and spoke at the morning service of the First Methodist Church. It was that afternoon he died in his sleep at the F. R. Rogers home which was his temporary residence. Selections from the introduction and conclusion of this last message are presented here.

May It Please the Court, and the Gentlemen of the Jury:

Demosthenes, the greatest of ancient orators, in his "Oration on the Crown," the most famous of his speeches, began by supplicating the favor of all the gods and goddesses of Greece. If, in a case which involved only his own fame and fate, he felt justified in petitioning the heathen gods of his country, surely we, who deal with the momentous issues involved in this case, may well pray to the Ruler of the Universe for wisdom to guide us in the performance of our several parts in this historic trial.

Let me, in the first place, congratulate our cause that circumstances have committed the trial to a community like this and entrusted the decision to a jury made up largely of the yeomanry of the state. The book in issue in this trial contains on its first page two pictures contrasting the disturbing noises of a great city with the calm serenity of the country. It is a tribute that rural life has fully earned.

I appreciate the sturdy honesty and independence of those who come into daily contact with the earth, who, living near to nature, worship nature's God, and who, dealing with the myriad mysteries of earth and air, seek to learn from revelation about the Bible's wonder-working God.

Let us now separate the issues from the misrepresentations, intentional or unintentional, that have obscured both the letter and the purpose of the law. This is not an interference with the freedom of conscience.

The right of the state to control the public schools is affirmed in the recent decision in the Oregon case which declares that the state can direct what shall be taught and also forbid the teaching of anything "manifestly inimical to the public welfare." The above decision goes even farther and declares that the parent not only has the right to guard the religious welfare of the child, but is in duty bound to guard it.

Evolution is not truth; it is merely an hypothesis—it is millions of guesses strung together. It had not been proved in the days of Darwin; he expressed astonishment that with two or three million species it had been impossible to trace any species to any other species. It had not been proven in the days of Huxley, and it has not been proved up to today. It is less than four years ago that Prof. Bateson came all the way from London to Canada to tell the American scientists that every effort to trace one species to another had failed—every one. He said he still had faith in evolution, but had doubts about the origin of the species. But of what value is evolution if it cannot explain the origin of the species?

Can any Christian remain indifferent? Science needs religion to direct its energies and to inspire with lofty purpose those who employ the forces that are unloosened by science. Evolution is at war with religion because religion is supernatural; it is, therefore, the relentless foe of Christianity, which is a revealed religion.

Let us, then, hear the conclusion of the whole matter. Science is a magnificent material force, but it is not a teacher of morals. It can perfect machinery, but it adds no moral restraints to protect society from the misuse of the machine. It can also build gigantic intellectual ships, but it constructs no moral rudders for the control of storm-tossed human vessels. It not only fails to supply the spiritual element needed but some of its unproven hypotheses rob the ship of its compass and endanger its cargo.

The world needs a Savior more than it ever did before, and there is only "one Name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved." It is this Name that evolution degrades, for, carried to its logical conclusion, it robs Christ of the glory of a virgin birth, of the majesty of His deity and mission and of the triumph of His resurrection. It also disputes the doctrine of the atonement.

Again force and love meet face to face, and the question, "What shall I do with Jesus?" must be answered. A bloody, brutal doctrine—Evolution—demands, as the rabble did nineteen hundred years ago, that He be crucified. That cannot be the answer of this jury representing a Christian state and sworn to uphold the

Inherit The Wind—1975

Unfortunately a good deal of the general public impression of William Jennings Bryan and of Dayton, Tenn., derives from the stage play, Inherit the Wind, which was later made into a movie and premiered in Dayton in 1960.

Although the authors of the play are careful to state in the prologue that "Inherit the Wind is not history," that "only a handful of phrases have been taken from the actual transcript of the famous trial," and that the play "does not pretend to be journalism" but "theater," the historical interest evoked by the presentation causes most people to think of it as history. Even if a viewer understands clearly that the play is not history, he is still likely to be psychologically influenced in a negative way against Bryan and the cause he represented because of the bias of the dramatic content.

The drama department of Tennessee Wesleyan College, under the direction of Prof. Lynn W. Whiting, of Athens, Tenn., brought Inherit the Wind to the Dayton courtroom on February 7 and 8 in a version based on in-depth research by fifty-two Tennessee Wesleyan College students for their January interim project. The result was a more satisfying experience for the local community. The most extreme lines and scenes which put Mr. Bryan and Dayton in an unfavorable light were omitted or modified.

One of the expressions of Bryan College in marking the Scopes Trial anniversary will be to reprint the review of the premiere of Inherit the Wind written by Dr. Judson Rudd, late president emeritus of the college. Additional material will be added to this report to answer in part many inquiries received from high school students who are either studying or producing the play.

STUDENTS PLAN TO EXPLORE FOREIGN MISSION FIELDS

Exploration of several foreign mission fields during the summer months is anticipated by five Bryan students being sponsored this year by the Summer Missions Program for service in Africa and Europe. Several other students are also making individual plans for foreign summer service, which will be reported later as details are more complete.

Three familiar Old Testament names—Jesse, David, and Daniel—designate the three male representatives—Jesse Bugg (who prefers to be called Jay), a freshman from Brentwood, Tenn.; David Fiet, a junior from Wilmington, Del.; and Daniel Decker, also a junior, from Murfreesboro, Tenn. David has applied for service in Senegal and Dan in Zambia, both African countries, and Jay is still waiting his assignment.

Completing the group of five are two Europe-bound young women, both juniors, who are venturing out under Greater Europe Mission's summer program. Margaret English, from Kinsale, Va., and Verna Carney, from Little Hocking, Ohio, have been assigned to Belgium and France respectively.

A training orientation program is being conducted for the 1975 summer candidates by John Lacey, a junior from Phoenix, Ariz., who is a missionary's son from Rwanda, Africa, and who spent two previous summers in personal evangelism in Ireland.

laws of Tennessee. Your answer will be heard throughout the world; it is eagerly awaited by a praying multitude. If the law is nullified, there will be rejoicing wherever God is repudiated, the Savior scoffed at and the Bible ridiculed. Every unbeliever of every kind and degree will be happy. If, on the other hand, the law is upheld and the religion of the school children protected, millions of Christians will call you blessed and, with hearts full of gratitude to God, will sing again that grand old song of triumph:

In spite of dungeon, fire and sword;
O how our hearts beat high with joy
Whene'er we hear that glorious word—
Faith of our fathers—holy faith;
We will be true to thee till death!"

VACATION TEAMS WITNESS IN CHICAGO

A contingent of twenty-seven "now missionaries" including two staff members left the seclusion of Bryan Hill during the early March spring vacation to spend a week of meaningful service in the Chicago area where two teams were divided between the Pacific Garden Mission and the Light Bearers Association, an evangelical chaplaincy to several institutions.

The nine-member team to Pacific Garden Mission was directed by Charlie Loshbough, sophomore, as they counselled with individuals during the day and after evening services concerning personal salvation and spiritual growth. This team also assisted in tract distribution at the door of PGM, at the YMCA's, and at train and bus stations. At the Mission's evening services they also had opportunity to share in the music and messages. On Sunday this team participated in the worship services of Palatine Bible Church and West Chicago Bible Church.

A larger group of eighteen was directed by Terry Lovegren, director of Practical Christian Involvement at Bryan, as they assisted in the Light Bearers ministry. They found unlimited opportunities for individual witnessing as well as some group ministry at the Cook County Jail, Cook County Hospital, Chicago Reed and Mental Health Institute, and Oak Forest Hospital. For their Sunday ministry they attended the Midlothian Bible Church and Village Bible Church in Park Forest South to share their experiences.

The attitude of this eager, service-oriented band of student missionaries was reflected in the statement of a repeater from last year: "I just learned so much by this experience that I can hardly wait to go again."

Eleven-Week Itinerary Booked For Male Team

The Bryan Gospel Messengers will include in their summer schedule three weeks of camp by special invitation from directors in Virginia, Arkansas, and North Carolina.

From June 9 through 14, the team will serve as musicians and chorists at the Children's Bible Mission camp with Morgan Kinney, of Eaton, Va., director; July 6-11, Rock Haven Bible Camp at Harty, Ark., with David Macomber, director, and July 28-August 1, Hickory Grove Baptist Church Camp in Charlotte, N. C., with David Pierceall, '64, director.

Other appointments are being fitted between these scheduled dates as time and travel schedule allow. Requests for the team may be channeled through the Public Relations Office.

Team leader and piano accompanist for the group is Charlie Loshbough, a sophomore, whose father is a Bryan graduate and pastor in Port Alberni, B. C., Canada. Steve Strauss, a junior who is both trumpet soloist and speaker for the Messengers, is the son of Dr. Richard Strauss, pastor of Emmanuel Park Community Church of Elwood, Cal., and the grandson of Bible teacher Lehmann Strauss.

Ironside Memorial Library Reaches 50,000 Volumes

Mrs. Harriet Anderson, seated, library assistant, is seen as she accessioned the 50,000th volume of the Ironside Memorial Library on February 20. Looking on are Miss Virginia Seguire, left, director of library services, and Mrs. Rebecca Van Meeveren, assistant director of library services. The title of this significant volume is GREAT PEOPLE OF THE BIBLE AND HOW THEY LIVED.

SENIOR REVIEWS GROWTH DURING COLLEGE YEARS

Ellen Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, of Augusta, Ga., is a mathematics major in the class of 1975. She has been a consistent dean's list student and was included with the 1975 Bryan seniors recognized by Who's Who Among Students in Colleges and Universities. During her college career Ellen earned a freshman term paper award, has been active in intramural sports and Christian service activities, and is this year treasurer of the touring choir. Her college record follows an outstanding high school record when she was valedictorian of her graduating class at Richmond Academy in Augusta.

God brought me to Bryan three and a half years ago to teach me specific lessons from His Word, from the personal trials and situations that He had planned for me to confront, and from the personal relationships developed here.

The most important way that the Lord teaches me is through my personal time spent with Him in His Word. While I was studying Romans 6, the Lord really dealt with me about things that I had never before recognized as sin and showed me that they could not be part of my life before the Lord. God has honored His word in my continual and gradual process of growth by changing my attitudes to correspond to His thoughts.

When I left home in Augusta, Ga., to come to Bryan, not knowing one person here, I had to learn to completely trust in my Heavenly Father for all of my needs. I have always been very dependent on my family, even for my spiritual welfare; but here I was put into situations where only the Lord was available. I found Him faithful to His promise to be a "present help" in adjusting to roommates, understanding boy friends, and coping with reports, tests, and term papers under schedule pressures. Before these testings came into my life, I knew that God could be my strength and comforter, but my college experiences have established the truth and reality of those words.

Authors, Missionaries, Pastors Address Chapel Audience

"The Holy Spirit could have come on no other day than the Day of Pentecost, because God always moves on schedule," declared Dr. Paul R. Van Gorder, Bible teacher of the Radio Bible Class and Day of Discovery TV program, who spoke on the Bryan campus late in February in a two-day series. "The Day of Pentecost came as the fulfillment of a calendar of Old Testament feasts which God gave to Israel," Dr. Van Gorder continued. "The Holy Spirit did not come because the disciples 'tarried and prayed.' No. 'They tarried and prayed' because the Holy Spirit was coming. We often hear someone remark, 'What we need is another Pentecost.' One might as well expect another Bethlehem or another Calvary as to expect another Pentecost."

God has used my fellowship with other believers to show me experientially how to share my struggles, weaknesses, or victories with others. I have learned the value of honesty and openness in giving of myself, expecting nothing in return. These relationships are preparing me to better fulfill my function as part of a local body of believers, wherever the Lord shall direct me.

I know that the process is now nearing its end, but I do hope to be found faithful in receiving what the Lord wants to teach me in the future as the Holy Spirit accomplishes His work in conforming my life unto the image of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Shown above center is Dr. John R. Rice, well-known evangelist and publisher, on the occasion of his visit to the campus to speak at chapel. With him, left, are Dr. T. C. Mercer, president, and, right, Kermit Zopfi, dean of students.

Other visitors who shared Bryan's chapel platform since the beginning of the second semester were:

Dr. John R. Rice, evangelist, author, Bible teacher, and editor of The Sword of the Lord, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Rev. Richard Wurmbrand, Roumanian author of Tortured for Christ, Glendale, Cal.

Rev. Peter Deyneka, director of Slavic Gospel Association, Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Charles F. Stanley, pastor of First Baptist Church, Atlanta, Ga.

Rev. Galen Call, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Covington, Ky.

Rev. David Barnes, director for northern Europe and director of European Bible Institute under Greater Europe Mission, Lamorlaye, France

Dr. Robert Ledford, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Huntsville, Ala.

Rev. Peter Brooks, missionary with Baptist Mid-Missions in Brazil, living in Dayton, Tenn., during furlough

James and Marti Hefley, free-lance Christian writers, Signal Mountain, Tenn., who are authors of over 30 books and articles, including Christ in Bangladesh and Uncle Sam, story of the founder of Wycliffe Bible Translators.

"How My Years At Bryan College Have Changed Me"

By Steven Bradshaw

(The following excerpts were taken from the award-winning McKinney Senior Essay which was also delivered as one of two senior speeches at the May 5 graduation exercises.)

From a beanie to a cap and gown. What has transpired in my life the last four years at Bryan College? How has my relationship with the faculty, staff, and students affected me? For Bryan College is more than a physical entity, it is people and it is the interpersonal relationships that individuals have with one another that enables change to take place.

I arrived at Bryan College in August of 1971 awed at the novelty of actually going to college. At that time Bryan College itself held no special meaning to me. My parents and I went to a large building, that I was to learn later resembled Noah's ark, and there received my freshman packet. We were greeted by some of the Student Senate members, who gave us a very hearty welcome. Long dormitory was to be my home away from home for four years. I met the Student Assistant on ground floor and was particularly impressed at his friendliness and willingness to help me, not only to get unpacked but to help me become adjusted in the college atmosphere.

Academically my freshman year was difficult. However, I feel now that the heavy schedule and difficulty of the subjects were good for me, because they forced me to get my priorities straight immediately.

RUDD MEMORIAL CHAPEL CONSTRUCTION BEGINS

GROUNDBREAKING

Record Enrollment Trend Requires Additional Dormitory

The continuing upward enrollment trend caused the board of trustees in their meeting of May 3 to authorize final plans and specifications for a new dormitory which has been in preliminary planning for the past year. The decision was based on a net 1974-75 enrollment gain of 18% over the previous year and the fact that new student applications continue to run 20% ahead of last year. All of this adds up to a housing crisis for the coming year when the number of dormitory students will outnumber the regular housing areas. Special temporary arrangements are being made to meet this housing need.

Total enrollment this past year reached 604 students in regular credit courses. An additional 50 community residents registered in continuing education courses and as auditors. In keeping with this upward trend, 112 students received degrees at the May 5 commencement with 16 candidates enrolled in courses with the possibility of completing degree requirements this summer.

The architect for the new dormitory is the firm of Barber and McMurry of Knoxville. The plans for the four-story

On the theory that a picture is indeed better than a thousand words, not much can be added to the picture above showing the long-awaited beginning of construction on the Rudd Memorial Chapel on June 16, when representatives of the college and local area gathered at a 9:00 a.m. ceremony of prayer and dedication on the site just before the bulldozer began actual excavation.

The project is under the supervision of Equitable Church Builders of Nashville, Tenn., a firm well known in the Southeast for the planning and construction of church auditoriums. Bids indicate the cost for the basic building will run to some $850,000 with furnishings and equipment additional. These figures are in line with earlier estimates for an overall project cost in the neighborhood of one million dollars. Gifts and pledges to date are approximately $550,000. Estimated construction time for the auditorium-fine arts complex is fifteen to eighteen months.

This chapel is being named for the late Judson A. Rudd, who died on October 6, 1970. The project was initiated by the alumni at their homecoming immediately following Dr. Rudd's death. The free-standing chapel spire was erected at homecoming in 1972 to symbolize the plans for a new building to be erected at that location.

HOW BRYAN CHANGED ME

The main spiritual lesson I learned my freshman year was the importance of a personal relationship with Christ on a day-to-day basis. From this close relationship, I felt my love for the Lord growing.

Socially the biggest lesson I learned my freshman year was how to coexist with a roommate that actually did not like the room as warm as I did. There were the usual tense moments of getting to know one another, but oddly enough it was not until after our first confrontation that we became closer to one another.

I felt the Lord's leading into the area of psychology, partially because the subject intrigued me but also because I felt that I could serve the Lord more practically and in a more direct way in that field.

In my sophomore year I also became involved in intramural sports at Bryan. It was through these sport activities that I realized the importance of team co-operation, and developed close relationships with some of the guys in my class.

The first semester of my junior year was my rookie semester at being a Resident Assistant. This responsibility really taught me a lot about myself, my personality, and also how to get along with other people and become sensitive to them as individuals.

The opportunities for Christian service here at Bryan have really helped the maturing of my faith. It was a good way for me to put my love for Christ into action. I've been involved with the Big-brother program and the Recreation Program for the mentally retarded. These outlets of Christian service have meant more to me than words can express, and have caused my faith in Christ to mature, develop and strengthen.

Lastly, my experiences as a Resident Assistant for two years have given me considerable knowledge in counseling, discipline, responsibility, and dealing with people. My college days have been rich with experiences and personal success in the things I was actively involved in. I just praise the Lord for His goodness to me these past four years and look forward to many more things to come in His service, with the help of His keeping grace.
